HOW TO USE THE INDEX GUIDE

The object of this book is to guide visitors to all places in Buffalo and vicinity and at Niagara Falls that they may desire to reach, either for business or pleasure. Its alphabetical arrangement, making an index and table of contents unnecessary, is by far the best for ready reference, but the stranger in Buffalo, unacquainted with the names of the city's interesting features, needs to be told what to look for. The article on Seeing Buffalo is the one that he should read first. Then under such general headings as Hotels, Parks, Summer Resorts, the various denominations of Churches, Art, Monuments, Museums, Music, Theaters, etc., will be found lists of those places and institutions, many of which are fully described under their own names. Visitors desiring to see the spots associated with stirring events of the past will be directed to them by the article on Historic Sites. When a suburban place is described, the railroad or electric line by which it can be reached and the distance and fare are always given. The article Railroads tells at what depot trains arrive and depart on all the roads entering Buffalo, where their uptown ticket offices and where their freight offices are. The articles on Street Railways and Steamboats give similar information as to the electric lines and the passenger steamers. Furthermore, the many beautiful engravings in this guide make it a delightful souvenir.

Under Niagara Falls and Niagara Gorge visitors will find complete directions for seeing the wonders of the Falls and the scenery along the lower river. The two cities of Niagara Falls, on the American and Canadian sides of the river are also fully described.

To the new resident who has come to make his home in Buffalo, this guide has a value in addition to its usefulness to the transient visitor. He needs to learn quickly how to get about the city without loss of time, what Banks, Express Offices, and Post Office stations there are, what Schools, Public and Private, how and when to transact his business with the City departments, and what Political Divisions he lives in.
Many an old resident does not know his own city well, for new things are constantly coming up outside the beaten track of his daily routine, and old things are frequently changing. For their own information and in order to be prepared to show visiting friends about the City, every family that has grown up from childhood here should have this book.

Most of us who accomplish creditable things build more or less upon a foundation of others' work, and I cheerfully acknowledge indebtedness to my predecessors, Dr. A. B. Floyd, author of Ins and Outs of Buffalo, (1901), and C. J. Pilkey, whose guide books aided me materially in becoming acquainted with Buffalo. The City Directory, the Evening News History of Buffalo, and the new Erie County Atlas have also furnished information. Concerning Niagara Falls I have learnt much from the historical and descriptive book on Niagara, written about ten years ago, by the Hon. Peter A. Porter, also from the compact little pamflet of C. E. Burk, and the guide publishd by the Niagara Courier. I expect that future compilers will make similar use of my book, and they will find in it plenty of first hand information that I have personally collected and digested. I also wish to thank the officers of many institutions, societies and mercantile companies, who have furnished information when applied to. Any other persons who can supply particulars that should be included in this Guide, are invited to send the material at once for another edition that I hope will be called for before long.

Many of the simplifications in spelling recommended by the Simplified Spelling Board are used in this book. Where scholars like Thomas R. Lounsbury, Francis A. March, Andrew D. White and Sir James Murray and men of affairs like Andrew Carnegie, Theodore Roosevelt, Lyman J. Gage and the late Justice David J. Brewer dare to lead, I dare to follow.

AND NIAGARA FALLS

Academies.—The schools bearing this name in Buffalo are the Academy of the Sacred Heart, St. Mary’s Academy, Mt. Mercy Academy, and Mt. St. Joseph’s Academy. Holy Angels Academy is now a department of D’Youville College. (See Schools, Private).

Adam, Meldrum & Anderson Co.—Some of the older inhabitants, familiar with the growth of Buffalo’s business enterprises, will no doubt recall the modest little store with a 45-foot frontage by 100-foot depth and 12 employees that made its home in the American Block 43 years ago. It was on March 21st, 1867 that the firm of Adam, Meldrum & Whiting began a business which has progresed, ever progresed, until today it stands as a living monument to its founders—the greatest wholesale and Retail Dry Goods and Carpet Establishment between New York and Chicago.

Thru their long establisht foreign and New York offices and close relation with the leading European and American manufacturers they enjoy purchasing advantages “Second to None.” Their extensive wholesale and retail outlets in conjunction with an unlimited purchasing power enable them to maintain an under-selling supremacy for superior grades of merchandise.

The practice of this store for nearly half a century has been one of honest, straight-forward and broad-minded merchandising, with the customer’s money promptly returned if asked for. The wonderful growth and success accorded this business may be attributed chiefly to a steadfast policy: the best goods from the best factories at the lowest possible prices for which such goods can be sold.

Non-residents of Buffalo are assured that every service, courtesy and economy which is extended to customers who regularly visit this store is extended with equal promptness to each customer who utilizes the convenience and money-saving advantages of its Mail Order Service.

The Adam, Meldrum & Anderson Co. are known far and near as “THE STORE THAT SERVES YOU BEST.”

Akron is a village in the town of Newstead, 22 miles northeast of Buffalo, on the West Shore railroad. Fare, 48c. A sanitarium for mineral water baths, a canning factory, stone quarry and cement, planing and grist mills are located here.
Albright Art Gallery.—This temple of pictorial art stands in Delaware park, a short distance from Forest av., and overlooking the park lake. The palatial building was provided thru the munificence of John J. Albright, of Buffalo, to contain the collections of the Buffalo Fine Arts Academy. It was built in 1900 and the art exhibit of the Pan-American exhibition was shown in it the next year. It is of white marble, 250 feet long, and is the finest example of pure Greek architecture to be found in America. The gallery is administered by the Academy, which has a permanent maintenance fund, and the city provided the site on park lands and contributes $12,000 a year to its expenses, under an agreement that it shall be open free to the public four days each week. It is open daily from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. in winter and 5.30 in summer, except Sunday and Monday, when it opens at 1 P. M. The free days are Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday; on other days 25c. admission is charged. Reached by Elmwood av. cars. It is open evenings during certain exhibitions, which are announced in the newspapers. The permanent collection comprises nearly 250 oil paintings, some 30 casts from Greek and Roman sculptures, several marble busts, a historical collec-

THE ALBRIGHT ART GALLERY

Alden is a town of Erie county lying east of Lancaster. The Erie, Lackawanna and N. Y. Central railroads have stations in the town. Part of it is incorporated as a village of the same name. The village is 20 miles from Buffalo. Here are the Alden Black Water Baths, recommended for rheumatism, gout, stomach trouble and skin diseases.

Aldermen.—The board of aldermen of the city of Buffalo consists of 25 members, one elected from each ward for a term of two years. An alderman must be a resident of the ward that he represents. The board meets every Monday at 2.30 p.m., except in July and August. See Common Council.

Ambulances.—An ambulance can be summoned by telephone to take patients to the following hospitals: Emergency, Erie County, Frontier, General, German, Homeopathic and Riverside. The surgeon on the ambulance will have with him instruments and appliances for giving temporary relief to injured persons.

Amherst is a town of Erie county touching Buffalo at the northeast corner. Williamsville is its principal village.

Angola is a village on the shore of Lake Erie, 22 miles southwest of Buffalo, reached by the Lake Shore, Pennsylvania or New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad; fare 57c., round trip $1.05. Also by Buffalo & Lake Erie electric cars; fare 45c., round trip 75c. Running time 62 minutes. The largest of the public summer camping resorts along the lake shore is here, and so is Cradle Beach, the summer home of the Buffalo Fresh Air Mission for children.

The Antique Shop, one of Buffalo’s most interesting show places, is located on Virginia st., between Delaware av. and Convention Hall. Elmwood and Hoyt cars stop at the doors. Several hours can be profitably spent wandering thru the various rooms. Visitors are always welcome and there are courteous attendants to show them about and answer questions.

A wonderful collection of rare old English Sheffield ware may be seen stored away in curious old mahogany chests and cabinets, along with old colonial cut glass, china, bronzes, etc. Grandfathers’ clocks of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries; Chippendale chairs; Sheraton tables; Hippiewhite sideboards; stately old four-post beds; Forentine mirrors.

The Antique Shop is under the personal management of Mr. J. R. Broderick, of Baltimore, Md., one of the best known antiquarians in the country. Open daily from 9 to 5 and evenings by appointment.

Armor is a locality in the town of Hamburg, reached by Orchard Park electric cars.

Armories.—See National Guard.

Art.—See Albright Art Gallery, Art Students’ League, Buffalo Fine Arts Academy and Buffalo Society of Artists.

Art Students’ League.—This is a society for promoting education in art. It conducts an art school in the Albright Art Gallery, the year running from the last of September to the last of May, with a summer term in June and July. There are drawing classes for children, classes in leather embossing, basketry and bead weaving, in clay modeling, decorative design and composition, also antique, painting, life and portrait classes. On Saturdays there are classes especially for school teachers and pupils. The tuition fees are low and scholarships are given to the most promising students. The president is George P. Sawyer and the secretary is Miss Millie M. Brock.
Assessment, Department of.—The board of assessors of the city of Buffalo consists of 3 members, one of whom is elected in each odd numbered year for a term of 6 years. Before Jan. 2d in each year, the board must prepare the general assessment rolls, which shall then be open to public inspection for at least 20 days. During such time applications for correction may be made. The assessors must make any corrections that they deem justified and file a revised copy of the rolls in the controller’s office on or before Feb. 15.

The board also assesses the cost of local improvements upon the lands benefited by them. Rolls for local assessments must be open for public inspection and subject to correction for 10 days. Notices must be published in the official newspaper whenever rolls are open for inspection, and notices of local assessments must be mailed to property owners at their last known addresses.

Athletics.—The chief track athletic contests in Buffalo are the indoor meets held in the armories of the 65th and 74th Regiments. There are several each winter, which are duly advertised. The four high schools and the Y. M. C. A. also have teams for track athletics and for base ball, foot ball, basket ball, etc. In addition to the facilities afforded by the above institutions, there are several gymnasiums in the city, maintained by societies and by public instructors. Buffalo has a professional base ball team, which is a member of the Eastern League, and the American game is in high favor with all classes, from the City Fathers down to the “kids on the block.”

Athol Springs is a suburban place on the shore of Lake Erie, 9 miles from Buffalo. Reached by Lake Shore or Pennsylvania railroad; fare 25c.; round trip 40c. Also by Buffalo & Lake Erie electric cars; fare 15c.; round trip 30c.

Auditorium.—This attractive ball room and audience hall, occupying the entire third floor of the Auditorium building, is superior to any other of its kind in Buffalo for entertaining purposes. It is within easy access of residents of all sections, as the Elmwood and West Utica street cars pass the doors, and cab service can be had within ten minutes of telephone call. The white maple floor measures 40 by 80 feet; height from floor to ceiling, 16 feet insuring perfect ventilation. The chandeliers, of heavy brass are most artistic, and the illumination is furnished by 150 incandescent lamps so arranged that any effect desirable may be obtained. The decorative scheme thoughout is carried in walls of buff, draperies, hangings and shades in red and green, and divans in mission, with leather upholstery.

In connection with the ball room are elaborately furnished reception parlors, dressing and smoking rooms at the disposal of lessees, providing an ideal rendezvous for dancing parties. The stage is 17 by 20 feet, and ideally equipped for private theatricals, concerts, conventions, lectures, musicales and graduating exercises. Chairs are furnished and placed for all occasions.

The AUDITORIUM ANNEX, with a floor space of 40 by 60 feet, is on the main floor and can be entered either on Elmwood av., or from ball room. All woodwork is of dark oak, broad design, with green walls and trimmings. Heavy chandeliers of oxidized copper, Tungsten lamps with Tiffany shades, and 50 other lights artistically placed furnish the illumination. The floor space has ac-
accommodation for banquets of 130 covers. The equipment includes a complete kitchen and dining service. Patrons can arrange for luncheons and dinners of any style. The Annex hall is also adapted to use for small dancing parties, musicales, literary or social meetings, card parties, afternoon teas, wedding receptions, etc. Management of Arthur J. Funk.

Aurora is a town of Erie county southeast of Buffalo. The Pennsylvania and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroads have stations in the town. It contains the village of East Aurora.

Automobiles.—Buffalo is emphatically an automobile city. Several of the largest factories for building motor cars in the country are here, the agencies maintained in this city by all the leading companies attest the standing of Buffalo as a market, and the many miles of asphalt-paved streets and macadamized park drives make auto driving a pleasure and the use of auto trucks of great advantage for business. Among the leading factories are those of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., on Elmwood av., the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., on Niagara st., and the Babcock Electric Carriage Co., on W. Utica st. Many of the sales rooms are grouped on Main st., above Tupper, and in the same locality are the rooms of the Automobile Club of Buffalo, in the Teek Theater Bldg. Cars for hire can be had from the C. W. Miller Transfer Co., the Buffalo Taxicab Co. and at the public stand east and south of Lafayette Square. A person taking a car across the Niagara River should get a bond thru a Canadian custom house broker, permitting the car to cross and recross the boundary for three months.

The Buffalo Automobile Show, held under the auspices of the Au-
Banks.—The present Banks and Trust Companies of Buffalo have an enviable record for both enterprise and stability. There are 11 banks of deposit and discount, 3 trust companies and 4 savings banks in the city. The savings banks and trust companies are open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on business days, except Saturday, when the hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 m. The other banks open at 10 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. except Saturday, when their hours are from 9 to 12. Batavia is the seat of the State Institution for the Blind and here also is the Agricultural Park, where the yearly agricultural fairs of Genesee county are held. It has 14 churches, 4 banks, 6 fire companies, 2 newspapers, a high school, a public library and a hospital.

Among its industries are two electric power plants, one of which runs the local trolley line, granit works, preserving works, and factories for making fire-arms, carriages, sashes, doors and blinds, farming implements and machinery, shoes, galvanized iron ware, rubber tires, paper boxes, cut glass, flour and other goods. The office of the Holland Land Co., built in 1804, stands on W. Main st. and was converted into a historical museum in its centennial year. There is a statue of William Morgan, of Anti-Masonic fame in Batavia, which was his home.

Baths.—Turkish bath establishments for men and for women, also places where ordinary baths with hot and cold water may be had, can be found by reference to the classified section of the city directory. One of the best of these for men is the Morgan Turkish Baths in the basement of the D. S. Morgan Building, Pearl and Niagara sts., and one of the best for ladies is the Summer Street Baths at 19-21 Summer st.

There are two free bath houses maintained by the city, which are substantial buildings erected for the purpose. No. 1 is at 243 Terrace and No. 2 at Woltz av. and Stanislaus st. The hours for men and boys at No. 1 are from 7 a. m. to 12 m. and from 5 to 9 p. m.; Sundays and holidays from 7 to 10 a. m.; for women and girls from 12 m. to 5 p. m. There are 14 rooms with a shower bath in each, also an open space with showers for children. There is a laundry where bathers can wash and dry their own clothing and a tub in which mothers can bathe young children. This bath house was opened Jan. 1, 1897, and was the first of its kind in the country.

Bath house No. 2 has 14 rooms in the men's section and an open space for boys. The laundry has 3 tubs. There is a separate section for women and girls which is open from 12 m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays and holidays from 7 to 10 a. m. These baths are supplied with hot and cold water and are open the year around.

Bay Beach is a cottage resort on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie, between Crystal Beach and Point Abino.

Bay View is a suburban place on the shore of Lake Erie, 8 miles south of Buffalo. Reached by Lake Shore or Pennsylvania railroad, also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars.

Bedell House.—This is a well known pleasure and health resort of the highest class, delightfully situated on the east shore of Grand Island, about 6 miles from the center of the city of Buffalo. The hotel was open in 1877, and is a first-class house, surrounded by a beautiful park, with large shade trees, well grown shrubbery, and smooth lawns. It has about 40 rooms, electric lighting, gas, and steam plants, modern sanitary plumbing, and hot and cold baths. French chefs have charge of the careful selection and skilful preparation of the food. The rates are, European plan, $1 a day up. There is a stable of well broken saddle and harness horses, and excellent facilities for boating, bathing, and fishing. There are also arrangements for the care of automobiles. Back of the hotel are a spacious dancing pavilion, and a Midway, with high class amusement attractions, making it a favorite resort for club, church, and school outings. The Launch Club and the Motor Boat Club have beautiful houses in the near vicinity, and many exciting races are held on the Bedell House course. Other club houses and many charming villas and cottages, the summer homes of prominent Buffalonians, are also near by. The Bedell House is reached by the steamer Ossian Bedell from West Ferry St., making one trip in the forenoon and four or five in the afternoon and evening. Fare 25 cents, with return. Guests of the hotel free. The Grand Island ferry, which carries vehicles, also lands near the hotel. Extensive improvements and additions are pland for next season.

Bell Telephone System.—The industrial and social telephone needs of Buffalo are well cared for by the Bell System, which operates here under the name of the New York Telephone Company. The plant is a very comprehensive one, and includes 8 central office buildings. One of the branch offices, typifying the style of building construction used, is shown in accompanying illustration.

On February 1, 1910, 25,000 telephones were in service here and hundreds of new stations are added each month. The first class hotels have Bell telephones in every room and great telephone development has been accomplished among the railroad interests centering in Buffalo. Almost every large mercantile establishment has a Bell Private Branch Exchange, and the familiar Blue Bell Public Telephone Station signs are seen everywhere. The local exchange connects with the lines of the great Bell Long Distance System, making possible connection with over 4,500,000 telephones in this country and Canada. The New York Telephone Company's equipment is of the most modern type, insuring the best service. Reasonable rates are quoted for business and residence service.
Blasdell is a village in the northern part of the town of Hamburg, 8 miles from Buffalo. Reached by Pennsylvania, Erie and Lake Shore railroads. Fare 20c., round trip 30c.; also by Buffalo & Lake Erie electric cars.

Breakwaters.—The first breakwater protecting the outer harbor of Buffalo was built between 1868 and 1893, of timber cribs. It starts opposite the south bank of Buffalo river, about half a mile out in the lake, and runs southeast parallel with the shore 7,600 feet, or nearly a mile and a half. Immediately after this another section was built, beginning at the southern end of the first, with an entrance between them, and extending in the same direction 10,000 feet. The greater part of this breakwater is of stone and the rest of timber crib and concrete. At the southern end is the south harbor entrance and then a third section of breakwater, 2,803 feet long, running to the shore which curves out to meet it at Lackawanna. These were built by the U. S. government.

North of Buffalo river and close in shore is the Erie Basin breakwater, about half a mile long, built by the State of New York. North of that and further out is the North breakwater, 2,200 feet long, a government work. Beyond the North breakwater, but nearer the shore is another State work, which runs north-west nearly half a mile, then turns north into the Niagara river and continues under the name of the Bird Island Pier, nearly two miles to Squaw Island. Much of the crib construction built by the government has been replaced by stone and concrete.

Bridgeburg is a village at the Canadian end of the International Bridge. Reached by the Grand Trunk or Michigan Central railroad.
Bridges. — The largest bridge wholly or partly within the city of Buffalo is the International bridge crossing the Niagara River to the Canadian shore. This is a railroad bridge, but one of the conditions of the franchise for building it was that a carriage way and footwalks should be added. These additions have not yet been made. It is nearly three quarters of a mile long, is supported on 6 stone piers and has two draws, are about 20 smaller bridges in the city, crossing Scajaquada creek, the upper part of Buffalo river, and other small water courses.

Brock’s Monument.—One of the chief points of interest at which passengers around Niagara Gorge stop over is Brock’s Monument on Queenston Hights. The monument is 200 feet high and was erected in honor of Gen. Sir Isaac Brock who was killed in battle here in the War of 1812.

On Oct. 13, 1812, an American force crossed the river Stormd the hights, and captured Fort Drummond. Later in the day the British were reinforced, but the Americans could not get reinforcements, owing to the unwillingness of the militia to cross the river, and were obliged to surrender the position. The ramparts of Fort Drummond can still be seen in the woods back of the monument. The spot where Gen. Brock fell is part way down the slope toward Queenston, and is marked by a cenotaph, erected by the present King of England when visiting America in 1860. It stands within a few feet of the railway.

Brocton is a town on the shore of L. Erie, 50 miles southwest of Buffalo. Reached by Lake Shore, Pennsylvania or N. Y., Chicago & St. Louis railroads; fare $1.27, round trip $2.45. Also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars; fare $1.05, round trip $1.90. It is the chief center of the great wine industry carried on in the grape belt of western New York, and a visit to the immense cellars there and to the vineyards round about is well worth while.

Buffalo.—GEOGRAPHY. This city occupies an approximately rectangular tract of land, with its greatest dimension from north to south, but with the southern half narrow by the southeast trend of the lake shore. It is 8¾ miles long and the northern half is about 5 miles wide. Its area is 42.89 square miles. Buffalo is bounded on the north by the towns of Tonawanda and Amherst, on the east by Cheektowaga and West Seneca, on the south by the city of Lackawanna, and on the west by Lake Erie and the Niagara river. The southern part of the city is east from east to west by the tortuous Buffalo river, formerly called Buffalo creek, and the land for some distance north of the river and south of it to the city line is low and level. Going north thru the central part of the city the land gradually rises until at High and North sts. it is 90 feet above datum. Further north it slopes down to the valley of Scajaquada creek, beyond which is the highest land in the city—120 feet above datum, near the northeast corner.

CLIMATE.—Buffalo is blest with a remarkably equable temperature, due mainly to the fact that there is a large body of water to the westward and another a short distance north, which warm up very slowly in spring and cool off just as slowly in autumn. The thermometer seldom reaches 0° in winter or 90° in summer, and neither cold waves nor hot waves are frequent or severe. The number of cloudy days in a year is rather large, but threatening weather more often results in only a sprinkle or a snow flurry than in any heavier precipitation. There is not much thunder and lightning and wind storms seldom do material damage, except along the water front.

HISTORY. After the close of the Revolutionary war, emigration from the seaboard westward was encouraged, and among the settlements made in the next few years was one near the mouth of Buffalo creek. The first white settler was Cornelius Winne, a trader from Fishkill, who built his house east of Main st., below Exchange. A large tract of land including Buffalo and surrounding territory, held by Massachusetts under an early colonial grant, was sold to Robert Morris, of Philadelphia, and by him to the Holland Land Co., in 1793. All abstracts of real estate titles in this vicinity run back to that company. Joseph Ellicott was made its chief surveyor, and under his direction the lands along the banks of the creek were surveyed in 1801. Three years later he laid out the city from the creek north to Chippewa st., and from Oenida (now Ellicott) st. west to about the line of Carolina st. The company gave the place the name of New Amsterdam, which did not stick any better than it did to New York, for within ten years the name Buffalo was fixed for all time. Separated from British territory only by the Niagara river, the frontier from L. Erie to L. Ontario became one of the chief scenes of hostilities in the War of 1812. There was a strong British garrison at Fort Erie at the outbreak of the war, and measures for defence were quickly taken on the American side. A force consisting partly of regulars and partly of militia, under Gen. Van Rensselaer, was sent to the Niagara Frontier, and forays were made across the river from both sides, in which several sharp engagements were fought. (See Historic Sites). At this time the population of Buffalo was about 1,500. On Dec. 30, 1813, a force of British and Indians under Gen. Riall crossed the river by night and landed below Squaw island. The militia and volunteers hastened to oppose them, but without avail. The enemy marcht along Niagara st. into the village and during their advance the women and children fled into the country. The British then burned the village, only one house escaping the flames and returned across the river. In a week or two rebuilding began.

In 1816, Buffalo became an incorporated village, and in 1832 it was made a city, having then a population of 10,000. An event of great importance for the commerce of this city was the opening of the Erie canal, Oct. 26, 1825, connecting L. Erie at Buffalo with the Hudson river at Albany. This made Buffalo an important terminal point within the next few years. Water transportation of freight and passengers thru this gateway increased by leaps and bounds, until in 1842 the first railroad entered the city, and was followed by others. The railways paralyzed the water traffic for the time being, but only to replace it by land transportation of much greater volume. An immense movement of supphes thru Buffalo during the Civil War, taxed the facilities of both the land and the water routes. This activity was followed by a disheartening stagnation at the close of the war, but not many years past before the natural growth of the city's trade was using to their full capacity the facilities that had been over-stimulated in war time, and now the Erie canal is being enlarged and shippers are demanding extensions of the railway terminals. Hundreds of acres in East Buffalo are already covered with tracks, etc., so that this part of the city is known as a district of freight yards, and here occur the famous railroad riot of 1892. The attention of the world was drawn to this city in 1901 by the Pan-American Exposition, held in Delaware Park and on lands adjoining, which was one of the most beautiful and instructive exhibitions ever yet seen.

Among the residents of Buffalo who were prominent in its early history was Joseph Ellicott, chief surveyor and afterward sales agent of the Holland Land Company, who selected the site for the city, and ensured its settlement. Another was Samuel Wilkeson, ship builder and merchant, a resident of Buffalo from 1814 to his death in 1848. In 1822 he secured the terminal of the Erie canal for Buffalo creek instead of Black Rock. He was judge of the common Pleas court, State senator and in 1836 became mayor of Buffalo.

Millard Fillmore came to Buffalo in 1822, studied and practiced law here, was elected to the State Assembly, afterward to Congress and vice-president of the United States in 1848. By the death of Gen. Taylor he became president in 1850, and after completing his term resided in Buffalo until his death in 1874.

Dr. Ebenezer Johnson settled in Buffalo in 1809, served as surgeon's mate in the War of 1812, and afterward engaged in the drug business and other mercantile affairs. In 1832 he was elected the first Mayor of the city, and was elected for another term three years later. His house still stands on Delaware av., and a part of his ample grounds is now included in the park system under the name of Johnson Place.

William G. Fargo was a mail carrier on horseback in Onondaga county when only 13 years of age. He came to Buffalo in 1843 as an express agent and in 1844 joined with two partners in establishing an express line to Detroit. This business was united with others in 1850 to form the American Express Co. In 1851 Mr. Fargo, Henry Wells and others founded the express business of Wells, Fargo & Co., operating between New York and the Pacific coast, which has grown to be one of the giant companies in this line. He was the war time mayor of Buffalo having been elected in 1861, and re-elected in 1863.

Grover Cleveland came to Buffalo in 1855, studied and practiced law, was sheriff of Erie county and in 1881 was elected mayor of Buffalo. The next year he was elected governor of New York and in 1884 president of the United States. He was defeated for re-election in 1888 but won again four years later. After retiring from the presidency, he took up his residence at Princeton, N. J.

The splendid position of Buffalo as regards transportation brought many factories to locate here, which have added to the population and wealth of the city, and contributed, along with other classes of business, means for the erection of many handsome homes, business blocks and public buildings. The future promises greater triumphs and greater expansion for the Queen City. Energetic citizens are working to ensure the early fulfilment of Buffalo’s glorious commercial destiny, and their spirit is well express in the slogan “Buffalo Means Business,” selected for the city by the Advertising Club in 1908. Any one who wants proof as to the appropriateness of this slogan, should get permission to go up to the roof of the Chamber of Commerce building, from which he can see compactly massed block after block of stores, banks, and shops stretching away to the north, to the east, and the south, with high office buildings and hotels, and the towers of the post office and the city hall rising among them. He can see also the tracks of many busy railroads, running to all points of the compass, great elevators and coal trestles rising along the water front, with fleets of steamers lying at their wharves or making their way out into the broad lake, and the long lines of the breakwaters protecting the city’s harbor. Numerous wreaths of smoke and steam rising from factories and workshops are proofs of busy labor below, while the slender spires of St. Paul’s and St. Joseph’s cathedrals and the white shaft of the McKinley monument testify that other than material things are also held in honor here.

CITY GOVERNMENT. The charter of the city, revised in 1891, provides for a Mayor and a Common Council consisting of two chambers, a board of Councilmen and a board of Aldermen. The care of the streets, waterworks and public buildings, and the supervision of private building operations is delegated to the commissioner of Public Works. The Police, Fire and Park departments are conducted by commissions of 3 or 5 members. The schools are in charge of a Superintendent of Education. Other boards are the Assessors, Board of Health, Examiners and Exisce Commissioners, and other single heads of departments are the Comptroller, Treasurer, Corporation Counsel and Overseer of the Poor.
The term of office of all elective officers begins on the first day of January following their election.

POPULATION. The first settlers of Buffalo were English colonists and their descendents, who came from eastern New York and from New England. When the tide of German immigration had set in strongly, Buffalo received its share of the new blood, and today a large part of its prosperous and substantial citizens are of German descent. Other peoples largely represented here are the Italians and Poles. But while the Germans have readily adopted the language of their Anglo-Saxon cousins and intermingled with them, the Italians and Poles, differing more from the English in speech and racial character, have retained somewhat isolated. Each country of Europe has contributed its quota of Hebrews, who have here, as elsewhere, conquered such obstacles as a strange language or new customs that stood in the way of their advancement. There are a few negroes in the city. The population of Buffalo in 1830 was 10,000, in 1860 it was 81,000, in 1880 it was 155,134 and in 1900 it was 352,387. The census of 1910 will doubtless show it to be considerably above 400,000. (See Manufactures.)

Buffalo Fine Arts Academy.—This society was organized in 1862 to maintain a permanent collection of works of art, an art library and an art school, and to foster art in all its branches. Its collection occupies the Albright Art Gallery. Persons who contribute $1,000 or more to the Academy may be elected fellows; those who contribute $100 or more may be elected life members. Associate members pay dues of $10 a year and artist members $5. There are about 400 members of all classes. The president is Wm. A. Rogers and the secretary is Ralph Plumb. The collections are in charge of an art director.

Buffalo Historical Society.—This institution, organized in 1862, occupies its own building in Delaware Park, near Elmwood Av. The building is of white marble, with a fine Doric portico, and cost upwards of $200,000. It was erected jointly by the State of New York, the city of Buffalo and the Buffalo Historical Society in 1900 and was used by the State as headquarters for its commission during the Pan-American Exposition in 1901, at the close of which it became the property of the Historical Society.

The Society maintains a museum which is the chief repository for historical material in western New York. In the basement is a collection of articles belonging to the early days of Buffalo and vicinity. The North Hall, main floor, contains relics of the American wars, models and pictures of the Pan-American Exposition and a small collection of Etruscan copper, pottery, beads, etc. The upper floor contains the Cottier, Scoville, Atkins, Silver and Benedict Indian collections; the Auman, Jordan and other collections from the Phillipines and Cuba; the James coin and Medal collection; and the Joseph C. Greene collection of casts and relics from Egypt, Assyria, Turkey and India. One room is devoted to the Julius E. Francis collection of Lincoln relics and to relics of the Civil War, portraits of the Presidents, etc. A large portrait hall contains, besides many oil portraits, relics of Millard Fillmore, an original set of the Boydell Shakspere engravings, etc.

The Historical Society library, comprising 20,000 volumes and many pamphlets and manuscripts, consists chiefly of the historical literature of the Niagara region, tho it is rich in books on the Civil War, the War of 1812, biography and genealogy. It has a useful collection of New England town and local histories. The newspaper room contains a large collection of early western New York and other papers, covering important historical periods. The John C. Lord library of 11,000 volumes, and the library of Mrs. Millard Fillmore occupy one room. The former collection is rich in early printed books, and theological and standard literature prior to 1870. The Marshall library deposited with the Historical Society contains about 1,000 volumes, many being rare, chiefly relating to the French in America, to Indians and to local history. The Historical Building is one of the show places of Buffalo, and one of its most beautiful and popular resorts. The museum is open free to the public from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. weekdays and from 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday. The library is open at the same hours weekdays, but not on Sunday or holidays.

The Society receives an annual maintenance fund from the city, in return for which the public is given free access to the building, museum, etc., and free use of the library. The various activities of the institution are carried on with the income from securities, sale of publications and membership dues. A course of evening lectures and entertainments is provided for members and their friends, and members receive free the Publications of the Society, which have now reached 13 volumes. Members pay yearly dues of $5. From October to May the Society provides free public lectures, usually of a historical character on Sunday afternoons. The president of its board of managers is Henry W. Hill and its secretary is Frank H. Severance.
Buffalo Mill Supply Company.—
building at 210-12 Main st., occupied by this company, which, since 1898, has carried on a rapidly growing business in supplying factories with all the staple articles and rubber that is used by its customers can be found on hand here.
Gas engines are a specialty of this concern. A full stock, ranging from 1½ to 25 H. P., is kept ready for immediate delivery, and larger sizes are supplied on short notice. In all the lines that it carries, a careful selection has been made of the best articles for their respective purposes.

Buffalo Orphan Asylum was organized Oct. 15, 1836. It first occupied a rented house on Franklin st. and made several removals prior to the errection of the present building at Virginia st. and Elmwood av., in 1850-51. It has been maintained by donations and bequests from generous friends and managed by a board of trustees and an associate board of directresses appointed from the different protestant churches. It receives orphan children and cares for them until suitable homes can be secured, also dependent and destitute children from Erie county, and those who, for various reasons, parents may be temporarily unable to care for. The average number of inmates is 120, but more than twice that number are cared for in each year.
The trustees have purchased a plot of 10 acres, on Elmwood av. near the park, where they expect to erect modern and commodious buildings, as soon as sufficient funds can be secured for this purpose. The president is Walter H. Johnson and president of the Women’s board is Mrs.
Tracy C. Becker.

Buffalo Public Library.—This library was established in 1897 by a contract between the Buffalo Library and the city of Buffalo, and is now free for the circulation of books to all residents of the city. The history of the Buffalo Library dates back to 1836. Under the successive names of the Young Men's Association, the Young Men's Library and the Buffalo Library, it was a subscription library. In 1865 the Association purchased what was known as the St. James property on the corner of Eagle, Washington and Main sts., St. James Hall occupying the same year, and was replaced by the Hotel Iroquois, now occupying the site. The hotel property was owned by the library until 1910.

The space in the new library building was shared at the beginning with the Society of Natural Sciences, the Fine Arts Academy and the Historithe Washington st. corner, and the library building, which also housed at that time the Fine Arts Academy and the Society of Natural Sciences, was at the corner of Main st.

In 1887 the present library building on Lafayette Square was erected and the old library building was converted into the Hotel Richmond, which was destroyed by fire in the cal Society. The two latter have since gone into buildings of their own in another part of the city.

The Buffalo Public Library now contains about 275,000 volumes. The circulation during the year 1909 was 1,407,252. The circulating departments are open daily, except Sunday and holidays, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

All residents of Buffalo, all holders of real estate in Buffalo, and all people engaged in business in Buffalo are entitled to register and have borrowers' cards. The librarian is Walter L. Brown.

The main Delivery Room opens from the vestibule. In this room are placed the Registry Desk, the dictionary card catalog, and also the Receiving and Request Desks. Adjoining this room is the Open Shelf Room, upon the shelves of which the books are open to borrowers, who may select the books which they wish to take home and have them charged as they leave the room. This collection consists of about 25,000 volumes, and is in itself, a complete circulating library of the best books. The Gluck autograph collection, containing many valuable manuscripts, particularly of American authors, is displayed in the front room. Among other manuscripts in this collection might be mentioned Emerson's "Representative men," Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," and a volume of Parkman. Other articles of interest are in glass cases in the vestibule.

In the basement is the School Department of the Library, from which are sent out 771 class room libraries to 41 of the grammar schools. The Teachers' Room in this department contains samples of the books used in school work.

On the second floor of the building are the Catalog Room, Children's Rooms, Reference Department and Periodical Department. The Children's rooms, which were the first in the country to be open in connection with a public library, care for all borrowers under the age of 14, and are open for the children when the public schools are closed. They are closed on Sunday and holidays.

The Newspaper Rooms are in a separate building at the corner of Clinton and Ellicott sts. They are open from 8.30 a. m. to 9.30 p. m. and on Sunday and holidays from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.

In the Reference Department on open shelves are arrangedencyclopedias, dictionaries of many kinds, atlases and other books needed for consultation by readers. The reference librarian and his assistants will also bring books from all other departments here for use.

The Periodical Department has about 300 magazines arranged alphabetically in an open case, for use in the room. Many extra copies of the more popular magazines are taken by the library and may be had for home use in the circulating department. The Open Shelf, Reference and Periodical departments are open on Sunday and holidays from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m.

The outside agencies of the library, in addition to the schools, are four branches:—William Ives Branch in the Dom Polski, Broadway and Playter sts.; the Joseph P. Dudley Branch, 503 South Park av., the Lafayette Branch in the Lafayette High school, and the S. V. R. Watson Branch, 377 Elk st. There are also seven Delivery Stations where books may be left and are called for each day. These are:

Near the Clinton st. corner of the library building is a tablet bearing this inscription: "The site of the first Court Houses of Niagara and Erie Counties."
First Court House built 1810; destroyed at the burning of Buffalo by the British, December 30, 1813. Second Court House built 1816-17; abandoned March 11, 1876.

Niagara County formed from Genesee County, March 11, 1808, and Erie County from Niagara County, April 2, 1821, Buffalo being the first seat of Niagara County and Erie County.

Erected by the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, 1905.''

Buffalo River, formerly known as Buffalo creek, crosses the southern part of the city from east to west and empties into Lake Erie. Owing to the land through which it flows being almost level, it has a sluggish current and a very tortuous channel. About a mile below the point where it enters the city it receives Cazenovia creek as a tributary from the south. For the last two miles of its course, its banks are lined with wharves, its sheltered waters affording the safest dockage of this port. Every spring it overflows, causing much trouble and damage and dredging is now under way to improve a part of its channel.

Buffalo Society of Artists is an organization for cultivating art and the art feeling in general and with the special object of bringing the work of local artists before the public. The active members must be artists, but any art lover may become an associate member. The society numbers about 400, of whom 75 are artists. Its meetings and exhibitions are held at the Albright Art Gallery. The president is Carlton Sprague and the recording secretary is Mrs. Robert Fulton.

Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences.
—This organization, with which is united the Hays School of Natural Science, maintains a scientific museum, library and lecture room in the public library building at Washington st. and L'zroadway. The Society was organized in 1861 and incorporated Jan. 27, 1863. The hours for visitors are from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. In the basement, at the foot of the elevator and stairway will be found the Ward series of skeleton casts of the gigantic creatures of the Tertiary period. In adjoining rooms are shown the Bennett Collection of fossils from the water lime group near Buffalo, being the largest collection of the Euripterids in the world, the Clinton herbarium of about 24,000 specimens, some of the geological collections of the society, the beautiful mineralogical collection which bears the name of the late Charles F. Wadsworth, the large meteorite from the Canon Diabolo in Arizona, and many groups of mammals, large and small, including the great group of mounted bison, one of the finest in the United States.

Taking the elevator, the visitor finds in the rooms on the third floor a large collection of African implements, weapons and other articles, the extensive archeological collections of American Indian implements, a large collection of Mound Builder pottery, skulls from western mounds and eastern village sites, pottery from Central America and from the pueblos of Arizona and basket work in great variety. Here also are the large collections of birds and corals and shells, which are of great beauty and interest. The Society's office and its library are on this floor. The latter consists of 6,000 volumes which may be consulted freely by persons interested in science. The lecture room is in the basement, and here twice a day during the school year, classes from one or another of the public grammar schools come to hear talks on nature study, physiology, etc., after which the pupils go thru the Museum. In this room is given also a series of weekly public lectures of a popularly scientific character, each winter. Admission cards to these lectures are given without charge to all who apply at the office for them. The Society is supported by its membership dues, which are $5 a year. The president of the board of managers is T. Guilford Smith and the superintendent is Henry R. Howland.

Building, Bureau of.—This is a division of the Department of Public Works, under a deputy commissioner, with offices in the municipal building south of the City Hall. The bureau has charge of the construction, care and repairs of all buildings owned by the city and has supervision over all private building operations. Builders must submit plans for all new buildings and alterations of old ones to this bureau and obtain its approval of them before going forward with the work. The plans for plumbing in all such new or altered buildings must have the approval of the Health Department. Present Deputy Building Commissioner, Henry Rumrill, Jr.

Cabs.—Both horse cabs and motor cabs and carriages are at the service of the public in Buffalo. There are cab stands at the four principal railroad depots, on the Terrace near Main st., and in the streets around Lafayette sq., also at places of public entertainment during and for one hour after the entertainments. The usual rates for the use of horse vehicles are $1.50 for the first hour and $1 for each additional hour; for a vehicle to go from the central residence section of the city to a railroad depot the regular charge is $1. (See also Taxicabs).

Canadian Niagara Power Co.—The plant of this company is at Niagara Falls, Ont., just above the Horsehoe Fall. The company is closely connected with the Niagara Falls Power Co., on the American side. The same general design has been followed in the plants of the two companies, and the same provision for visitors is made. In the Canadian power house there are at present 5 generators of 10,000 horse power each, and the plant is so arranged that it can be easily extended by the addition of 6 more.

A transmission line runs from the Canadian plant along the west side of the Niagara river 16 miles to Fort Erie, where it crosses to Buffalo. There are also interconnecting cables between the power houses of the allied companies, so that if the service of one is temporarily interrupted, its customers can be supplied by the other.

Canals.—Buffalo is the western terminus of the Erie canal and several short canals have been constructed within the limits of the city to facilitate local commerce.
ERIE CANAL, which connects L. Erie with the Hudson river at Albany, was opened for navigation Oct. 26, 1825. It starts near the mouth of the Buffalo river and runs parallel with the shore of the Lake, west of the Terrace and Front av., to the Niagara river, which it follows until it passes the northern city line into Tonawanda. Its total length is 348 miles and it has 70 locks. The number of canal boats that cleared from Buffalo in 1908 was 2,241, which is about half the number in 1898. In 1909, 873,796 tons of freight, valued at $17,871,976, went east on the canal and 694,819 tons, valued at $18,032,395, came from the east. The Erie canal is now being widened and deepened so as to float barges of 1,000 tons burden, which will undoubtedly restore its traffic to its old time tonnage.

CITY SHIP CANAL also called Blackwell canal, runs from Buffalo river near its mouth southward between the river and the lake about 2½ miles. At its southern end coal docks of the Lehigh Valley railroad lead off from it.

CLARK AND SKINNER CANAL ran from the Buffalo river between Liberty and Columbia sts., north to the line of the former Hamburg canal.

HAMBURG CANAL, formerly extended from the Erie canal to Hamburg st., south of Exchange st. It has been filled in and the land thus made is known as the Hamburg canal strip.

OHIO BASIN is a body of water west of Louisiana st. It is connected with the Buffalo river. The Ohio Basin Ship is a short canal that formerly extended from the Basin north to the Hamburg canal. It has been filled in as far down as Elk st.

Canisius College.—This is a college for young men conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus. It was founded in 1870 and has been empowered to confer degrees by the university of the State of New York. It occupies a large plot in the heart of the city, running thru from Washington to Ellicott st. below Tupper st. The main college building is over 300 feet long. The instruction given includes the regular college course and an academic or preparatory course, each covering four years, and is based on the system that has been devised for Catholic youth by the most prominent Jesuit educators. The total number of students in both departments is about 400. The tuition is $50 a year. The college has a library of about 26,000 volumes. There is no dormitory connected with the institution at present.

Owing to the growth of the academic department the whole of the present location is to be devoted to it, and the collegiate department will be removed to ample grounds owned by the college at Main and Jefferson sts. The new main building will have a frontage of 311 feet, with three wings extending 200 feet from the rear. Separate buildings will be provided for scientific laboratories, gymnasium and auditorium, and in the rear of the group will be a large athletic field. The president is the Rev. Augustine A. Miller, S. J.

Car Lines.—See Street Railways.

Carnival Court, is a most attractive summer amusement park covering nearly 10 acres at the junction of Main and Jefferson sts., and reached by car lines on both these thoroughfares. The amusements include a Scenic Railway with over a mile of trackage, one of the finest Carousels ever installed, a magnificent Dancing Pavilion brilliantly lighted by

Chamber of Commerce and Manufacturers' Club.—Over 50 years ago, on April 18, 1857, was formed the Board of Trade of Buffalo, which, with changes of name to the Merchants' Exchange and later to the Chamber of Commerce, remained for half a century the largest and most important commercial organization in the city. In recent years it has occupied part of the fourth floor in its own office building on Main st., running through to Pearl st. The building consists of two parts—the 8-story brown stone structure at the corner of Seneca and Pearl sts., erected in 1883, and the addition, of white brick and glazed tile, 13 stories high, with a frontage on Main st., completed in its jubilee year. This is the highest building in Buffalo. Among the firms and corporations occupying large floor space are the Corn Exchange, which has a large trading room on the fourth floor and a set of offices on the eighth, the Columbia National bank, which occupies the Main st. frontage on the ground floor, the Mutual Transit Co., the Erie, Lake Shore and Lehigh Valley railroads, Brown & Co., vessel agents, the Public Service Commission, a number of the large elevator and milling companies and grain dealers, and several important law firms and insurance agencies. Both the Western Union and the Postal telegraf companies have offices in the building.

Its purposes have been to investigate and push public improvements that would develop the growth of a "Greater Buffalo;" to attract all lines of trade and manufacture to locate here; to enlarge the markets of its manufacturers and merchants by attracting buyers to the city; to solve transportation problems beneficial to the city and prevent conditions prejudicial to its interests; to secure just legislation; to disseminate accurate and reliable information; to procure uniformity in the customs and uses of all lines of trade; to broaden the acquaintance of its members and a knowledge of their affairs; and to create a spirit of co-operation and mutual help. Its members comprised merchants, manufacturers, bankers, lawyers, capitalists, and business men of all classes, and any person of good standing who desired to co-operate in promoting the above purposes, has always been welcomed to membership.

Three affiliated organizations are the Retail Merchants' Board, the Real Estate Association of the Chamber of Commerce and the Wholesale Merchants' Association. The Retail Merchants' Board regulates the soliciting of advertising and donations from its members, issuing permits to the representatives of approved concerns, and has become the medium of united action as to credits, discounts, trading stamps, the prosecution of shoplifters, and other matters of common interest. The Real Estate Association acts in a similar way for the real estate trade of the city.

The Wholesale Merchants' Association aims to bring into closer unity of effort the wholesale industries of the City so that they can act with greater force for the advancement of the City as a buying and manufacturing center. To induce others to locate here; thru publicity as to the advantages Buffalo enjoys in the way of natural location, railroad and lake service, etc.

The Traffic Bureau, having a General Traffic Manager, co-operates with shippers and receivers and with railroads in matters of rates, service, etc. A Convention and Publicity Bureau, an Industrial Bureau, etc., will be organized.

The Chamber has paid especial attention to the work of collecting and diffusing information that would increase the trade and commerce of the city. Its attractive reading room is supplied with the daily papers from many cities and the chief commercial and industrial journals. It has collected a statistical library containing national and State publications relating to commerce and industry; the Congressional Record, consular reports, crop reports, hydrographic maps, a file of the Commercial Advertiser, Buffalo's leading mercantile newspaper, from 1856, and publications of cities and boards of trade from all over the country. The personal assistance of the secretary has also been given to inquirers and correspondents.

Early in 1910 the Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers' Club united in one body under the name at the head or this article. The Manufacturers' Club was organized in 1901 and came rapidly to the front as an agency for advancing trade and public interests in Buffalo. Before the consolidation it occupied the 3rd floor of the Coal and Iron Exchange building, where it had its offices, a well appointed restaurant, and club rooms. Co-operation has been the keynote of its work, for its leading spirits saw clearly that many times as great results could be accomplished by united action as by the same amount of effort expended individually. In July, 1909, it began the publication of the Live Wire, a monthly bulletin recording the progress of the club. Its greatest achievement is the instituting of annual exhibitions of Buffalo manufacturers, the first of which was held in 1908, in Convention Hall, and the second in the Arsenal building on Broadway, in October, 1909. This work of the club has received the most cordial praise from all sides.

When the union of the two bodies was decided upon, the president of the Chamber of Commerce was Elliott C. McDougal, president of the Bank of Buffalo, and one of a long line of prominent merchants and bankers who have held the office, and its secretary was Fenton M. Parke, a leading real estate dealer, whose valuable work as chairman of the real estate committee of the Chamber led to his selection for the important duties of its executive officer. These and a majority of the other officers retired, and William E. Robertson, who was president of the Manufacturers' Club, became president of the united organization. The new board of directors consists of 24 members and special questions are referred to standing committees. Mr. Parke was reappointed secretary and Edward B. Harvey, who was secretary of the Manufacturers' Club was appointed financial secretary.

Charities.—The spirit of helpfulness to the unfortunate is manifested in Buffalo in many forms. The city, the county, the churches, numerous benevolent societies and many individuals contribute to supply food, shelter, medical attendance, fuel, clothing, employment and sometimes money to the needy. All of these agencies have plenty of opportunities for extending their usefulness and contributions both of material aid and the time of sympathetic judicious workers will be gladly received. Lists of dispensaries and hospitals will be found under those heads. The following is a list of the other charitable institutions and societies in the city, some of which are described in separate articles.

Charity Organization Society—The aim of this society, the first of its kind in America, founded in 1877, is to make kindness to the unfortunate in Buffalo systematic, wise and efficient. It has a main office at 19 W. Tupper st. with branches at 165 E. Swan st. (in Fitch Institute) and 1079 Broadway (in Dom Polski). Except for finding employment, its aid is usually given only to families in which there is no able-bodied man. It seeks to make every such family self-supporting, by discovering and removing the causes of its poverty, and aims to prevent fraud, public begging and all forms of social parasitism. It furnishes to churches, societies and individuals facilities for hearty co-operation, both in aiding the poor and in improving social conditions.

In ordinary years, from 1500 to 2000 families, consisting of 6000 to 8000 persons, receive aid thru the society. Sickness and hunger and cold are relieved promptly and then a district visitor studies the family and plans further aid. The society maintains employment bureaus from which employers may obtain men for various kinds of labor and women for washing and cleaning. It gives legal aid to families deprived of their rights and it encourages thrift among children by receiving penny savings deposits. It has also co-operated in many movements for the prevention of poverty, such as the enactment and enforcement of the tenement house, child labor and truancy laws, the discovery and correction of physical defects in school children, the establishment of the county lodging house, city baths and playgrounds and the people's gardens and the passage of laws concerning probation, wife desertion, chattel mortgages and employment bureaus. All who can give money, time, professional skill, employment, food, clothing, fuel or other supplies for the poor can be sure that their contributions will be wisely distributed by this society. The population of the city is now three times as large as it was in 1877, when the society was founded, but the number of dependent families has actually been reduced. The general officers are, president, Ansley Wilcox and secretary, Frederick Almy.

(See Fitch Institute).

Chautauqua Lake lies about 65 miles southwest of Buffalo and is 20 miles long with a breadth of from one to two miles. At its northwest end, which is about 8 miles from Lake Erie, is Mayville, the county seat of Chautauqua county, and on its outlet at the southeast end is the city of Jamestown. Its waters flow thru a creek into the Allegeny river. A railroad, a steamer and a trolley line furnish transportation to the many delightful resorts that dot its shores. Sunday excursions at reduced rates are offered by the railroads in summer and advertised in the newspapers.

Near the head of the lake on the west side are the Assembly Grounds of the Chautauqua Institution, the famous organization for summer school and correspondence teaching. Its post office is Chautauqua, N. Y. Lots for cottages inside the grounds are leased for long terms, and the Hotel Athenaeum, and many boarding and rooming cottages accommodate those who do not own houses. The Institution conducts courses of lectures and concerts, a daily devotional hour and classes in many subjects, during the months of July and August. Admission to the grounds, with the privilege of attending the lectures and concerts is 50c a day, $2 a week or $7.50 for the season. A quiet Sunday is enforced; no cars or steamers stop at the grounds and no one is admitted without an urgent reason. Circulars of information are issued by the Institution.

In a field about a mile south of the village, a battle was fought, July 5, 1814, in which the Americans defeated the British. The only trace of military operations remaining is the mound of a redout on the island at the mouth of Chippawa creek.

City and County Hall.—A single imposing building, owned and maintained jointly by Erie county and the city of Buffalo, serves as city hall and county court house and accommodates several of the county offices. It occupies the block bounded by Eagle, Franklin and Church sts. and Delaware av., with entrances on both the Franklin st. and Delaware av. sides. It is a handsome structure in the Norman style of architecture, and is built of Maine granite. The total cost was $1,328,676 and it was completed in 1876. Over the central section a clock tower rises to the height of 268 feet. On a level with the clock faces four statues representing Justice, Agriculture, Commerce and Mechanic Arts adorn the four corners of the tower. They are 16 feet high and weigh 14 tons each.

There are three floors for offices and court rooms. On the first floor are the offices of the Surrogate, County Clerk, County Treasurer, Sheriff, City Clerk, City Treasurer and some other city departments. On the second floor are the offices of the Mayor, the Commissioner of Jurors, District Attorney and Assessors, while the rest of the floor is occupied by the Supreme and County Courts. The third floor affords space for other court rooms and for the halls of the Councilmen, Aldermen and Supervisors. In the center of the rotunda, a bronze plate in the floor tiling marks the spot where the body of President McKinley laid in state. The care of the building is vested in a board of control, consisting of 6 Commissioners and a Superintendent. The growth of public business and the creation of new departments have demanded more space than the hall afforded and it has been supplemented by the erection of the City Court building and by the purchase and remodelling of another building, now known as the Municipal Building.

City Clerk.—The clerk of the Common Council, who is also the City Clerk, is elected by the Common Council in January of each even numbered year. His office is on the first floor of the city hall. Present city clerk, Harold J. Balliett.

City Court Building.—Altho the City and County Hall is a large building, it could not serve for many years as the city hall of a rapidly growing city and as a court house and county office building combined in one. Accordingly in 1889 a building was erected on the opposite side of Delaware av. to house the overflow. This was used for 20 years by the Municipal Court and several city departments but in 1910 was turned over entirely to the newly organized City Court. It is a 3-story structure of brick and brown-stone, of pleasing but not pretentious architecture, and stands next to the jail on Delaware av.

Clearing House.—The Buffalo Clearing House Association was formed in April, 1889, and occupies rooms over the Marine bank. Nearly all the commercial banks and trust companies in the city are members. The clearances for the year 1909 were $467,876,993.23, which is over 56 million more than 1908. The president of the association is Elliott C. McDougal, the secretary is Edward A. Weppner and the superintendent is Edward W. Dann.

Crystal Beach is the largest of the excursion and cottage resorts near Buffalo. It is on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie, nearly opposite the city and is reached by steamers eight or ten times a day from the foot of Main st. The Lake Erie Excursion Co., which conducts this resort, built the Americana in 1908 and a twin steamer in 1910 expressly for this service. The run is about 12 miles and is made in an hour or less. Round trip fare, 25c. Can be reached also by Grand Trunk railroad to Ridgeway thence by omnibus, and a trolley line between Port Colborne and Fort Erie is to be running to the beach by July, 1910. The bathing beach is excellent and suits and bath houses can be hired at moderate prices. The amusements include dancing, bowling, roller skating, roller coasting, merry-go-round, boating, target shooting, fortune telling, etc., etc. There are two hotels and many places for the sale of eatables and drinkables. No liquor is sold on the steamers or at the beach. Small summer cottages line the shore for a mile and there are others farther from the water, on streets running back from the picnic grounds.

Delaware Park lies between Main st. and Elmwood av. in the northern part of the city. This is the chief of Buffalo's parks, containing 365 acres. The carriage drives are artistically laid out and kept in excellent condition. Bridle paths are provided for horseback riding, which is allowed also on the open stretch of greensward called the Meadow. There are golf links in the Meadow and several baseball grounds at one end. Near its center is a boulder with a tablet bearing this inscription: "To the memory of unnamed soldiers of the War of 1812, who died of camp disease and were buried here. Dedicated July 4, 1896."

In the northern end of the park, north of the Meadow, space has been set apart for a zoological collection, reached by Main-Zoo-Kenmore street cars. The Elmwood cars pass by the western end, and here are located the Albright Art Gallery and the building of the Buffalo Historical Society. In this section Scajaquada creek expands into the Park Lake, covering 46 acres. Row boats may be hired here at 25c an hour and canoes at 40c. On the shore of the lake is the Casino, a two story building. Refreshments are sold on the second floor, while the lower floor serves as the boat house. Private canoes as well as those to rent are kept here. Near the Casino is the band stand where open air concerts are given on Sunday afternoons in summer. Swans and other water fowl sail upon the lake, and squirrels scamper up and down the trees in all parts of the enclosure. Among the artistic constructions that beautify the park are several bridges, one of which has two finely sculptured stone lions at each end, a bronze statue representing David, the McMillan Memorial Fountain and a heroic bust of Mozart.

Department Stores.—The modern idea of many kinds of goods under one roof might be considered as a turn backward to the general store of the small village. But the similarity between the general store and the department store is only on the surface, while the difference between them is radical. A forward step was taken when separate stores, each devoted to a special class of goods, succeeded the general store of the village, and it is a long stride further in advance to a group of these special stores, each with its trained manager, combined in one great establishment. Buffalo has quite a number of these modern establishments, which cater most acceptably to the wants of its residents and draw much patronage from the surrounding country.

Going south on Main st. from the residential district, we come first to the store of the Wilson Co. at 563-565 Main st., above Chippewa. This is Buffalo's newest department store, opened in 1910, and has at once taken an enviable place in the list of the city's enterprises.*

Nearly opposite is Flint & Kent's, 554-562 Main st. This old establishment has a national reputation for high standards in its methods and the choice class of its merchandise. Its motive has been excellence rather than volume.*

Next we come to the Hens & Kelly Co., 478-488 Main st., corner of Mohawk, which is a popular price establishment, with a large number of departments.

In the same block is the H. A. Meldrum Co., 460-470 Main st., also with many departments and offering goods of substantial value. Its increasing trade has necessitated a large addition to the building on the Pearl st. side, open in 1910.

Nearly opposit is the Wm. Hengerer Co., 457-471 Main st., occupying a fine building erected in 1904, to which two stories were added in 1910. This store is carried on in connection with McCreery's, in New York. Its range of goods is wide and includes a large grocery and baked goods department. The Hengerer lunch room is a favorit resort for Buffalo shoppers and in the Hengerer tea room many afternoon card parties are held.

Below Court st., at 396-408 Main, is the Adam, Meldrum & Anderson Co., with a wide variety of goods and maintaining a high standard of quality. This store also is to have an addition on the Pearl st. side.*

Nearly opposit, at 383-393 Main st., is J. N. Adam & Co. where reliable goods of many kinds can be found at moderate prices. A section of this building was rebuilt so as to afford more space, in 1910.

Four blocks further down, at 256-268 Main st., is the Sweeney Co., another popular price store, where a wide variety of goods can be found.

Going out Broadway we come to Wiessman & Eiss, at Nos. 959-963, corner of Fillmore av., Siegrist & Fraley's branch store, at Nos. 1018-1028, and F. Erion & Co., 1025-1029, which meet many wants at the popular prices demanded by their patrons.

On William st, we find C. Machemer, at 209-215, and Siegrist & Fraley's main store, 508-518, which are similar to the Broadway stores in their prices and patronage.

Depew is a factory village east of Buffalo establised by the N. Y. Central R. R. Besides the locomotive works of the Central, the following companies have their factories here: American Car and Foundry Co., National Car Wheel Co., Gould Coupler Co., Empire Smelting Co., Magnus Metal Co., Railway Steel Spring Co. and Union Car Manufac- turing Co.

Reached by N. Y. Central R. R.; the northern part of the village is reached also by street cars connecting with the Genesee st. line and the southern part by cars to Lancaster.

Detectives.—The police department maintains an efficient detective force. There are also several private detective agencies which do a legitimate business, one of the most reliable being the Byrne National Detective Bureau. There are, unfortunately, some others of unsavory reputation, whose methods are semi-criminal. Any one requiring the services of private detectives had better make the selection upon the advice of a lawyer of good standing.

De Veaux College.—This is an institution at Niagara Falls, N. Y., for the free education of youth of the Protestant Episcopal Church. It was founded by means of a legacy in the will of Judge Samuel De Veaux of that city, who died in 1852. Its grounds are on the edge of the Gorge, opposit the Whirlpool.

Devil's Hole is a chasm in the wall of the Niagara Gorge 3 miles above Lewiston, where Indians massacred the drivers and escort of an ox-wagon train carrying goods around the rapids and Falls of Niagara in 1763. Two companies hurried up from the fort at Lewiston to protect the wagon train and were also butchered. At the foot of the cliff down which the bodies of the victims were thrown, near the tracks of the Niagara Gorge R. R., a tablet commemorating the event was placed in 1902. High up in the wall of the chasm is a cave that gives it its name. The tablet bears this inscription: "At the top of the cliff above this spot, September 14, 1763, occurred the Devil’s Hole Massacre, where 500 Seneca Indians, ambushed a British supply train, massacred its escort and hurled bodies and wagons into the chasm below, only three, John Steadman, William Matthews and one other escaping.

Erected by Niagara Gorge Railroad Co. and presented to Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, 1902."

The superintendent’s office is on the second floor, at the south end of the building. This is the newest of the great power plants at the Falls, and like its two near neighbors, it has foundations laid for nearly doubling its size.

Elevators.—The great number of these mammoth barn-like structures that tower above the other buildings along the water front testifies to the immense volume of grain and flax-seed that passes thru Buffalo. There are 28 elevators in the city, having a total storage capacity in 24,600,000 bushels, and the buildings with their machinery cost about $13,000,000. It has a handsome square Florentine tower, rising to the hight of 244 feet, which may be distinguished at a distance from other towers by the gargoyles projecting from the corners, below the highest tier of windows. A room near the top of the tower from which a wide view can be had, is reached by a flight of 119 steps.

The entire first floor is occupied by the Post Office and is finisht in marble and mahogany. The upper floors are finisht in glazed tile and quartered oak and surround a large light-court. The second floor is occupied by the Post Office Inspector the Inspector of railway mail service and Inspectors of vessels and boilers and there is a large examination room for the U. S. Civil Service examiners on this floor.

A large part of the third floor is occupied by the Collector of the Port and his assistants. On the same floor are the Internal Revenue office, the office of the Lighthouse Inspector and a Naval Recruiting office.

The fourth floor is mainly given over to the U. S. Circuit and District Courts and their officers, but the office of the Buffalo Pension Agent is also on this floor.

The west side of the fifth floor is devoted to the Lighthouse and Harbor service of this district. On the opposite side is a dormitory and other rooms for the accommodation of railway mail clerks. Rooms on various floors are occupied by other local officials of the government departments.

Finance, Department of.—This department consists of two divisions—the offices of the Comptroller and Treasurer, which see.

Fire Department.—This department is in charge of three commissioners appointed by the mayor for terms of six years. Not more than two commissioners may belong to the same political party. Its headquarters are at Court and Staat sts., west of Niagara sq. The fire brigade consists of a chief, assistant chief, 7 battalion chiefs, the assistant chief also commanding a battalion, 49 captains, 49 lieutenants, 37 engineers, 421 firemen, 6 pilots and 7 stokers. There are also telegraf operators, mechanics, et al., making the total number of officers and men 601. The present chief is Bernard J. McConnell. The apparatus in service comprises 30 steam fire engines, 30 hose tenders, 3 fire boats, 11 ladder trucks, 6 two-tank chemical engines, 2 water towers, 4 combination hose and chemical wagons and 1 hose tender for fire boats. There are 673 signal boxes for sending alarms. The number of alarms in recent years has been from 1300 to 1600 a year. The expenses of the department are about $800,000 a year. In addition to the fire hydrants connected with the street water mains, there are special hydrants connected with 12 inch pipe lines in certain streets. One pipe line runs from the Buffalo river up Washington st. to Huron to Main. Another branches from this and runs thru Exchange st. to the Terrace, to Pearl st. and up Pearl to Genesee. A short branch runs from Washington st. thru Carroll to Michigan. A connecting line starts from the river at the Clark and Skinner canal, runs thru Liberty and Ohio sts. to Washington. The fire boats force water thru these pipe lines whenever needed. There is a relief and pension fund for firemen now amounting to about $140,000.

The following is a list of the fire companies with the location of their stations:

Fitch Creche, 159 E. Swan st., is a day home and kindergarten for small children whose mothers have to go out to work. A fee of 5c. a day is charged for one child, or 10c. for a family of children. In connection with the Creche there is carried on a training school for nursery maids, which not only prepares young girls to be competent wage earners, but also secures trained care for the children in the Creche. A course of sewing lessons is given to the maids, and courses of lectures on the care and feeding of children, on the various branches of housework and on kindergarten methods. Visitors are welcomed at the Creche between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., any day but Saturday. It is under the management of the Charity Organization Society.

Fitch Institute is a building at 165 E. Swan st. erected in 1893 for the work of the Charity Organization Society, with funds donated by Benjamin Fitch. A tuberculosis dispensary is carried on here, open daily from 10 a.m. to 12 m. The District Nurses Association details a nurse to attend it and to visit patients in their homes.

Flint and Kent's.—This dry goods establishment, shown in the accompanying illustration, is unique in the character of its business and the peculiar attachment felt for it by its large and well-to-do clientage. It stands for the best in merchandise and methods, and its statements are never questioned. It has always strictly adhered to its purpose of selling only merchandise of genuine worth. Articles purchased of Flint & Kent for wear or use may therefore be considered investments and may be depended on to give the best possible return in service and satisfaction.

In their ample stocks are to be seen the best representations of European and American manufacturers, and many fabrics and designs not to be obtained elsewhere in Western New York. With these advantages are coupled fair prices, capable of intelligent comparisons to their advantage.

Silks, woolen dress stuffs, trimmings in the leading fashions reflecting the best Parisian ideas, all dress accessories, as laces, neckwear, gloves, hosiery and footwear consistently supplement each other in completing the fashionable outfit.

Women's suits, coats, gowns, costumes and waists are the products of the best designers and are unsurpassed in beauty of modeling and finish.

Misses' and children's wear receive equally critical attention; the Boys' section showing garments of superior excellence in materials and fashioning, and chiefly made up expressly for their critical trade.

Their upholstery, drapery and rug sections afford a wealth of suggestions for beautifying the home, in the rare stuffs for coverings, drapery, curtains, etc., the problem of tasteful but simple furnishings being easily and pleasantly solved, by consultation with their trained decorators, while the opportunity for luxurious embellishment of houses is adequately met.

Enough has been mentioned to justify a visit to this interesting store, where almost all personal requirements may be advantageously supplied.

Flouring Mills.—More than a dozen companies are operating flouring mills in Buffalo, the names and locations of which may be obtained from the city directory. The total quantity of flour made in the city mills in 1908 was 2,567,232 barrels, and 436,078 barrels more was made in the near vicinity.

Forest Lawn.—The largest and most beautiful of Buffalo's cemeteries is Forest Lawn, with an area of about 273 acres, which adjoins Delaware Park and extends from Main st. westward to Delaware av. The gateway is at Main st. and Delavan av. and there is another entrance at Delaware and Delavan avs. Reached by Main st., Kenmore or Forest av: street cars. The same creek that forms the water prospect in the park winds thru the grounds of Forest Lawn, which are undulating and have been so treated that they have become a splendid example of landscape architecture. Near the Main st. gate is a large section for soldiers and sailors of the Civil War, with an appropriate monument. A short distance within the grounds is a chapel, with which are connected a receiving vault and a conservatory.

Near the Delaware av entrance is a handsome monument to Red Jacket, the famous Seneca Indian chief, consisting of a bronze statue on a high granite pedestal, and stones in honor of several of his associates stand near its foot. The whole memorial was erected by the Buffalo Historical Society. Not far away is the Blocher monument, consisting of a chamber of Quincy granite with plate glass windows, within which a family scene is depicted in white marble. The figures and accessories were sculptured in Italy. Other notable memorials are the Bliss obelisk, 151 feet high, the Dimick monument, the Farmer’s Brother monument and the monument to the Volunteer Firemen.

When the old cemetery where the city hall now stands was abandoned in 1852, there were 1,158 bodies removed from its enclosure to Forest Lawn. A monument in the latter commemorates this removal and on one face is carved the name of Farmer’s Brother in honor of the chief who led the Indian allies of the Americans in the War of 1812.

The superintendent’s office is in the western part of the grounds, north of the creek. Omnibuses, dogs, children without their guardians and persons with refreshments or firearms are not admitted to the cemetery. The name of the association that manages Forest Lawn is The Buffalo City Cemetery; the president of its trustees is E. H. Hutchinson and the secretary is E. P. Fish.

Fort Erie—This village is on the Canadian shore, just at the head of the Niagara river. It is reached by ferry from W. Ferry st., half-hourly, fare 5 cents; also by Grand Trunk railroad from the Central depot, to Amagari station. It is the home of many persons having business or employment in Buffalo.

Fort Erie Beach is a summer resort and picnic ground, 3 miles from the ferry and reached by train. Fare, 10 cents; round trip from Buffalo, 20 cents. It is situated in a grove of oaks and poplars, and has the usual attractions for excursionists, including a bathing beach. A special feature is the rustic theater, open free to all visitors, at which entertainments are given every afternoon and evening, during the season. There is also an athletic field, for base ball and other games. The Erie Beach Hotel is pleasantly situated at the extreme western end of the grove. Beyond this is a row of tasteful cottages owned by members of the Erie Beach Association. Smaller cottages and tents occupy lots east of the grove.

Between the beach and the ferry landing are the ruins of the fort that gave its name to the village. Passengers wishing to stop at Old Fort, or any other way station must notify the conductor. The fort is included in the park system maintained by the Canadian government, and a guide is on duty to show visitors about. Fort Erie was a British frontier post in the War of 1812. It was captured by an American force under Gen. Winfield Scott, July 3, 1814, and held for the remaining six months of the war, in spite of

On the point where the river meets the lake, is the "old French fort," built in colonial times. It is an extensive earthwork, which has been protected by brick and stone masonry since it came into possession of the United States. An expedition under La Salle built a block house of logs on this site in 1679. Within the enclosure is the Castle, a large stone building, the first story of which was built by the French in 1725. There is also a magazine and a barracks, erected before the French and Indian War. The fort was captured by the British and colonials July 24, 1759, and two block houses and a smaller building were added in the next 15 years. All these structures are of stone. During the Revolution all the marauding expeditions that carrid death and destruction to many colonial settlements in western New York and Pennsylvania started from Fort Niagara. In December, 1813, it was captured by a British expedition that crost the river from Canada by night. In 1826, William Morgan, of Batavia, was brought here and kept for a few days in the French magazine before his final disappearance, which led to the famous anti-Masonic agitation.

At the water's edge, near the old fort is a U. S. Life Saving station.

Fort Porter is a U. S. army post occupying a reservation of 28\(\frac{1}{2}\) acres on Porter, Front and Massachusetts avs., overlooking the foot of the Lake. The location is on a bluff, 60 feet above the water. The land in the reservation was acquired from the State of New York and private parties in the years 1840 to 1844. Old Fort Porter was an earthwork within which was a stone block house, and its construction extended thru the years 1843 to 1850. The block-house was destroyed by fire, Nov. 25, 1863, and the earthwork has since been razed. A depression in the parade ground on the line of Rhode Island st., indicates the site of the block house. The fort was named in honor of Gen. Peter B. Porter, who served in the War of 1812, and was Secretary of War in 1828.

During the Civil War this post was used as a camp for collecting and instructing volunteers. In 1870 and later years the Park Board of Buffalo has made improvements about the reservation according to plans approved by the Secretary of War. These plans made necessary the removal of the post cemetery, which was transferred to Forest Lawn in 1882.

The commandant occupies a stone dwelling called The Castle, built in 1837 by Col. James McKay, and here his son, Steele Mackaye the actor, was born. The quarters of the other officers are of brick and frame, and there are brick buildings for the barracks and the hospital.

The usual garrison is 4 companies of infantry. On the large parade ground is a boulder bearing a tablet with this inscription:

"To commemorate the gallantry of the officers and enlisted men of the Thirteenth Regiment, U. S. Infantry, in the campaign against Santiago de Cuba. First at San Juan Hill, July 1st, 1898, as they were first at Vicksburg in 1863. Erected by the citizens of Buffalo, 1899."

Fort Tompkins.—The largest of 7 batteries erected along the Niagara river between Buffalo and Black Rock in the War of 1812. It stood on the edge of the bluff, near Niagara and School sts., and is commemorated by a tablet on the front of a power station of the International Railway, bearing this inscription:

"The site of Fort Tompkins, also known as Fort Adams, the largest and most important fortification on the American shore in or near Buffalo, during the War of 1812.

Erected by the International Railway Company and presented to the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, 1903."

Fredonia is an important village adjoining Dunkirk on the south and about 44 miles southwest from Buffalo. Reached by railroad connecting with the Lake Shore at Dunkirk, also by Buffalo & Lake Erie electric cars; fare 90c., round trip $1.65. Population in 1900, 4,127. One of the finest normal schools in the State is located there, and the place has long been famous as the home of many men who have made their mark in the history of Western New York. It has an opera house, flouring mills, canning factories, and manufactories of carriages, patent medicines, felt goods, wines, grape juice, etc.

Fresh Air Mission.—This beautiful charity takes poor children from the city for a two weeks' stay at Cradle Beach, the summer camp of the Mission. The beach is at Angola on the lake shore, where the Mission has facilities to care for 250 children at a time. Besides the quarters for well children, St. Margaret's Cottage provides for a limited number of convalescent or crippled children. About 900 in all are given a fortnight at the Beach each summer.

The Front.—This simple old name, handed down from village days, designates the most picturesquely located of all Buffalo's parks. Situated where lake and river meet, it affords a most delightful water view and is swept by the cooling breezes from the inland sea that stretches far to the westward. It lies between Front av. and the water front, on both sides of Porter av., and the Erie canal passes thru it. Reached by Niagara or Connecticut st. cars or by the Belt Line to Porter av. station. There is a band-stand in this park, also a convenient shelter house and lavatory. Altho the Front contains only 48 acres, its extent is practically increast by the 28 acres of the adjoining Fort Porter reservation.

Frontier Telephone System.—One of the most interesting sights in the city of Buffalo is the immense switchboard of the Federal Telephone & Telegraph Company located at the office of their Frontier System, 332 Ellicott st. Equipt with an ultimate capacity sufficient to give telephone service to over 30,000 subscribers, it is now supplying over 17,000 subscribers in the city of Buffalo. In the operation of this switchboard about 115 girls are employd as operators and from 165,000 to 185,000 telephone connections are made each day, which means over 50,000,000 telephone calls in each twelve months. The operators on a board of this size become experts in the matter of handling these calls, and it is wonderful to see the rapidity with which they work.

The switchboard is, in itself, a wonderful piece of mechanical development. There are 54,000,000 feet or 10,227 miles of wire in this board. This is over three times the distance from New York to San Francisco. There are also 1,260,000 soldered connections, 192,790 jacks, 10,584 electric lamps and 1,394,000 separate interchangeable parts to the board. In order to give the prefect service which is given by the Frontier System, it is important that these parts be inspected with great care each twenty-four hours. This work is done at night after 12 o’clock, and each morning at 7 o’clock, this mammoth switchboard is in as good physical condition as it was the day before.

In serving the subscribers about the city of Buffalo, 269,925,712 feet or 51,122 miles of wire is used, which is more than enough to twice en-circle the earth.

This company in about seven years of operation has accomplish a most wonderful growth, entirely fulfilling its mission of furnishing a successful telephone competition without which Buffalo could not boast of so efficient a telephone service at moderate rates, to over 37,000 people.

Wherever you see the Telephone Shield, remember it is the emblem of good service and competition.

Garages.—Owing to the large number of motor cars owned in Buffalo, and to the fact that many tourists make this city a stopping place, extensive garage accommodations are demanded and supplied. A complete list of the garages in the city would require more space than can be spared in this book, but at one of the following the visitor or new resident can be sure of room and good care for his car, also competent repairing, if required.

Gas Supply.—Residents of Buffalo can be supplied with both artificial and natural gas. The Buffalo Gas Co., 186-8 Main st., supplies artificial gas at the rate of $1 net per 1000 feet. The Buffalo Natural Gas Fuel Co., 257 Washington st., supplies natural gas from wells in western New York and Pennsylvania at 30c. net per 1000 feet.

German Martin Luther Theological Seminary, 154 Maple st. This is a seminary for the training of ministers carried on under the direction of the Lutheran Synod of Buffalo.

Grand Army of the Republic.—There are 5 G. A. R. posts in Buffalo and several women's auxiliary societies, all using meeting rooms supplied by the city in the Convention Hall building, except one post which meets at 246 Sycamore st. The Grand Army Bureau of Relief, which disburses funds supplied by the city under a State law, has its office at 15 1-2 W. Seneca st.

Grand Island is a farming town comprising the island of the same name, which divides the Niagara river into two channels a short distance north of Buffalo, with a few adjacent islets. The island is about 8 miles long and its greatest width is about 6 miles, from which it narrows to a point at each end. It is reached by three ferries from the Tonawandas. One runs from a point about three-quarters of a mile north of the Buffalo city line to the Bedell House; a street car connecting with the Niagara-O’Neill st. line runs to the landing. The Whitehaven ferry runs from a landing in the city of Tonawanda, and the Edgewater ferry from Edgewater Landing in North Tonawanda, below the lumber district. The Edgewater ferry carries passengers only; the other two take vehicles as well. Fare by Whitehaven or Edgewater boat, 10c., round trip 15c. In summer a steamer runs from W. Ferry st., Buffalo, to the Bedell House near the southern end of the island, on the east shore. On the west shore and also near the southern end are the houses of the Island Club and Oakwood Club, which are private family hotels. About half way down the east shore is Electric Beach and three miles beyond is Edgewater.

In 1825, Mordecai M. Noah, a New York editor, formed the plan of founding on Grand Island a city of refuge for the Jews of the world, to be called Ararat. He secured the interest of a man of means, who purchased 2555 acres of land for the purpose, and he laid a corner stone for the city, but the idea went no further. The stone has found a place in the collection of the Buffalo Historical Society, and an account of the undertaking was published in the first volume of the Society’s Publications.

Gratwick is a station on the N. Y. Central Railroad in North Tonawanda, near some of the large lumber yards. Reached also by Tonawanda electric cars.

Grosvenor Library.—Seth Grosvenor, the founder of this library was a merchant here in the early days of Buffalo, who later moved to New York City. On his death in 1857, he left $40,000 to the city of Buffalo for a library. This sum was divided, $10,000 being set apart as the nucleus of a building fund and $30,000 was held as a permanent book fund, the income only being used for the purchase of books. The library was opened in 1870, in rented quarters at Washington and Broadway. The city later added $10,000 to the building fund; a lot was purchased at the corner of Franklin and Edward sts and in 1895 the present building was erected at a total cost of $100,000. The structure is of brick and its design includes a large round tower rising from the ground. The fittings of the main reading room are handsome and most of the books in this room are arranged in wall cases with glass doors. The library contains a very complete and useful collection of books on local and family history, an excellent assortment on architecture, decoration and the fine arts, a very full representation on general history, biography, medicine and American poetry, a complete set of the American and Canadian patent records and all the more important general reference books and sets of periodicals. The total number is now about 85,000 volumes and 10,000 pamphlets. There are special reading rooms on the balcony floor for theological and philosophical books, for sociology and education and for genealogy and local history, where the books are on open shelves. Similar rooms have been provided in the basement for the medical books and the patent office reports. The library is open week days from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m., Sunday from 2 to 6 p. m. and holidays from 2 to 10 p. m. During July and August it is not open Sundays and closes other days at 6 p. m. The Grosvenor library is entirely free to the public and no registration or other formality is required of those who wish to use the books. It is a reference library only, no books being circulated, and is in charge of three trustees, Edward H. Butler, Dr. William Gaertner and John H. Lascelles. The librarian is Edward P. Van Duzee.

Hamburg is a town on the shore of L. Erie south of Buffalo. Population in 1900, 4,673. It is reached by the Erie railroad, distance 14 miles, or the Buffalo & Susquehanna railroad, distance 19 miles; fare, 30c., round trip, 55c. Also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars, fare 20c., round trip 35c., and by Hamburg and Orchard Park line. It contains the villages of Hamburg and Blasdell, in the former of which the agricultural fair of Erie county is held in September of each year.

Hamburg Turnpike is a road along the lake shore running from the Buffalo river at Louisiana st. southward thru Lackawanna to the town of Hamburg. Owing to differences between the city and the railroads the part of this road within the city limits was almost completely disused for many years but in 1909 it was rebuilt and tracks for electric cars were laid upon it.

Harbor Master.—This officer is appointed by the mayor for a term of two years. He has the authority to direct the location of every craft on the navigable waters under the control of the city and to remove any that obstruct navigation, and generally to enforce the ordinances relating to such waters. He also sells the right to cut ice on the waters of the harbor, where this is practicable.

Hat Stores, see More’s Hatterie and Furriere.

Health Department.—This department is administered by a commissioner appointed by the mayor, for a term of 5 years. He must be a physician of 5 years standing when appointed, and must devote all his time to the duties of his office. There is also a Board of Health, consisting of the mayor, the commissioner of public works, and the commissioner of health, which has power, in case of an impending epidemic or the prevalence of rabies, to take such action as in its judgment may be necessary to protect the health of the city. The offices of the department are on the 2d and 3d floors of the Municipal Building.

The work of the department is divided among the following bureaus: The bureau of vital statistics keeps a register of the births and deaths occurring in the city, and issues permits for the burial, incineration and removal of bodies. It also has charge of the medical examination and vaccination of school children and issues permits for children over 14 years of age to work in mercantile and manufacturing establishments. It placards premises where there are cases of contagious disease and disinfects the premises after the recovery or removal of the patients.

The bacteriological bureau makes tests of milk and city water, and makes examinations to determan the presence of diphtheria, typhoid fever and tuberculosis, and of rabies in dogs.

The bureau of food and drugs inspects slaughter houses, rendering plants, markets, bakeries and confectioneries, also examines milk, meat and vegetables offered for sale and animals intended for food.

The bureau of plumbing keeps a register of plumbers, issues permits for installing the drainage and plumbing of all buildings, files drawings and descriptions of the same, and inspects the work to see that it is done in accordance with the specifications that it has approved.

The sanitary bureau issues permits for the erection of tenement houses, livery stables and slaughter houses, after examining the plans and seeing that they conform to the city ordinances. It inspects tenements from time to time, determines when any business or practice is detrimental to public health and when the presence of stagnant water or filth in grounds or buildings amounts to a nuisance, and has charge of the abatement of such nuisances at the cost of the owners of the property. The parties responsible for such conditions must be notified and heard before action is taken. This bureau also issues permits to keep cows and hogs in certain parts of the city, under specified restrictions.

The municipal hospital bureau has charge of the city quarantine and contagious disease hospitals, and supervision of the patients treated at the cost of the city in other hospitals.

The tuberculosis bureau administers the new law regarding the prevention of tuberculosis.

The department maintains a chemical laboratory in charge of the city chemist, who makes analyses of asphalt, gas, foods, milk and the city water.

The city is divided into 8 districts, and a city physician is appointed by the health commissioner for each district. These physicians treat indigent sick persons when required by the overseer of the poor and also report to the health department any nuisances or violations of the health ordinances that come to their attention.

The department is at present in charge of Health Commissioner Francis E. Fronczac, M.D.

Historic Sites.—History began to be made along the Niagara river, by Europeans, when LaSalle headed his expedition in 1679 to establish a commercial route from L. Ontario to the upper lakes. He built a block house at the mouth of the Niagara river and built and launched a trading vessel near where the village of La Salle is now. The French and Indian wars made several spots in this region memorable, among them being Fort Niagara and the Devil's Hole. The contest of the Revolution was carried on close to the Atlantic sea coast and along the large rivers, no battles being fought in this immediate vicinity. After that the banks of the Niagara river became the frontiers of two nations, and during the War of 1812 many places on both sides of the river became famous. The important ones are described in this Guide in the articles on Black Rock, Brock's Monument, Chippawa, Fort Erie and other forts, Lewiston, Lundy's Lane and Youngstown.

Owing to the fact that the first settlement at Buffalo was not made till after the Revolution, and that the young village was burned in the War of 1812, the city has no very old buildings. The oldest remaining is the house at 2485 Main st., near the Belt line crossing, which was standing before the raid but was too far out to share in the destruction of the village. Of much historic interest is the dwelling of Judge Samuel Wilkeson, built in 1824. It is a wooden building of ample proportions, with a row of large pillars across the front, and stands on the west side of Niagara sq. Part of the Castle Inn, on the corner of Delaware av., built by James Hollister in 1852, is notable for having been the last residence of President Millard Fillmore. The house of Dr. Ebenezer Johnson, first mayor of Buffalo, known as the Johnson "cottage," is also of historic interest. It is a stone building with an eight-sided cupola, fronting on Delaware av. at Johnson Park. Where the Erie County Savings Bank now stands is the site on which the old First Presbyterian Church stood for many years. At the northwest corner of Main and Seneca sts., where the Fidelity building is now, was formerly a yellow 3-story brick block, on the second floor of which was the modest law office of Grover Cleveland. Three successive post office buildings are now standing in Buffalo. Before the present Federal Building was erected, the post office was in the building on the northeast corner of Washington and Seneca st., now used for the Appraiser's Stores, while on the northwest corner is a small two-story structure which was the post office before that.

The residence of John C. Glenney on Amherst st., which formerly stood near the northeast corner of Main and High st., was built in 1823 or 1824. It was begun by Joseph Ellicot, but after his removal to Batavia was purchased and completed by Col. Guy H. Goodrich. It was removed to its present site by Mr. Glenney in 1890.

The boulders bearing tablets in Delaware Park and Fort Porter should be mentioned here and still other historic spots are named in the article on Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, a society that is doing valuable work in commemorating the past.

Holy Cross Cemetery.—The largest of the Catholic Cemeteries in Buffalo and vicinity. It lies on the Ridge Road, in Lackawanna, and is reached by Abbott rd., Jefferson st. or Hamburg cars or by Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroad to W. Seneca station.

Hospitals.—Buffalo is well supplied with institutions for the care of the sick, some of which are conducted by boards of trustees while others are owned and conducted by physicians. In addition to patients who pay for their own care, most of the hospitals receive poor patients whose care is paid for by the city or some society. Those having facilities for cases of contagious diseases are the Contagious Diseases Hospital, the Erie County and the Children’s, the last named taking cases of contagious children’s diseases. The following is a list of the hospitals in the city, with a brief description of each:

BUFFALO GENERAL HOSPITAL, High, Elm and Goodrich sts. Founded in 1855; has 300 beds; for all diseases except contagious. Charges for patients are $8 a week in the wards and $2 to $5 a day in private or semi-private rooms. The main building has a sun room and a roof garden. There is also a building for isolating contagious diseases that develop on the premises. The Harrington hospital for children and maternity cases, one of the buildings recently erected, is of superior construction in every way. It stands on Goodrich st., opposite the other buildings. The total expenses of the General Hospital are over $100,000 a year, of which about $20,000 is met by the income of invested funds. It has a school of nursing, opened in 1876, with a 3 years course. The administration building is the center of a curved chain of stone and brick ward buildings connected by corridors, more than half a mile in total length. This group may be recognized from a distance by the two great square towers with bright red tiled roofs, rising above the main building. There are usually over 1,900 patients. Humboldt Park.—This is the principal park on the east side of the city, having an area of 56 acres, and lying between Northampton and Best sts., on the line of Fillmore av.
Reached by Fillmore av., Best or Genesee st. cars, or Belt Line to Genesee st. station. Among its attractions are a pool in which a large fountain plays, another containing a fine collection of water lilies and other aquatic plants, and still another provided for children to wade in. The wading pond is 500 feet across; it has a sandy bottom and the depth increases gradually from the edge to 30 inches in the middle.
This park has a shelter house, there is also a band stand where concerts are given in summer, and the grounds are brightly lighted evenings by electricity. Propagating houses to supply plants for the various parks and public squares are located in Humboldt Park.

Buffalo enjoys the unusual distinction of having two Huyler stores, at 350 Main st. and at 566 Main st. Few cities outside of New York are so favor-d, and it proves how highly Buffalonians esteem the unequald Huyler’s Candy. The first Huyler store was open in 1884 at the present down town location, 350 Main st., and at once leapt into popularity.

One of the most distinctive features of Buffalo’s social life is the Huyler Candy and Huyler dinner favors—most of our social leaders would deem any social function lacking in its correct entertainment unless Huyler’s confections were served in some form.

The Huyler stores in Buffalo are handsomely finisht, the uptown store, especially being noticeably elegant in its beautiful embellishments of mahogany and marble and artistic color scheme. The store service and management is thoroly alert and always studying how to best serve its patrons and fully merit its rapidly increasing business.

Huyler’s is ownd, controld, operated and managed by the same interests today as during the past thirty years. Purity, quality, flavor and workmanship watched more carefully than ever. Huyler’s is in no way interested in any other confectionery establishments.

Hydraulics, The.—A section of Buffalo in the neighborhood of the old Hydraulic Canal, which formerly extended from the eastern end of the Hamburg Canal to the line of the present Hydraulic st.
Indians.—Visitors from more eastern cities always notice the Indian men and women who are seen passing along the streets in Buffalo or standing at favorable points to sell wild flowers, and berries, sassafras bark, etc. They are descendants of the red men of the Seneca and other tribes of the Iroquois group, who formerly had western New York as their hunting grounds, and they live on the Cattaraugas Reservation, about 30 miles southwest of the city.

The most famous Indian of this vicinity was Sagoyewatha, which means One who keeps awake, called Red Jacket by the English, who died 20 Jan., 1830. His remains and those of chiefs Cornplanter, Tall Chief, Tom Pollard and Two Guns were removed from the Indian cemetery in South Buffalo to Forest Lawn, where a monument to their memory was erected.

On the Buffalo river, some three or four miles from its mouth, Seneca Indian villages were established during the Revolutionary war, refugees settling there in 1779-80, after Sullivan’s raid had destroyed their old homes in the Genesee Valley. In this neighborhood was built a council house in which treaties of national importance were made. Its exact location is not now known. A mission to the Seneca Indians here was established early in the last century. North of Cazenovia Park is the site of the mission church built in 1826, also the Indian cemetery where Red Jacket and other chiefs were buried before their removal to Forest Lawn. Indian Church st. now runs thru the old churchyard. The cemetery ground on Buffum st. was given to the city in 1909 by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Larkin as an addition to the park system. The Seneca mission house, built prior to 1831, is still standing, opposit the cemetery, and is in good preservation. Here dwelt the Rev. Asher Wright and his wife, and in this house educational and religious books and a newspaper were printed in the Seneca tongue.

Instruction, Department of Public.
—All matters of public education in Buffalo, except the examination of teachers and inspection of schools, are in charge of a Superintendent of Education, elected by the people for a term of 4 years. His office is on the 2nd floor of the Municipal Building. He is assisted in the work of administration by four supervisors, one each for the grammar grades, primary grades, kindergartens and German. The instruction in some special studies is supervised by directors. These are music, penmanship, drawing, manual training, sewing, domestic science and physical culture. The superintendent appoints the teachers from eligible lists furnished by the School Examiners, appoints the supervisors and directors, his secretary and office assistants and employs the janitors or engineers of school buildings. Henry P. Emerson has been superintendent since 1893.

In the school year 1907-08, the registration of pupils in the public day schools was 62,157, in the night schools, 5,918. There were 1,473 teachers in the day schools. The expenditures made by the superintendent were $1,282,388.25 and by the department of public works for buildings, furniture, fuel, etc., $426,306.24. In the same year, 74 private and parochial schools reported a registration of 24,282 pupils. Truants are lookt after by 8 attendance officers.

Free text books have been supplied since 1893 in the day schools and since 1898 in the night schools. Only books for English literature and for reading in foreign languages are bought by the pupils.

The teachers have a retirement fund maintained by a small assessment on their salaries. Nearly $40,000 was added to it by a teachers bazar held in 1902. Pensions to the amount of about $12,000 a year are being paid to retired teachers from this fund. (See School Examiners and Schools, Public).

Iroquois Hotel. — This widely famed house, standing at the corner of Main and Eagle sts., in reputation and in prominence of location is easily the equal of what the Fifth Avenue in New York was in its palmiest days, but unlike that famous hostelry it is still with us and its appointments, already luxurious, are to be still further improved. In its spacious office rotunda may be seen, coming and going or chatting in groups, guests from all parts of the United States, and often distinguished visitors from foreign lands. On the ground floor also are the main dining room, the main parlor or ladies' lobby, with superb furnishings in delightful harmonies, the ladies' restaurant with decorations in old rose and gold, the palm garden, where a string orchestra, in the loggia, discourses soft music during the evening hours, and the men's cafe with its massive inlaid mahogany woodwork and fittings. The writing room, barber shop and other minor rooms are fitted up most tastefully. On the second floor is a spacious lobby decorated in white and pale tints and luxuriously furnish. On one side of this lobby is a parlor, splendid in gold and old rose, and on the other is a restaurant seating 350, decorated in a Venetian effect with tints all selected from the orange tree and its fruit and foliage. On this floor also is a banquet hall in the style of Francois I, and several beautifully decorated and furnish private dining rooms. The 400 bedrooms on the other eight floors are furnish in tasteful luxury. Every one has a telephone and many have private baths. From the roof a splendid view can be had over the busy city, and across the foot of L. Erie and the Niagara river to the plains of Canada beyond. Within two or three blocks from its doors are the principal banks, the city hall, the court rooms, the Federal building, and large office buildings, in which the most important business matters that bring visitors to the city are transacted.

Iroquois Rubber Company.—In the center of the down-town district, at 379 to 383 Washington st., stands the large 5-story building occupied by the above-named company. Its location is within half a block of Jail.—This is a county institution and stands at Delaware av. and Church st. It is 4 stories high, of whitestone, and was built in 1877. An extension was added to the south end in 1908. It has cells for 200 inmates. A tunnel under the avenue is used for conducting prisoners to and from the court rooms in the City and County Hall opposit.

Jamestown.—This is the most important city in Chautauqua county. It is on the Erie railroad, at the foot of Chautauqua lake, 70 miles southwest of Buffalo. Fare $1.75, round trip $3.45. Reached also from Westfield by Jamestown railroad. It has a population of over 25,000 and its factories produce furniture, woolen goods, plush, shoes, boilers, engines and hardware. There are 22 churches and chapels, 3 daily newspapers and 3 libraries. It is in an agricultural region and has long been a popular summer resort.

Jewish Churches.—On Delaware av. below North st. stands a wide, substantial stone building, with a large central dome and two domed towers at the front corners. This is Temple Beth Zion, the chief Jewish synagogue in the city. It was built in 1890, of Medina sandstone, and is in the Byzantine style, with some Romanesque features. Services are held at 10.30 a. m. on the Jewish Sabbath (Saturday), and at 7.30 p. m. on Friday, which devout people of any faith are welcome to attend. There is also a children’s service on Sunday at 10 a. m in the Assembly Room of the Temple. The rabbi is the Rev. Israel Aaron, D. D.

A complete list of the Jewish Churches in Buffalo follows:

AHAVAS-SHOLEM, 407 Jefferson st.
Lackawanna.—Part of the town of West Seneca, on the lake shore and adjoining Buffalo on the south, became in July, 1909, the City of Lackawanna, with a population of 11,370. It includes the plant of the Lackawanna Steel Co. and considerable railroad property. It is reached by street cars of the Abbott-South Park or Jefferson-South Park lines and by the Buffalo & L. Erie line. The West Seneca stations on the Lake Shore and Pennsylvania railroads are on the east side of the city. The office of the mayor and some of the other city officers is on the Ridge rd. near South Park av.

Lackawanna Steel Plant.—By far the largest manufacturing plant in the Buffalo district is the works of the Lackawanna Steel Company, commonly called "the Steel Plant." It occupies a tract of about 1,500 acres in the city of Lackawanna, extending from the southern city line of Buffalo along the lake shore for more than 3 miles, with an average width of over half a mile. In this plant there are blast furnaces, a Bessemer steel works, a foundry, standard rail mill, open hearth works, blooming, slabbing, plate, structural, sheet piling, light rail, merchant bar, sheet bar, and billet mills. Besides these various manufacturers, there are two large villages on the tract owned by the Steel Company. A canal 4,000 feet long extends into the tract, where large freight steamers discharge their cargoes of coal and ore and take on shipments of the products of the mills. Railroad shipments to and from the steel plant are handled by the South Buffalo Railway, which the Steel Company owns. This road has 57 miles of track and connects with Kenilworth Park is a race track just outside the city limits on the north. During race meets, Main st. cars run to the park. It was disused during the season of 1909.

Kenmore is a residential village adjoining Buffalo on the north, and having about 1,000 population. It lies on both sides of Delaware av., extending from Belmont st. westward to the Military rd. Its residents take much pride in making their suburb the most up-to-date and well kept village in Western New York. Kenmore has water and gas supplies, sewers and more paved streets and sidewalks than any village of its size in the State. Well trimmed lawns and shade trees line the streets and add greatly to their beauty. All departments of the local government are well administered, and a progressive spirit is everywhere in evidence. Kenmore has a postoffice, 3 churches, 3 volunteer fire companies, a fine high school, and is erecting a new high school building at a cost of about $50,000. The Kenmore Gymnasium, which cost over $15,000, has a hall that will seat 1,000 persons, a full equipment of apparatus and a large swimming pool. Reached by Kenmore or Tonawanda street cars.
all trunk lines running into Buffalo. There are also 10 miles of narrow gauge track and 32 narrow gauge locomotives operated within the works between the various mills. The power of the plant, both steam and electric, amounts to a grand total of 145,833 horsepower. The average number of men employed at this plant is 6,000.

Superior district. Its general offices are in New York city, and it has district sales offices in 10 leading states and in Montreal and London. Lafayette Hotel.—This elegant house is located at Washington and dent, and is managed by C. R. Eldridge.

The spacious lobby, measuring 72 by 84 feet, is finished in Numidian marble and mahogany, and the furniture of soft red leather harmonizes with the prevailing color of the room. The outer restaurant, fronting Washington st., is an artistic blending of brown and green, relieved by decorations of gold. The tea room is a marvel of daintiness and good taste; the predominant tones used in its decoration are cafe au lait and willow green. The carriage entrance, from Washington st., leads to the women's reception room, which is cheerful, spacious, well lighted and well ventilated. All the other public rooms are in like manner decorated and furnished with beauty and good taste, while the bedrooms are models of comfort and convenience.

Lafayette Square is a small park occupying a block of the most valuable land in the heart of Buffalo, measuring 200 by 160 feet. It is bounded by Broadway, Washington, Clinton and Main sts., and is overlooked by some of the finest buildings in the city. It is laid out in grass plots separated by broad stone walks radiating from a circle in the center, in which stands the Soldiers and Sailors Monument. On the grass plots stand 8 cannon, of the type used in the civil war. Benches are provided for those who wish to rest in the park.

It contains the incorporated village of Lancaster and about half of Depew. It has good public schools, a high school, 6 churches, 2 newspapers, a bank, 4 fire companies, a fire alarm system, water and sewerage systems and electric light and power.

Palmer & Son, the factories of the American Malleables Co. and the Lancaster Machine and Knife Co., two glass factories, two brick yards, a tile and hollow-ware factory, a steam laundry, planing mill, bottling works, and 4 cigar factories. Lake Como, a fine body of water, lies within the township. The population is about 4,800.

Larkin Company.—This great mercantile establishment is one of the few that take the time and trouble to show visitors thru their workrooms and warehouses. The main business of the company is the manufacture and sale of household and oilet soaps, but to these articles have been added toilet and pharmacal preparations, pure food specialties, paints, notions, and sundries, until it is now selling over 300 products. Its plant is on both sides of Seneca st., at Van Rensselaer st. Take a Seneca st. car and tell the conductor to stop at Larkin’s visitors’ entrance and he will do the rest. More than 0,000 persons from the United States and abroad visit this factory every year.

This company has branches and showrooms in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland, and Peoria. Both the in-coming and the out-going mail of the home office are enormous, and this one concern alone pays about one-fifteenth of the receipts of the Buffalo postoffice. The company issues a handsome folder, "The Home of the Larkin Idea," describing the establishment, also its Product price-list and its Premium list, which are given or maild to all interested. It also publishes monthly the Larkin Family Magazine. John D. Larkin, founder of the business, is president and treasurer of the company, and Darwin D. Martin is secretary.

La Salle.—A village on the New York side of the Niagara river, adjoining Niagara Falls. Reached by N. Y. Central railroad, fare 30c., also by Niagara Falls electric cars. Fare 30c., round trip 45c.

At this place the trading vessel Le Griffon was built by French explorers, and the event has been commemorated by placing a boulder with a memorial tablet upon it at about the location of the shipyard. It stands beside the road in which the electric cars run. The tablet bears the following inscription:

"Hereabout, in May, 1879, Robert Cavelier De La Salle built the Griffon of sixty tons burthen, the first vessel to sail the Upper Lakes.

"Erected by Niagara Frontier Historical Society and presented to Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, May, 1902."

The Griffon made one voyage to Mackinaw, but was lost on her return. There was a U.S. shipyard at La Salle for a short time, established in 1804.

The Lenox Hotel, on North st. at Delaware av., is situated in the most beautiful part of Buffalo. Its delightful location, standing as it does on the highest point in the city, and surrounded by green grass and trees in the summer, together with the high-class service for which the hotel has long been known, combine in making The Lenox a most desirable stopping place.

It is accessible to all parts of the city; just far enough away from the dust and noise of the business section to make it pleasant, and still within easy reach of the shopping district and the theaters. A trip from The Lenox to the theaters is made thru Delaware av., the city's handsomest street. A view of the house appears on page 98.

The Lenox changed hands on January 1st, 1910, and the new proprietor, Mr. Frank E. Wattles, has made extensive repairs throughout the building, and has put the hotel in the best possible condition. Its manager, Mr. C. A. Miner, an experienced hotel man, promises its patrons the best in accommodations, cuisine and service.

The Lenox is conducted on the European plan, with rates of $1.50 per day and upwards. The restaurant prices are as reasonable as possible consistent with the high-class service which the hotel affords.

The Lenox has an established clientele, and is considered an ideal hotel for transients and visitors to Niagara Falls and for parties desiring to stop over on their way to and from points along the Great Lakes, the Muskoka district of Canada and the St. Lawrence river.

Patrons may reach The Lenox by taking Elmwood cars direct to North st. or public taxicabs will take you to the hotel quickly. A special rate may be obtained by charging this service to the hotel.

Lewiston is a village on the Niagara river at the head of navigation below the Falls. Steamers from Toronto to Queenston stop also at Lewiston, and it may be reached from Buffalo by the N. Y. Central railroad, distance 29 miles, fare 60c., round trip $1.05, or by electric cars via Niagara Falls. In 1719 Chabert Joncaire built here "the picketed house," to protect the lower end of the portage around the Niagara Falls and Rapids, established by the French. The New York legislature, in 1798, voted that a village should be located here, and the State donated the land for its broad streets its ample parks and its grounds for public buildings. Fifteen years later the village then growing up here was burned by a British expedition from across the river. On the heights south of the village, called Lewiston Mountain, occurred the Devil's Hole Massacre. On these heights also was Fort Grey, and further down is the hill on which stands the stately mansion erected in 1815 by Major Benjamin Barton and still occupied by the family of a descendant. Within the grounds is a boulder bearing a tablet with this inscription:
THE LENOX HOTEL, North Street at Delaware Avenue
"On this spot, Gen. Winfield Scott, October 13th, 1812, stationed a battery of United States Artillery at the opening of the Battle of Queenston, the first conflict on the Niagara Frontier in the War of 1812.

"Erected June, 1903, and presented to the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association by Kate Barton Wheeler, a descendant of Major Benjamin Barton, U. S. A."

In the churchyard of the old Presbyterian church, begun in 1817, lie buried many soldiers of the War of 1812.

Lily Dale is a village on the shores of the Cassadaga lakes, where a spiritualist summer camp is held. It is about 50 miles southwest from Buffalo and is reached by railroad connecting with the Lake Shore at Dunkirk.

Live Stock.—This city is a large market for live stock, the traffic in which is carried on at the stock yards in East Buffalo. The East Buffalo Live Stock Association embraces in its membership of 101 all the regular dealers in live stock at this market. It is a commercial organization for the protection and benefit of its members and the furtherance of live stock interests in various ways, such as the enforcement of proper business methods, regulation of charges, etc. The business handled by the members of this association during the year 1909 totaled 34,800 car loads, which reduced to numbers of head would be: cattle, 163,000 head; hogs, 2,016,000 head; sheep, 1,234,000 head; and calves 163,000 head. The handling of this business was productive of bank clearings of upwards of $100,000,000. The president is S. M. Boren and the secretary is C. F. Watkins.

The headquarters of the trade is the Live Stock Exchange, a substantial 3-story office building with a square tower, which stands at William and Depot sts., opposite the stock yards. It is owned by a company composed of dealers in live stock. A daily paper, the Live Stock Record, is published in the interest of the trade in this city.

The principal stock yards in Buffalo are owned by the N. Y. Central railroad. They are on William st. in E. Buffalo, beside the railroad tracks, and cover some 80 acres. About 200 hands are employed in driving and tending the animals.

A large trade in horses is carried on in Buffalo, and this also centers around the stock yards.

Lockport.—This city is the county seat of Niagara county and is 25 miles northeast of Buffalo. It is reached by N. Y. Central R. R. or by electric cars, round trip fare 50c. Running time of the electric cars, one hour. The population in 1900 was 16,581. It has two commercial banks, a savings bank and 3 daily newspapers. The Niagara escarpment runs thru Lockport, so part of the city is on high ground and part about 60 feet lower. The Erie canal passes from the high level to the lower by means of a group of 10 locks in the center of the city about 5 minutes' walk from the station of the electric cars. This city is amply supplied with power, partly from the surplus water drawn from the upper level of the canal, and in part from electric plants at Niagara Falls. Consequently many important industries have located here. Among the goods manufactured are power pumps, engines, machinery for many purposes, indurated fiber products, flour, paper, glass, stoves, tackle-blocs, saws and aluminum. There is also a company that supplies steam heat to mains in the streets, using the exhaust steam of factories.

Locksley Park is a location for suburban homes on the lake shore, 9 miles from the Buffalo city hall.

and near Athol Springs. It is on a bluff 35 feet above the level of Lake Erie. About 13 acres on the water front, having a sandy beach, is reserved as a park for the residents on the rest of the property. Reached by the Lake Shore and Pennsylvania railroads to Athol Springs, also by electric cars.

Lundy's Lane.—One of the battle fields of the War of 1812, at Niagara Falls, Ont. Reached by street cars from the Niagara Falls, Victoria Park or Falls View station of the Michigan Central railroad. Leave the car at Lundy's Lane and walk up the lane about two minutes to a cemetery on the top of a hill. In this cemetery is a granite monument, which, with its base and mound, stands about 30 feet high. It bears the following inscription:

"Erected by the Canadian Parliament in honour of the victory gained by the British and Canadian forces on this field, on the 25th day of July, 1814, and in grateful remembrance of the brave men who died on that day fighting for the unity of the empire, 1895."

Stone steps lead down to a small crypt under the monument, thru the grated doors of which three old coffins may be seen.

Nearby is a granite block about 5 feet high with this inscription:

"In memory of Capt. Abraham F. Hull, 9 unknown soldiers 9th Regiment, United States Army, killed at the battle of Lundy's Lane, July 25th, 1814. Erected by the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., September, 1907."

The story of the battle is that Gen. Brown, the American commander, then at Chippewa, sent a force under Gen. Winfield Scott to attack the British at this place. The Americans drove their opponents from the field, capturing their commander, Gen. Riall, and a battery placed on the hill. After nightfall the British made three attempts to retake the heights and three times they were repulsed. After the fighting ceased, Gen. Brown, who was severely wounded, withdrew his force to Fort Erie, and the British reoccupied the hill the next morning without opposition. The result has always been claimed as a victory by both sides.

In this cemetery is also a granite stone surmounted by a bronze bust to perpetuate the name of Laura Ingersoll Secord, who went on foot nearly 20 miles, in June, 1813, and warned a small British force of an intended attack, thereby enabling the British to defeat the American expedition at Beaver Dams. The monument was erected June 22, 1901. The earliest grave in the cemetery has a special marker. It is that of John Burch, who died March 7, 1797.
Manufacturers and Traders National Bank.—In the front rank of the financial institutions of Buffalo, and constantly advancing, is the bank familiarly known as the "M. & T.," at Main and W. Swan sts. Founded in 1856 with a capital of $200,000, it has weathered the financial storms of half a century, that have carried down many ventures of less inherent strength or less wisely directed. Its capital and surplus have now increased to $2,500,000 and its total resources are close to 20 millions. Occupying a large plot of ground that extends back to Pearl st., it is able to have both its main banking office and its safe deposit vault on the ground floor. The long row of tellers' and clerks' windows in the main office afford exceptional facilities for attending promptly to the wants of its many patrons. The Women's Department is provided with all possible conveniences and resembles a luxurious private writing room.

The safe deposit vault is separated from the main office by an iron grill, of graceful design. The main wall of the vault is built of solid masonry, around which are placed heavy layers of steel, forming an outer shell constructed of armor plate, scientifically tempered and tested against saw, drill and other devices.

The doors are equiped with quadruple time locks and an electric burglar alarm. The boxes for the safe keeping of bonds, stocks, deeds, wills and other papers, or jewelry, range in size from 2 inches high, 5 inches wide and 23 inches deep to 27 inches square, and the rentals are from $5 to $150 yearly. Outside the vault are coupon rooms where securities may be examined or committee meetings held. Beneath this vault is another for storing chests of silver, heirlooms, books, manuscripts, pictures and other bulky valuables, and the Bank has a special wagon to call for and deliver such articles. The vault is open business days from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., except Saturday, when it is closed at 1 p.m.

Manufactures.—No other American city has made such forward strides in manufacturing during recent years as Buffalo has during the past decade. The figures showing the extent of this advance from 1900 to 1905 are found in Bulletin No. 101 of the U. S. Census Bureau. During these five years, the industrial progress of Buffalo brought it from 12th to 10th place among American industrial centers, passing San Francisco and St. Paul-Minneapolis. These centers include in each case some contiguous territory, in addition to the city named, forming a district; thus Buffalo's extra territory comprises Tonawanda, Amherst, Cheektowaga, W. Seneca, Lackawanna, Hamburg and E. Hamburg. But with these additions, the population of this district was less than that of any other of the first 12. During the five years covered by the bulletin, the increase in value of manufactured products in this district was 48.2 per cent. The total output for 1905 was worth $168,111,658, of which not quite one-eighth, or $20,733,785 worth, was made in the territory outside of the city. In making up the total iron and steel leads with $16,946,746, of which foundry and machine shop products amounted to $13,024,515. Other important industries in order are slaughter house products, $16,269,453; flour and grist mill products, $9,889,016; cars, $8,814,057; soap and candles, $4,792,915; clothing, $4,739,727; lumber, $4,630,818; bread, $4,492,465; printing and publishing, $4,257,807; chemicals, $3,254,309, and leather, $2,428,392.

Buffalo's gain from 1900 to 1905 was $16,000,000 more than that of Cincinnati, $17,000,000 more than that of Cleveland, and $29,000,000 in excess of that of Baltimore. If the same relative gain has been maintain'd for the latter half of the decade, Buffalo has past Cleveland and Baltimore and is neck and neck with Cincinnati for 7th place.

Another significant feature is the far greater diversification of industry in this city than in any other—a highly important fact in times of depression or labor conflicts in particular lines. Of the 339 lines of manufacturing recognized by the census bureau, Buffalo is represented in 198, or more than 58 per cent. In Pittsburg-Allegheny iron and steel is the largest manufacture, and when that is seriously deprest, 60.9 per cent of the industry of the district is paralyzed, with the necessarily wide reaching results. In like manner, Cincinnati is dependent on brewing and distilling liquors to the extent of 58.7 per cent of its industries, Chicago on slaughtering and packing for 28 per cent, Cleveland on iron and steel for 25.1 per cent and Philadelphia on textiles for 18.9 per cent. In Buffalo when the leading industry, iron and steel, is deprest, only 10.8 per cent of the output of the district is affected thereby.

For the five years under consideration, Buffalo led all other cities of the first 12 in increase of capital invested in manufacturing establishments, with 79.3 per cent, also in the value of materials used, with 44.4 per cent, in the number of wage earners employed, with 29.9 per cent, in the amount of wages paid, with 43.5 per cent, and in salaries paid, with 61.6 per cent.

This record of progress can not fail to fill the heart of every citizen with pride at the gratifying state of affairs at present and the fascinating largeness of the prospect for the future.

Markets.—The public markets were originally open plots of ground where butchers sold meat and farmers sold fruit and vegetables from their wagons. Later the city erected a long narrow brick building on each plot and rented stalls in it. Still later a row of wooden booths was added on each side of the central building and some space was still left open for wagon stands. There are four such markets in Buffalo, and the rent of the stalls is one of the city's sources of revenue. The care of the buildings and collection of rentals is the duty of the Superintendent of Markets, who is appointed by the Mayor and has an office at each market. The present superintendent is George W. Ryan.

BROADWAY MARKET occupies a plot on Broadway running from Gibson st. to Lombard. Its brick building is about the same size as that of the Washington Market, but was built much later—in 1889.

CLINTON MARKET is on Clinton st. between East and West Bennett sts. The brick building, erected in the same year as that of the Washington Market, was of the same size, but about half of it was burned in 1909.

ELK STREET MARKET is the oldest of the present markets and extends for three blocks, from Scott to Elk st. between East and West Market sts. Both wholesale and retail trade are carried on here. The brick market building is about 40 feet wide and 350 feet long, extending from Scott to Perry st., and it was built in 1854. A frame building for this market was built in 1849. Across the streets surrounding this market most of the stores are occupied by produce commission merchants.

WASHINGTON MARKET, sometimes called Chippewa Market, occupies a plot running from Chippewa st. northward 500 feet and from Washington st. to Ellicott. Being convenient to the chief residence sections, this is the principal retail market of the city, and more business is done here than at any of the others. The brick building, erected in 1857, measures about 40 by 400 feet. Most of the stalls in this building are leased to butchers, while vegetables, fruit, fish, eggs and dairy products are sold from the wooden booths and stands outside.

All the main market buildings are open from 4.30 a. m. to 2.30 p. m., except from Nov. 1 to April 20, when they open at 5.30. On Saturday they remain open till 10.30 p. m. Saturday is the busiest day on the markets.

Mayor.—The chief executive officer of the city is elected by the people for a term of 4 years. His duties are, in general, to enforce the laws within the city and see that the duties of other city officers are faithfully performed. All ordinances and resolutions of the common council must be presented to the mayor and do not take effect unless he approves them or fails to return them disapproved within 10 days. Ordinances disapproved by him may be re-enacted by the councilmen and aldermen, each by a two-thirds vote (or by a three-fourths vote in case a two-thirds vote was necessary in the first instance), and shall then take effect without the mayor's approval. The mayor appoints a secretary and a license clerk. Licenses not otherwise provided for are issued from the mayor's office. He has power to suspend or remove any officer (except as otherwise provided) for misconduct or neglect of duty. If the mayor shall be unable to perform the duties of his office, in consequence of illness or temporary absence from the city, he may designate an alderman or councilman to act in his place. He is ex-officio a member of the Health, Park and Police boards.

The mayor's office is on the 2nd floor of the city hall. On its walls are hung about 30 portraits of former mayors of the city.

Mayville.—This is the county seat of Chautauqua county, and is situated at the head of Chautauqua lake, 65 miles southwest of Buffalo, on the Pennsylvania railroad. Fare $1.63, round trip $3.15. Reached also from Westfield or Jamestown by the Jamestown railroad. Here the steamer can be taken for a zig-zag trip the whole length of the lake, stopping at the many beautiful points on either side.

Messenger Service.—The messengers of the two telegraf companies may be employed to carry letters and small parcels to any part of the city. They may be summoned by ringing one of the call boxes placed in hotels, stores and offices, or by telephone. The Electric Message and Delivery Co. also supplies boys, who may be called by telephone.

Methodist Episcopal Churches.—The Methodists have a larger number of churches in Buffalo than any other protestant denomination. A list is given below. All the churches in this list except the African and the two German churches, are members of the Genesee Conference, which is divided into five districts. Business matters relating to the Buffalo district, which covers Erie and Niagara counties, are attended to by the Superintendent, Rev. J. L. Sooy, D. D., 266 Lexington av. Buffalo is also the residence of one of the bishops of the M. E. church, the Right Rev. Joseph F. Berry, D. D.

The Richmond Avenue church, now 25 years old, has had a remarkably rapid growth and is the largest congregation of all the protestant churches in this city. It has a grand and beautiful edifice, at Richmond av. and W. Ferry st., with a seating capacity of 1,200.

Miller's Silk Shop.— Occupying the most prominent corner on the 2d floor of the Brisbane bldg., with its broad windows overlooking Main st. and Lafayette sq., is the daylight sales-room of Miller's Silk Shop. The proprietor is Mr. C. W. Miller, whose 20 years with the Adam, Meldrum & Anderson Co., where he was buyer and manager of silks and velvets; made for him many lasting customers, who are now his loyal patrons.

The lines of goods dealt in at this shop comprise silks—both dress materials and linings—also laces, linens and cottons. In addition to the piece goods, a fine selection of beautiful imported robes of Parisian design and workmanship, may be found here. It is the shop that caters to women who know materials, the shop that shows styles not shown in every store in the city; the easy shop to reach—only one flight up by stairs or elevator. Being the best natural day-lighted store in Buffalo, customers can match silks perfectly here. Mail orders are also filled with care and promptness. All materials shown have real merit and no inferior or shop-worn goods are ever offered to patrons.

The steadfast policy of this store is—Better qualities than you can find elsewhere at the price.

Monuments.—Buffalo's memorial to the defenders of their country in the Civil War is the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, which stands in Lafayette sq., in the heart of the city. It was unveiled July 4, 1884. It consists of a cylindrical shaft of granit surmounted by a female figure typifying the city and rising to a total height of 85 feet. Encircling the column are bronze bas-reliefs depicting historic scenes of the war. Upon buttresses projecting from the base stand four bronze figures representing the infantry, cavalry, artillery and navy. The total cost was $50,000 and the money was raised by the ladies of Buffalo.

The McKinley Monument, standing in the center of Niagara Square, towers 93 feet above the pavement. It was erected by the State of New York in honor of President William McKinley, who was shot at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo on Sept. 6, 1901. The shaft is built of carefully selected Vermont marble and its grand simplicity typifies the character of the beloved President in whose memory it was raised. Four lions, chiselled out of Italian marble, and weighing 15 tons each, guard its approaches. The shaft is 7 feet square at the base and tapers symmetrically to the top. Flanking the base are pools of crystal water, which sparkles uneasingly from graceful fountains. Altogether the splendid pile cost $105,000. The site was provided and adorned by the city, and the monument was unveiled Sept. 5, 1907. On the four faces at the base of the shaft it bears the following inscriptions:

EAST FACE.

"This shaft was erected by the State of New York to honor the memory of William McKinley, Twenty-fifth President of the United States of America."

SOUTH FACE.

"William McKinley was born at Niles, Ohio, January 29, 1843; was enlisted in 23d Ohio Volunteers June 11, 1861, as private, mustered out July 26, 1865, as major by brevet for gallantry under fire."

WEST FACE.

"William McKinley was elected to Congress as a Representative from Ohio in 1876, '80, '82, '84, '86, '88, was elected Governor of Ohio in 1891 and 1893, and President of the United States in 1896 and 1900."

NORTH FACE.

"William McKinley died in Buffalo, September 14, 1901, victim of a treacherous assassin, who shot the President as he was extending to him the hand of courtesy."

The Verdi Monument, at Niagara and Mohawk sts., consists of a bronze bust, 5 feet in height, the work of Antonio Ugo, of Palermo, standing on a granit base 11 feet high. The base was designed by Henry Schmitt and executed by A. De Cianno, both of Buffalo. This memorial to the celebrated composer was presented to the city by the Italian residents and was unveiled Sept. 2, 1907.

In the article on Forest Lawn the public monuments within that enclosure are described—those to the Volunteer Firemen, the Grand Army men to Red Jacket and the Farmers' Brother monument.

MORE'S Fashionable "Hatterie and Furriere," established in 1857, is as well known in the State of New York as are the Falls of Niagara. On entering the store at 327 Main st. you will find the Men's Hat Department, which is full of the newest hats for gentlemen produced in the United States, England, Italy and France—notably the "Miller," "Stetson," English "Christy," and "Heath," Italian "Borsalino," etc. This is the original store.

You walk through and you come to the new and additional three Washington st. stores, which thrown together into one make unquestionably the very finest Fur and Ladies' Hat Show Room in Western New York, or anywhere else. Down a few broad and easy steps you find, on the left, the most elegant, comfortable and best stocked—with the extremest novelties of each season—Ladies' Hatterie in existence—the leading feature of which, under expert management, is to have ready always 'The Right Hat for Any Function.'

In the center of the spacious room is the handsomest Fashionable Furrierie conceivable, extensively stocked with rich and fascinating furs made up of the finest known skins and in accordance with Dame Fashion's very newest demands from season to season—whether in Coats or Sets of neck and hand furs for women, or in Fur-lined coats for men.

On the right is found the department for Auto Furs, which includes everything in fur for the protection and comfort of both owner and chauffeur. Here also is a real convenience for such—a special entrance on Washington st., at which auto cars can await the convenience of owners, which is something they are not allowed to do on Main st.

Amongst various naturally mounted animals, beautiful tapestry and other decorations on the high walls will be noticed an original sign which reads, 'We Sold Hats and Furs to Your Mothers and Fathers—Why Not to You?' And echo answers: Why Not!

D. S. Morgan Building.—One of the most prominent and up-to-date office buildings in Buffalo is located at Pearl and Niagara sts., in the heart of the business and financial section. Handsome and stately in architectural design, the D. S. Morgan Building is an ornament to the city. It is 12 stories in height and is finished in marble and hard wood, being absolutely fire-proof in construction. Every room has large and well placed windows, with outlooks over Shelton sq., Niagara sq. or L. Erie from the different sides of the building. The lighting and heating of the building is done by its own special plant and is of the best. Owing to its favorable location and plan, every office is within a few steps of the elevators. These are of the plunger type, which is the safest made, and close to them is a U. S. mail chute. A fine Turkish Bath establishment, under the special supervision of the owners of the building, is located in the basement. From the roof rises an observatory Tower to a height of 235 feet from the street, from which can be had a fine view of the city and surrounding country.

Municipal Building.—The City Court Building formerly bore this name, but the present Municipal Building is a plain 3-story brick structure at Franklin and Church sts., south of the City Hall. On the first floor are the offices of the Bureau of Building and the Water Bureau; the second floor is occupied by the Department of Public Instruction, the Health Department and the Bureau of Engineering; the Health Department has part of the 3d floor, and here also are rooms for the Inspection of Steam Boilers and the School Census Board. In the basement are additional rooms used by the departments already named. There is a large brick vault for the safe keeping of plans and papers on each floor.

Museums.—Buffalo has a most instructive museum of natural history provided by the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences and a valuable historical museum belonging to the Buffalo Historical Society. See the articles on these two societies, also the one on Niagara Falls, N. Y., for the museum in that city.

Music.—Buffalo is decidedly a musical city. There are several strong musical societies here, the names of which are given below, and high-class musicians and organizations from other places give many successful concerts here. The city uses public money, with the full approval of its citizens, to provide organ recitals and vocal and instrumental concerts in Convention Hall on Sunday afternoons in winter, also band concerts in the parks in summer. The number of teachers of music is large and the demand for their instruction is another indication of the taste of the people.

Mutual Life Building.—Among Buffalo's large office structures is the Mutual Life Building, situated at 202-218 Pearl st., in the heart of the city's business district. The principal hotels and banking houses are within a small radius of the building. Dignified and admirably located, it stands as one of the great architectural monuments that mark the business sections of Buffalo.

The Mutual Life Building is of the modern steel construction, with concrete floors, stone and terra cotta front. The woodwork of the building is of the finest mahogany and quartered oak, and finish in the natural wood. The building is 10 stories high and has 220 large, well lighted and well ventilated offices. It is of superior fire-proof construction thruout. Many of the offices command a beautiful view of the lake, harbor and surrounding city.

The basement and ground floor are built for stores, while the upper floors are arranged especially for large, light, commodious offices. The building was first opened in May, 1897, and has since been the home of many of Buffalo's leading lawyers and business firms.

The present owner of the Mutual Life Building is the Carroll & Baldwin Realty Company of New York city, composed of Joseph T. Carroll, an extensive horse dealer, who is president, and Leonard and Arthur Baldwin, well-known New York corporation lawyers. The manager is James A. Magoffin.

National Guard.—The 4th Brigade, Brig. Gen. Lauren W. Pettebone, commanding, of the National Guard of the State of New York has its headquarters in Buffalo, at 451 Main st. There are two regiments maintained in this city—the 65th and the 74th. The 3rd Regt., with headquarters at Rochester, and the two Buffalo regiments make up the 4th Brigade.

The 65th Regiment was organized in 1848. It has performed service within the State during several large riots and entered the service of the United States in both the Civil War and the Spanish-American War. It was constituted a 12-company regiment in 1907, but has at present 9 companies, including company E, of Jamestown.

The regiment has a fine armory, occupying a commanding position at Best and Michigan sts., which was dedicated May 1, 1909. The site contains over 10 acres and is on one of the highest elevations in the city. The size of the building is 361 by 500 feet. It is built of white Medina sandstone and its architecture is Norman of the 11th century, modernized. The drill-hall measures 240 by 336 feet and is flanked by 12 company locker rooms—6 on the north and 6 on the south side. These are 31 by 42 feet, which is large enough to allow the formation of a company inside the room. On the second floor, over each locker room, are the company parlors and officers' quarters, and in the basement under it is a storeroom, the three tiers of rooms being connected by independent stairways. In other parts of the building are a mess-hall seating 500, squad drill-room, gymnasium, library, a billiard room with 6 tables and a lecture room seating 438. In the basement there is a 100 yard rifle range, 3 pistol ranges and a swimming pool, 28 by 60 feet. Army wagons can be driven into the basement and loaded with equipage and baggage inside the building. The armory is lighted with electricity and heated by the vacuum system. Protection against fire is afforded by 40 standpipes, each carrying 100 feet of hose. The colonel of the 65th Regiment is Gen. Samuel M. Welch, the lieut-colonel is George J. Haffa and the regimental adjutant is Capt. Walter F. Nurzey.

The 74th Regiment was organized in 1854, its nucleus being the famous Company D of the Buffalo City Guard, formed in 1837. Members of the 74th have taken part, as a regiment or otherwise, in two national wars and have been called into service to preserve order eight times by the State or the County. Thru all its history, the regiment has ever been true to its motto, Semper fidelis—Always faithful.

From 1859 this regiment occupied with the 65th Regt. an arsenal on Batavia st., now Broadway. It first had a separate home in 1868 when an armory for it was completed, on Fremont pl. (now Elmwood av.) near Virginia st. In January, 1886, it took possession of its third armory, erected on the Virginia st. end of the Elmwood av. plot, and now known as Convention Hall. Its present armory, which it has occupied since 1900, is a massive structure of Medina sandstone, occupying the block bounded by Niagara st., Prospect av., Vermont and Connecticut sts., the site of the old Prospect Hill reservoir. Its architecture is that of the castellated fortresses of the middle ages, and it cost about half a million dollars. The big drill shed measures 310 by 240 feet. Its roof, supported by steel trusses, is nearly 100 feet from the ground. At the Connecticut st. end is the administration building, about 250 by 230 feet, and 3 stories high. On the first floor are the company rooms, each 21 by 45 feet, the armorer's room, etc. On the second floor, the field and staff of the regiment have handsome quarters and there is a large billiard room. On the third floor are the quarters of the band and field music, the surgeons and hospital corps, also the gymnasium and baths. In the basement is a 100-yard rifle range, a kitchen, mess rooms, heating, lighting and ventilating plants, bowling alleys and shower baths.

The 74th is a 12-company regiment and has the full number, including Co. K, of Tonawanda. Its colonel is George C. Fox; lieut-colonel, Edmund P. Cottle and regimental adjutant Capt. Alex. R. Robertson.

Naval Militia.—The 3rd Separate Division of the Naval Militia of the State of New York is located in Buffalo. Its headquarters are in the 74th Regiment armory and it has the U. S. steamer Hawk for practice drills and cruising purposes. The Division has a strength of 80 enlisted men. The commander is Lieut. Edwin C. Sornberger.

Niagara, Ont., also called Niagara-On-the-Lake, and formerly Newark, is a town at the mouth of the Niagara river on L. Ontario. Reached from Buffalo, by Michigan Central railroad, fare, 85c., round trip, $1.25. Trains stop at Queen st., which is the principal street of the place, and also go about half a mile further to the steamboat wharf. Reached also in summer from Lewiston and Queenston daily by frequent steamers; round trip fare, 25c. This is a favorite summer resort for people of means in Buffalo, Toronto and other cities, who have cottages here or live at the hotels. From the steamboat wharf it is only a few minutes' walk to the old earthwork, Fort George, taking the first street back from the river. This was an important British frontier post in the War of 1812. It was captured early in the war by the Americans, but they soon withdrew to the other side of the river. Near the river's bank is a stone marker, placed by the Niagara Historical Society, on the site of Navy Hall, in which a parliament was held in 1792, the first one held in Upper Canada. One of a group of four buildings to which this name was given is still standing, but in ruins. The ground inside Fort George is occupied as a farm.

Returning to the town, the visitor comes to St. Vincent de Paul's Church, (Catholic) a frame building dating from 1834. A little further beyond is the square-towered stone St. Mark's Church, built in 1804. In the churchyard may be seen the remains of rifle-pits, and here also are the graves of several British officers who were killed in the War of 1812. On or near Queen st. are the building on the site of the first Masonic hall in Canada and the county court house, both market by tablets. At the northern end of the town, on the lake shore, is old Fort Missasauge, also dating from the War of 1812. It has been long disused and now nothing more deadly than a golf ball ever flies over its ramparts. In the large military reserve surrounding the fort are the buildings called Butler's Barracks. At the west corner of the town stands St. Andrew's Church, built in 1831. The first building of the society was erected in 1794. Niagara has a fine public library, with over 6,000 volumes. The Niagara Historical Society was formed in 1895 and has published 18 pamphlets, placed 8 markers on historic spots, collected over 4,000 articles of historic interest and erected a building at a cost of over $5,000. The articles in its collection consist of weapons, uniforms, old furniture and china, documents, pictures, Indian relics, etc.

Visitors desiring the best of hotel accommodations can obtain them in summer at the Queen's Royal, which stands on a bluff at the mouth of the river. It has 250 rooms and the rates are $3 a day and upwards. The grounds are extensive and facilities for golf, tennis, bowling on the green, dancing, boating, fishing and bathing are provided. There is also a well appointed garage.

Niagara County was set apart from Genesee County, March 11, 1808, and Buffalo was made its county seat. It was divided into the present Niagara and Erie counties, April 2, 1821, and Lockport then became the seat of Niagara county.

Niagara Falls.—The Falls of the Niagara river are the greatest natural wonder on the American continent and over a million persons visit them every year. It is not so much the height of the Falls that amazes the beholder, as the size of the river that here plunges down the sheer descent and the volume of water it pours into the gulf below.

Full, varied and satisfying views of the vast cataract may be had from the two public parks, one on the American side establisht by the State of New York and the other on the opposit side establisht by the government of Canada, without a cent of expense and without any annoyance from solicitors for other attractions. In fact, the only close views of the Falls are from these parks, and all that visitors have to decide is what mode of conveyance to use in getting about the parks from point to point, and which if any additional attractions to enjoy. The writer advises all who have a full day's time or longer to spend here to go around the Gorge and view its wonders in addition to seeing the Falls themselves.

If you come from a distance with baggage, you will want to be taken to a hotel, and after making yourself comfortable, start out and see the Falls and the Gorge. A rain coat and a cap are good things to have with you, for on breezy days mist and spray are blown over some of the choicest view-points. You can not do better, if arriving on the American side, than buy tickets at $1.50 each from the agent of the Niagara Transfer Co., who will pass thru your train. These entitle you to be taken in a carriage to your hotel with your hand luggage, also to have another carriage call, at your convenience, and take you thru the State Reservation, stopping at least 10 minutes at each view point, and return to the station of the Niagara Belt Line, also to the trip by electric cars around the Gorge. If the carriage ride is taken in the morning, it is best to fill in the rest of the forenoon with other attractions, then get lunch and start around the Gorge with a half day before you. Vigorous walkers, who wish to be entirely untrammeld, can go thru the Reservation on foot. But you will be on your feet a good deal anyway, and it is better to save your strength in the forenoon than get too tired to enjoy anything before the day is over.

If staying in Buffalo, you can go to the Falls by electric cars, which run every 15 minutes. (See Street Railways). These cars land you in a terminal station which runs thru the block. Pass forward and out of the front of the building, cross the street and you are in the Reservation. Niagara Falls can be reached from Buffalo also by N. Y. Central or Lehigh Valley railroad, which run into the same station, 4 blocks from the Reservation, round trip fare 50c., or by Erie railroad, which has a station 6 blocks from the Reservation. You can engage a carriage in the street, or go straight across the Reservation to the carriage office there and take a Reservation carriage for its regular trip.

THE NEW YORK STATE RESERVATION covers 107 acres extending along the river bank above and below the Falls. It includes the former Prospect Park at the brink of the Falls, Goat Island and the small islands surrounding it, and a strip running up the river past the Upper Rapids. A folder containing a map of the Reservation and information about carriage rates and points of interest both within and without its limits may be had free from the superintendent or his officers. The carriage office is reached by a path crossing the grove from the Soldiers' Monument. Here is the ELEVATOR that has taken the place of the inclined railway to the foot of the Falls. There is a charge of 5c. each way for riding down and up in the elevator, but the stairs beside it are free.

PROSPECT POINT, close by the carriage office, is at the very brink of the American Fall, which is the part of the Falls between Goat Island and the American shore. The American Fall is 167 feet high and 1,060 feet across. A fine view of this great sheet of water can be had from the Point.

RESERVATION CARRIAGES can be taken from the carriage office near Prospect Point for their regular circuit of the islands, distance about two miles, fare 15c., or the circuit of the entire Reservation, distance 3 miles, fare 25c. Passengers can stop over at all points of interest and proceed by a later carriage.

GREEN ISLAND, formerly Bath Island, lies between the main land and Goat Island, with which it is connected by bridges. Its present name was given to it in honor of Andrew H. Green, first president of the commission in charge of the Reservation.

GOAT ISLAND is near the middle of the river and divides the Falls into the Horseshoe Fall, between the island and Canada, and the American Fall, between the island and the American shore. From the bridge by which the island is reached, driveways cross it in several directions, and another encircles it. There is a shelter house near the bridge, affording visitors a place to rest, drinking water and toilet rooms without charge. There are similar buildings in other parts of the Reservation.

Proceeding to the right, on the driveway around the island, we come to STEDMAN’S BLUFF, at the brink of the American Fall, opposite Prospect Point on the main land. From the bluff a stairway and bridge lead to LUNA ISLAND, which divides the American Fall, the narrow sheet of water between this island and the Bluff being known as Luna Island Fall.

The BIDDLE STAIRCASE is reached from the Bluff by following the driveway along the top of the cliff between the two great Falls. It is a spiral stairway, built in 1829, and descends 80 feet to the slope at the foot of the cliff.

THE CAVE OF THE WINDS is behind the Luna Island Fall, and is reached by a path from the foot of the Biddle stairs. The charge for a guide and rubber suit is $1.00 for each person. Visitors pass over the bridges in front of the Fall and then enter the cavern behind it, which is 150 feet wide and 50 feet deep. The domed roof is 100 feet above the floor and its front is the great cataract. In front of the Fall, when the sun is shining brightly, two or three rainbows can be seen in the banks of mist dasht up by the descending waters, and in one position a complete rainbow circle. The entire trip can be made in 40 minutes by those who can dress and undress quickly. The ROCK OF AGES is a huge boulder lying at the foot of the Luna Island Fall.

PORTER’S BLUFF is a part of Goat Island overlooking the Horseshoe Fall. It was so named by the Commissioners of the Reservation, in honor of the family, prominent for a century in military, mercantile and public affairs on the Niagara Frontier, which owned Goat Island for three score and ten years and preserved it intact and free from money-making defacements.

TERRAPIN ROCK is on the very brink of the Horseshoe Fall and is reached from Porter’s Bluff by a stairway and bridge. A tower stood on this rock from 1833 to 1873.
NIAGARA FALLS IN WINTER
THE THREE SISTER ILANDS are near the upper end of Goat Island, where the breakers above the Horseshoe Fall begin. They are connected with each other and with the larger island by bridges. A smaller ilet near them is named Little Brother Iland.

THE RIVERWAY is a driveway extending thru a strip of the Reservation lying along the bank of the river, from the Goat Iland bridge up past the rapids something over half a mile, to the Old French Landing. This landing place was at first the upper end of the portage around the Falls and Rapids, established by the French in colonial times.

HENNEPIN’S VIEW is a point on the edge of the bluff, in the Reservation Grove, about midway between the American Fall and the Upper Bridge. It affords the best general view of the Falls to be had from any point in the Reservation.

For the points of interest on the Canadian side of the Falls, see Niagara Gorge.

The Falls in winter are a stranger if less impressive sight than in summer. The Ice Bridge that forms in the latter part of nearly every winter is a sheet of ice covering the surface of the river below the Falls, upon which persons may walk or drive from shore to shore, or to the foot of Goat Island. The foot of the Falls is partly hidden by the jagged masses of ice piled upon the ice bridge, all the rocks nearby are converted into ice covered mounds and immense curtains of frost and crystal drape the face of the cliffs on either side of the somewhat diminished cataracts. Ice jams in the Gorge below have at times done much damage to the wharves and buildings on its shores, when they began to move, and such jams in the river above have once or twice caused the American Fall to run dry and the Horse shoe Fall to be much reduced.

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—Visitors who come to see "the Falls" do not realize that there are two thriving cities here, one on the American and the other on the Canadian side of the river, each having an importance of its own and having also places of interest not connected with the great cataract. The city on the American side was incorporated in 1892, and comprises the two former villages of Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge. In 1905 it had a population of 26,559, but the visitors who throng its streets and railway stations, its hotels and places of interest, give it the life and bustle of a city twice its size. It has a land area of 5,900 acres.

The Niagara river makes a sharp bend just at the Falls, and the chief business section of the city is in this bend. A large triangle in the point of the bend is included in the State Reservation, and this is separated from the business blocks on the east by the Riverway, which here runs north and south a short distance (formerly Canal st.). The next street east is Prospect st., which is short, and east of that is Main st., which runs north and south 4 or 5 blocks, then follows the turns of the river to the northern city line. East of Main, the streets are numbered from 1st up to 36th. The chief cross streets are Niagara st., which runs by the north end of the Riverway to the first bridge below the Falls, and Falls st., which runs from 3d st. to the Riverway. Buffalo av. begins at the south end of Main st. and runs parallel with the river until it crosses the eastern city line. The chief features of the city outside of the Falls are as follows:

BANKS. These are the Bank of Niagara, 201 Falls st.; Power City
Bank, 205 Falls st.; Bank of Suspension Bridge, Main st. near Ontario av.; Niagara County Savings Bank, 304 Niagara st.; and the Niagara Falls Trust Co., 45 Falls st.

BRIDGES. The first bridge crossing the Niagara river below the Falls is the Upper Steel Arch bridge, erected in 1895 to replace a suspension bridge built in 1869. It has a carriage-way and side-walks and electric cars run across it. Toll over and back 10c., whether on foot or on the cars. It is 1,268 feet long, is 190 feet above the water and affords a fine view of the Falls.

About a mile below the Upper Steel Arch bridge is the Cantilever bridge, completed in 1883. This is a railroad bridge only and is crost by the Michigan Central railroad.

Close below the Cantilever bridge is the Lower Steel Arch bridge, built in 1897 to replace the famous original Niagara Suspension Bridge, constructed by John A. Roebling, and opened for traffic in 1855. The present bridge is used by the Grand Trunk railroad.

CARRIAGES. Every driver of a public carriage or automobile must have a license and must have a card inside his carriage giving his number and the legal rates of fare. For carrying one passenger, trunk and handbag a distance not exceeding one mile within the city limits, the rate is 50c. By the hour the rates are, one horse carriage, $1.50 the first hour, $1 each additional hour; two horse carriage, $2 the first hour, $1.50 each additional hour; automobile, $3 each hour. For a trip which includes crossing to the Canadian side of the river a special agreement should be made, which should specify return to the starting point or to the visitor’s hotel or railroad station, and also who pays the bridge tolls.

CHIMNEY, OLD STONE. This relic of the past stands on the bank of the river, opposit the end of Portage Road, about a mile above the Falls. The old portage around the Falls and Rapids latterly ended at this point, and Fort Little Niagara was built to protect the merchandise handled here. The chimney belonged to the barracks of the fort.

CHURCHES. Most of the well established religious denominations have places of worship in this city. There are 2 Baptist churches, 5 Catholic, including one Italian and one Polish, 2 Evangelical, 2 Episcopal, 2 Lutheran, 2 Methodist, 3 Presbyterian, and one each, Church of Christ (Disciples), Church of Christ (Scientist), Church of God, Church of the Pilgrims, Congregational, Jewish, Salvation Army, Spiritualist and Universalist.

CITY OFFICES. The city clerk, city treasurer, chief of police and some other officials have offices in the City Building, Niagara and 2nd sts. Others are in Convention Hall, Walnut av. near Main st., or in various business blocks.

COLLEGES. See separate articles on De Veaux College and Niagara University.

MUSEUM. The Niagara Falls Museum occupies a four story building fronting on the Riverway near Falls st. It was founded in 1830 and has been growing ever since until now it comprises a natural history collection that would do credit to the Academy of Sciences in a large city, a gallery of Egyptian antiquities of great variety and value, an art gallery containing views of all parts of the world, besides thousands of miscellaneous curiosities of remarkable interest. All exhibits are carefully labeled. Its observatory affords a most comprehensive view of Niagara scenery. Admission 25c.

Niagara Falls, Ont.—This little city, on the Canadian side of the Niagara river at the Falls, was incorporated in 1904, being formed by the union of the villages of Clifton and Drummondville. Clifton was opposit the American village of Suspension Bridge. Here are the city hall and most of the other public buildings. Drummondville was opposit the Falls and is now calld for convenience, Niagara Falls, South. Its business and residence sections are on the higher ground, back from the river. Reached from Buffalo by Michigan Central railroad; from Niagara Falls, N. Y., by Grand Trunk or Wabash railroad, fare 15c., also by St. Catherine’s electric cars. This city has 5 banks, 14 churches and a daily and 2 weekly newspapers. Higher education is provided by the Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute, at the Center, near Victoria Park railroad station, and by Loretto Academy, at Falls View. Among its prominent indusies are the Canadian Shredded Wheat Co., Canadian Niagara Falls Power Co., International Acheson Graphite Co., Oneida Community, Ltd., and the Ontario Power Co.

The principal hotels for tourists and permanent guests are the followin:

CLIFTON, River st. near Up per Steel Arch bridge; Am. $4 ap. Geo. R. Major, manager.

HOSPICE OF MT. CARMEL, near Falls View station; 50 rooms; Am. $2.50 up; Eu. $1.50 up. J. H. Gilmur, proprietor.

LAFAYETTE, River st. at Upper Steel Arch bridge; Am. $2.50 up; Eu. $1 up. Harry Williams, proprieto.

SAVOY, Bridge st. and Erie av.; 75 rooms; Am. $2 up. O. F. Cronk hite, proprietor.

Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power and Manufacturing Co.—The first serious effort to utilize the power of Niagara was the construction of the Hydraulic Canal thru the city of Niagara Falls, N. Y. The plan originated with members of the Porter family about 1840. Various companies undertook to dig the canal, but it was not completed till 1861. The Civil War paralyzed the project and for several years the water from the canal fell into the Gorge unused. It was known as the Bridal Veil. The above named company was formed in 1877 by Jacob F. Schoellkopf and Abram M. Chesbrough to operate the canal. Arthur Schoellkopf was made manager and ably utilized its possibilities.

The canal starts from the river a short distance above the end of the Riverway, runs northwest and discharges its waters into the river by many jets and streams from the face of the cliff just below the Upper Steel Arch bridge. Several streets and the N. Y. Central railroad cross it by bridges, and the Erie railroad runs beside it when approaching its Niagara st. station. The canal passes under the intersection of Niagara and Third sts. and on the wide bridge at this point four tablets have been placed on the stone pedestals of street lights, so that one can be read from the roadway or sidewalk on either side, each bearing this inscription:

"THE SCHOELLKOPF BRIDGE, named by resolution of the Common Council in grateful memory of Jacob F. Schoellkopf, whose foresight and courage laid the foundations of the power development of Niagara Falls."

The canal was at first only 36 feet wide, but has been increase to nearly 100 feet, and is supplying to various industries about 20,000 electrical horsepower, 400 mechanical and 7,000 hydraulic horsepower. The office of the company is on Main st. north of Niagara, and here the visitor can obtain a pass permitting him to go down in an elevator 214 feet to the electric power house at the water's edge.

Niagara Falls Power Co.—After viewing the wonders of nature, it is instructive to pass to a wonder of modern engineering. On the bank of the Niagara river, about a mile above the Falls, on the American side, stands the plant of the above named company. It is reached by Power House or Buffalo street cars. The buildings consist of two power houses, one 450 feet the other 485 feet long, and a smaller transformer house, all of granit. So many persons visit the plant, that the company has provided guides for their convenience, and issues admission tickets for which 25¢ is charged. A booklet of information is given to each visitor. The money received for tickets, after defraying the actual expenses of this service, is used for the benefit of the employees—for beds in hospitals and in other ways. The hours for visitors are from 9 a. m. to 5.30 p. m. week days, and from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sundays.

Entering the office in Power House No. 2, visitors go up a broad stair-case and get their tickets, then pass into a balcony overlooking the main floor, where the guide explains the machinery. On the floor below are seen 11 huge dynamos or generators, standing in one long row, each with a capacity of 5,500 horsepower and making 250 revolutions a minute. An elevator takes the party down into the wheel-pit under the building, which is 177 feet deep, 461 feet long and 17½ feet wide, cut in the solid rock. Here are installed 11 turbines revolving horizontally, driven by water from the river, which reaches the power house thru a short canal, and then fills 11 penstocks or vertical pipes 7½ feet in diameter, which deliver it to the turbines. To each turbine is attached a hollow vertical shaft, 32 inches in diameter, which revolves with it and extends to the main floor above, where it drives one of the electric generators. The weight of the column of water in each penstock is estimated at 400,000 pounds. After doing its work in the turbines, the water flows thru an underground tunnel leading under the city, and discharging into the river below the Falls.

From the wheel pit of Power House No. 2, visitors walk thru a passage under the canal to the wheel-pit of Power House No. 1, and an elevator takes them up to the main floor. Here are installld 10 generators of 5,000 horsepower each, driven in the same manner as those in the other building, so that the total capacity of the plant is 110,500 horsepower. About half an hour is required to go thru the plant. Near by is the transformer house, where electric current to be transmitted to a distance is stepped up to 11,000 volts or 22,000 volts according to the distance.

The company owns a large tract of land, stretching along the river for two miles eastward from its plant. Sites are leased in this tract to manufacturing concerns who wish to use the company’s power, and already 30 large industries are located here. Among its customers is the International Railway, all of whose street cars in Buffalo and Niagara Falls and those running to Lockport and Olcott Beach, are operated by this power. Olcott Beach is about 37 miles distant. The electric current transmitted to neighboring cities to be distributed thru local stations to various industries is conveyed by cables of copper wire, carried high in air and supported by parallel lines of wooden or steel poles, which may be seen at many points. Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association. — This association was formed Nov. 14, 1900, for the purpose of placing along the Niagara Frontier suitable monuments to commemorate historic events. It is composed of delegates from these 12 societies: Sons of the American Revolution, Sons of the Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Children of the American Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, Buffalo Historical Society, Society of the War of 1812, Niagara Frontier Historical Society (of Niagara Falls), Society of the Mayflower Descendants, Daughters of 1812, Men’s Club of Lewiston and Order of the Cincinnati. The officers from the beginning have been Trueman G. Avery, president; Mrs. John Miller Horton, vice-president; George D. Emerson, secretary; and Philip S. Smith, treasurer.

The first spot marked by the Association was the Griffon Shipyard, where on May 24, 1902, it unveiled with appropriate exercises a boulder and tablet presented by the Niagara Frontier Historical Society (See La Salle). Since then it has unveiled in similar manner tablets marking the site of the St. John House, at 460 Main st., the location of the battle of Black Rock, the scene of the Devil’s Hole Massacre in the Niagara Gorge, the site of Buffalo’s First School House, at Pearl and W. Swan sts. (See Schools, Public), the location of Col. Winfield Scott’s battery in the battle of Queenston Hights (See Lewiston), the site of Fort Tompkins, at Niagara and School sts., Buffalo, the site of the first Court Houses of Niagara and Erie counties, where the Buffalo Public Library now stands, a memorial stone to Capt. Hull and 9 American soldiers at Lundy’s Lane, the church edifice on the site of the present St. Paul’s Church and the site formerly occupied by the First Presbyterian Church (See Presbyterian Churches).

The Association publishd in 1906 an interesting record of its work during the first five years of its existence, prepared by its secretary, George D. Emerson. This record consists of accounts of the exercises at the various unveilings, the addresses given on those occasions, pictures of the tablets, portraits of Niagara Gorge.—This name denotes the canyon thru which the Niagara river rushes from the Falls to the towns of Lewiston and Queenston, 7 miles below. Its sides are cliffs of solid rock 200 feet high, and the river flows in continuous rapids, dashes high over projecting rocks, nearly all the way. No one who has traveld any distance to see the Falls should omit a ride the whole length of the Gorge. Three railway lines offer such a ride. The N. Y. Central has a line to Lewiston, running part of the way close enough to the edge of the Gorge so that the rapids below can be seen. The Niagara Gorge railroad (electric) runs from Niagara Falls, N. Y., thru the Gorge along the foot of the cliff, only a few feet above the water, to Lewiston. Fare 50c., with return the same way 75c. The Niagara Belt Line (electric) takes the passenger across the Upper Steel Arch bridge, up on the Canadian side to the Horseshoe Fall, then down the river along the top of the cliff to Queenston, across the bridge to Lewiston, and back on the American side over the tracks of the Gorge railroad along the foot of the cliff. Round trip fare $1. A description of the Belt Line trip will include the points of interest seen on the other two. This trip can be made in two hours, or a whole day can be devoted to it. Cars start every 15 minutes from Falls st., near the Soldiers’ Monument, and pass slowly across the bridge, affording an excellent view of the face of both falls and of the Maid of the Mist cruising in the gulf at their foot. A short distance above the bridge on the Canadian side is the first stopping place. Passengers are allowd to stop over at all stations to view the attractions near by and proceed by a later car. At this station is the CLIFTON INCLINE, which carries passengers down a slope to the foot of the cliff. Fare down and back 10c. There is also a roadway which is free.

The MAID OF THE MIST landing is at the foot of the Incline. This staunch little steamer cruises up one side of the river and down the other, passing slowly thru the boiling caldron at the foot of the Falls, where she is enveloped in the copious mist from the plunging waters. Fare, including use of waterproof coat, 50c. The steamer can be taken also at a landing in the Reservation on the American side. The first steamer of this name did not pay expenses. The owners had a chance to sell her if she could reach Lake Ontario, and the captain with an engineer and fireman took her thru the lower rapids. Only for a few moments in the Whirlpool during this perilous passage did the captain have any control over the wheel. In the rapids both above and below, the current was her only pilot, and good fortune alone saved her from being swamp or daht against the rocks.

After leaving the Clifton Incline station, the car enters QUEEN VICTORIA NIAGARA FALLS PARK, established by the Canadian government for the pleasure of visitors, like the Reservation on the New York side. It contains 164 acres and stretches along the bank of the river, both above and below the Falls. It is handsomely laid out and is beautified with ornamental shrubs and large beds of flowers. In the Administration Building, a picturesque structure of rubble masonry, is a restaurant where good food is supplied at moderate prices.

Three companies are converting some of the mighty force of Niagara into electric power on the Canadian side. The Ontario Power Co. has a group of buildings in the Park, just above the Administration Building. The plant of the Canadian Niagara Falls Power Co. is a little above the Horseshoe Fall, and above that is the power house of the Electrical Development Co. of Ontario.

HORSESHOE FALL.—The fall on the Canadian side was so named because of its contour, which was formerly quite a regular curve. But owing to the fact that a heavier volume of water pours over the middle of the fall than at the sides, the rock has been broken away there so that the curve has become an irregular acute angle. The width of the Fall is calculated as 3,010 feet, following its curve, and its height is 158 feet. Where there are two channels in the Niagara river, the international boundary line runs thru the middle of the deeper channel. This brings it thru the middle of the Horseshoe Fall, half of which is thus within the United States. About seven-eighths of the water going over the Falls pours over the Horseshoe Fall. From measurements taken since 1842, supplemented by estimates, it is believed that the Falls have receded during many centuries on an average of one foot a year. At this rate, the Fall 3,000 years ago, for there was only one then, was at the Upper Bridge, and it has taken 12,000 years to cut its way back the whole length of the Gorge.

TABLE ROCK SCENIC TUNNEL.—There was formerly a shelf of rock projecting some 50 feet over the Gorge, at the edge of the Horseshoe Fall, on the Canadian side, called Table Rock. It fell in 1853, and parts of it may still be seen at the water’s edge below. At this place there is now an elevator descending to a tunnel cut in the solid rock, in which visitors can go 100 feet behind the Fall and view the immense cataract in front of them. The charge for elevator fare, guide, and use of waterproof coat is 50c. The service is supervised by the superintendent of the Park.

Just above the Horseshoe Fall, nearly a mile from the Upper bridge, is a power house of the International Railway. Here the Belt Line car goes around a loop and returns past the bridge, then goes on down the Gorge. The car tracks continue southward to Chippawa, and close beside them, a little beyond the loop, is an office of the Canadian Niagara Falls Power Co., in a small wooden building, where tickets to visit the power plant are issued. On the bluff overlooking the river at this point can be seen a grey stone building. This is Loretto Convent or Academy conducted by the Ladies of Loretto. South of the convent stands the Hospice of Mt. Carmel, a hotel conducted under the direction of the Carmelite Fathers, and a small building near by is the Monastery of Mt. Carmel. These institutions are close to Falls View station, on the Michigan Central railroad, and are reached also by street cars from Niagara Falls, Ont.

On the river’s edge, beyond the plant of the Niagara Company, is that of the Electrical Development Co. of Ontario.

After the car goes around the loop, the seats on the right side afford the best view of the river during the rest of the trip. At the water’s edge on the American side, just below the bridge, a large stream of water will be noticed entering the river from a tunnel. This is the outlet for the water that has done its work in the plant of the Niagara Falls Power Co. Nearby a large number of jets and streams are seen issuing from outlets in the cliff, at various heights from the water’s edge up to 50 feet below the top. These come from the power plants of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power Co. or from the works of tenants on its lands, to whom it supplies power.

The car now increases its speed and soon passes under the two railroad bridges opposit the former village of Suspension Bridge. The river, which has been running deep and still from the foot of the Falls, here begins to leap and dash in the Whirlpool Rapids. About a mile below these bridges the Belt Line makes a half circle around the Whirlpool.

The WHIRLPOOL is an immense caldron in the Niagara Gorge at a place where the river has changed its course. The water pours into this caldron, circles around it and flows out, mainly by an under current, almost at a right angle with the channel by which it entered. There is a station at the Whirlpool, and here an elevator takes visitors down to the foot of the cliff. Charge 50c. The immense power of the swirling current is seen when a drifting log enters the Whirlpool. It circles part way around the great gulf, then is raised on end in the air and drawn beneath the surface as if it were a bamboo cane.

Half way around the Whirlpool, the car stops on a trestle crossing a gap in the wall of the Gorge. In prehistoric times, the river flowed thru this ravine, instead of thru its present channel below the Whirlpool, and reached L. Ontario on its old shore line at St. David’s, 3 miles west of Queenston.

Beyond the Whirlpool, the car continues along the top of the cliff, while far below the waters of the river leap and foam thru the Lower Rapids. Four miles below the Whirlpool is Queenston Hights and the end of the Gorge. Here the car stops to enable passengers to visit Brock’s Monument. From the heights the Belt Line passes to a lower level by a gradually descending loop, and then crosses the river by a suspension bridge—the only suspension bridge now spanning the Niagara river.

On the other side is Lewiston, and here the car traces another loop, returning under the end of the bridge. From this point the journey back to Niagara Falls is made over the Great Gorge railroad, affording a close view of the Rapids thruout their whole length. A short distance above Lewiston the car stops at the tablet commemorating the Devil’s Hole Massacre. Soon the vast Whirlpool is seen across the river and after enjoying the constantly changing ever exhilarating view on this part of the trip, the passenger does not wonder that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent to build this road and to repair the damages done each winter by frost and ice. Between the railroad bridges and the Hydraulic Power Plant, the car climbs out of the Gorge and then passes thru city streets to its starting point.

Niagara River.—Altho one of the most famous streams on the globe, this river is only 36 miles long. It forms the outlet of L. Erie and flows north to L. Ontario. The boundary between the United States and Canada runs thruout its length, following its deepest channel. Its width is a little less than half a mile at Buffalo, one mile just above the Falls, while at Foster’s Flats, below the Whirlpool, it narrows to one-sixteenth of a mile. Its descent from
L. Erie to the upper rapids, is 15 feet in 21 1/2 miles, in these rapids 55 feet in one-half mile, in the Falls 161 feet, in the lower rapids 98 feet in 7 miles, and from Lewiston to L. Ontario 7 feet in 7 miles. Above the Falls its average depth is 20 feet; from the foot of the Falls to near the cantilever bridge it is about 200 feet deep; in the Whirlpool Rapids it is only 40 feet, while the Whirlpool itself is estimated at 400 feet, and the lower river from Lewiston to its mouth flows placidly with a depth of over 100 feet.

Niagara University occupies a tract of over 300 acres in the township of Lewiston, overlooking the Niagara Gorge. The site is 250 feet above the river and for sublimity of scenery is unrivaled. Reached from Niagara Falls by street cars half-hourly. Its post office is Niagara University, N. Y.

The institution was founded in 1856, and is under the care of the Priests of the Congregation of the Mission, or Vincentians. It embraces an Academic or preparatory department, a Collegiate department, empowered by the University of the State of New York to confer degrees, and an Ecclesiastical department, for the training of candidates for the sacred ministry. The latter department—the Seminary of Our Lady of Angels—was the first established. Besides the four years course in arts, the college department gives a commercial and a scientific course, each of two years. The buildings are dignified and beautiful, and contain a dormitory, dining halls, well equipped scientific laboratories, and rooms for physical training, social meetings and recreation. The University library contains over 50,000 volumes. The total number of students is about 325. The president is the Very Rev. E. J. Walsh, C. M.

Nichols School.—The plans provide for such a school as is equalled by few in the country, and are the result of a desire on the part of many in Buffalo to have a school where boys may be taught how to study; where the necessary assistance is given not by the parent, but by the teacher; where character and health as well as studies are considered; where, in short, a boy’s time and thoughts are fixed with work and sport throughout the day, as in the best boarding schools, after which the boy returns home for the home associations which are an important part in his right development. To accomplish all this, the classes will be small, and the individual, not the class, will be the unit to be considered.

The buildings include a recitation building, containing laboratory, carpenter shop and lunch room, constructed on the most approved lines, where heating, lighting and ventilation have been given careful thought, and a gymnasium with a plunge, squash courts, running track and all the usual apparatus, under the constant supervision of the Gymnasium Instructor who examines every boy and directs his exercise.

Outside there are a quarter-mile running track, base ball and foot ball fields and several tennis courts, beside room for other outdoor games.

It is planned to fill a boy’s day from 9 a. m., when school begins, to 6 p. m., when all go home for dinner. The morning is occupied with recitation periods, then a hearty lunch served, after which there are study periods when the instructors help the boys with their most difficult studies, and above all teach them how to study, which is the important thing. Later come sports on the athletic field or in the gymnasium, in which each boy takes part according to his ability. The head master is Joseph Dana Allen, A. M.

Normal School.—The State Normal School in Buffalo occupies the block bounded by Jersey, 14th and York sts. and Normal av. and is reached by the Hoyt, Grant and Connecticut car lines. The main school building is a 3-story structure fronting on Jersey st. and in the rear of this is the science building. Tuition and the use of text-books are free to properly qualified residents of the State of New York. The school gives a regular normal course, a kindergarten course, and courses in industrial and domestic arts and sciences, each covering two years. Instruction in library work is also given. The total number of students is usually about 270.

The school library contains over 6,000 volumes, covering the wide range of thought with which the successful teacher must be in touch, and all the leading educational periodicals and monthly magazines are received. The school has a large auditorium, fitted with a stereopticon, in which lectures and entertainments are given for the students and their friends. In this hall also, general assemblies and social functions are held.

One of the city public schools, with grammar and primary grades and a kindergarten, and having nearly 400 pupils, is located in the normal school building and serves as a school of practice. All students in the normal course are required to teach 600 hours in this practice school under the supervision of a critic teacher. An ample school-garden is maintained in connection with nature study work.

The normal school is conducted by the educational department of the State, under the supervision of a local board of 7 members, of which Edward H. Butler is president. The principal of the school is Daniel Upton.

North Tonawanda.—This is a city of about 12,000 population on the Niagara river, 12 miles north of Buffalo. Reached by N. Y. Central, Erie or Lehigh railroad, fare 15c. round trip 25c.; also by Tonawanda, Niagara Falls, or Lockport electric cars, fare 17c., round trip 30c. It lies in Niagara county and is separated from Tonawanda, in Erie county, by the Erie canal. It has a national bank and two private banking houses, 17 churches, a daily newspaper, the Evening News, and a public library.

For information concerning its business activities, see Tonawanda.

Olcott Beach is a favorite summer resort on Lake Ontario north of Buffalo. It is owned and managed by the International Railway Co. and is reached by the cars of that company via Lockport every hour, and part of the day in summer every half hour. Fare, round trip $1; in summer, 75 cents. Running time, 1 hour 35 minutes. After descending the escarpment in the City of Locks to the lower lands bordering the lake, the cars speed thru some of the famous peach and apple orchards of Niagara county, in the villages of Wrights, Corwin, Newfane and Burt. Upon arrival at Olcott, the visitor passes thru the large station into Olcott Beach Park, which is in a pine grove on a bluff overlooking the lake. The shade of the majestic pine trees, together with the refreshing breezes from the lake, keep the place delightfully cool and enjoyable at all times. Merely to sit in the large swings moving gently under the shade of the pines is a rest and a pleasure. Near the station is an electric riding gallery with its organ, and here also is the starting point of a miniature steam railway that makes a circuit thru the grounds. At the farther end of the grove stands the Olcott Beach Hotel, one of the largest and most completely equiped houses to be found at any summer resort. It has over 100 rooms and suites, and is conducted on the European plan. Rates $1 a day and upwards. The dining room is on the main floor, overlooking the lake, and the table service is of the best. Numerous well appointed parlors and sitting and smoking rooms add greatly to the comfort of guests. A large band furnishes pleasing music and hops are given in the spacious casino every Wednesday and Saturday evening. A sandy beach runs the whole length of the park, at the foot of the bluff, affording excellent bathing. A stairway from the hotel office leads down to the floor below on the side toward the lake, where are the dressing rooms for bathers. Other water sports—fishing, canoeing and yachting—can be enjoyed here to the fullest extent. In the park also is the Old Log Cabin, erected in 1888 as a historical museum by the Pioneers’ Association of Niagara County. It is open only during meetings of the association.

One of the chief attractions of Olcott Beach is the open air theater, in which variety entertainments are given every afternoon and evening. Admission 10 cents, children 5 cents. Across the street is an annex to the park, comprising several acres, called the Rialto. Here are many popular amusements, such as a roller coaster, cave of the winds, bowling alleys, shooting gallery, fortune teller, Japanese bazaar, etc., etc.

Ontario Power Company of Niagara Falls.—This is the largest hydroelectric undertaking on either side of the river. Its works are rich in features of interest to the visitor, whether engineer or layman. The plant at present has a capacity of 75,000 H. P. in 7 units of the horizontal, twin turbine type. It is now (April, 1910) being extended to provide for 14 units having a total output of about 150,000 H. P. The works are designed and partly finished for an ultimate capacity of about 200,000 H. P. The water for the present development flows from the Headworks, which are on the Canadian shore at the Dufferin Islands, thru an 18-foot steel and concrete pipe over one mile long, placed underground, to a point just below Table Rock. A second condit of like size is approaching completion and a third will later be added. From the distributor or lower section of each condit the water drops thru 9-foot steel penstocks to the water wheels, the available head being 170 feet. The Power House is situated unobtrusively in the Gorge at the foot of the Canadian Falls.

The electric current, which is generated at 12,000 volts, is conducted thence thru cable tunnels under the surface of Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park up to the Distributing Station on the hill-top. Here a portion of the output is stepped up to 60,000 volts for distribution in the States of New York and Pennsylvania. The remainder is transmitted throughout the Niagara Peninsula at 12,000 volts, with the exception of that taken by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, at whose transformer station the voltage is increased to 110,000, for distribution throughout Southwestern Ontario.

The Generating and Distributing Stations are accessible to visitors thru the Entrance Building in the Park. All the Company’s buildings are of artistic design and, unlike most such works, enhance the scenic beauty of their environment. From the roof of the Distributing Station the view of the Falls, upper Rapids, and surrounding country is probably the most comprehensive and inspiring to be had anywhere in the neighborhood of the great cataract. Pamflets giving a full general and technical description of the works are furnisht at the Entrance Building upon application. The casual visitor is guided over the plant for a nominal charge of 50 cents, part of which defrays the cost of providing this service, the balance going to support a bed in the Niagara Falls General Hospital.

Orchard Beach is a delightful lake shore resort at North East, Pa., about 70 miles from Buffalo. Reached by cars of the Buffalo & L. Erie Traction Co., which owns the resort. Fare $1.40, round trip $2.60.

Orchard Park is a locality in the town of Hamburg, reached by electric cars.
Parks.—Buffalo has made generous provision for the rest and recreation of its residents in the open air. The park system of the city was organized about 1860, by an act of the State legislature authorizing the purchase of lands for this purpose and creating a board of commissioners to carry the act into effect. The Department of Parks is now administered by a board of 6 commissioners, one of whom is the mayor, ex officio, and the other 5 are appointed by him for terms of 5 years, so arranged that the term of one commissioner expires each year. The commissioners serve without salary. The board appoints a secretary, a superintendent and other employees. Its office is on the first floor of the city hall. Up to July 1, 1909, a total of 1,052 acres had been set apart for parks and smaller open spaces. Some of the parks are connected by parkways—wide boulevards bordered or centered by strips of greensward, with shade trees and clumps of shrubbery at intervals—besides which several avenues running to the parks have been designated as Park Approaches, and put in charge of the park department. The following is a list of the parks and minor places, several of which are described elsewhere:

CAZENOVIA, between Seneca st. and Abbott rd.; 106 acres.*

Penitentiary.—This is a county institution and is located at 5th and Pennsylvania sts. There are two principal buildings; the older one contains 500 cells and the newer one has about 300. Visitors are admitted on Thursday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Peoples Bank.—This institution stands very high in the esteem of the business men of Buffalo. To its known conservatism of management and the security so afforded is added a courtesy and progressive spirit, which, catering as the bank does to active business accounts, make it an ideal depository. The officers make a special effort to give to its customers their personal service, and cover completely the entire work of the bank in personal administration. This is greatly appreciated by the bank’s depositors, and it insures a more satisfactory handling of their business than can otherwise be obtained. The management also takes a great deal of interest in new enterprises located in Buffalo and endeavors to extend to those coming to the city every possible assistance to further their business. To those establishing new enterprises or organizing branches of old enterprises in this city, this is a feature of bank work which is very much appreciated. The officers, A. D. Bissell, president; C. R. Huntley, vice-president; E. J. Newell, cashier; Howard Bissell and C. G. Fell, assistant cashiers, are well known, and because of their long connection with the bank and the experience which it gives, are each one well fitted for the highest type of service. Conservatism, safety, courtesy and progressiveness are evidently the cardinal points in their scheme of management. Upon its board of directors are some of the most prominent citizens of Buffalo, and the bank refers with pride to this body of representative men who take a very active interest in the justly deserved reputation for excellence while the prices are moderate compared to rates elsewhere. Many travelers have their work done here, as they save from 25 to 50 per cent., having it forwarded afterward.

The proprietor, Mr. Frederick Pohle, will be very glad to receive visitors and show them the entire establishment without any obligation for them to purchase.

Pine Hill is just outside the eastern city limit and is the location of several cemeteries. It is reached by Genesee st. cars.

Playgrounds.—The city has established grounds where children may use their activities in healthful recreation, without the danger to themselves and to passers-by connected with playing in the streets. This outlet also removes the danger of pent-up energy finding vent in hood-

PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIO OF FREDERICK POHLE

Photography.—The art of photography is well represented in Buffalo, and one of the most interesting studios for the stranger to visit is located in the center of the business section—No. 9 W. Chippewa st.—just around the corner from Main.

Its large and commodious quarters are modern and artistic, there being about ten rooms, which include everything desirable in a studio—in fact it is superior to anything else in New York State. The portraits made here are marvels of artistic skill and are in keeping with the photograph.

Point Abino is a cottage resort on the Canadian shore of L. Erie, about two miles west of Crystal Beach. It has a station on the Grand Trunk railroad and a large launch also brings passengers to and from the Crystal Beach steamers. The Point Abino Yacht Club, composed of summer residents, has a club house on the Point.

Police Department.—This department is conducted by the Board of Police, comprising the Mayor ex officio, who is president of the board, and two commissioners appointed by the mayor for terms of 6 years. The appointed commissioners must not belong to the same political party. The board appoints the superintendent of police and other officers of the department and the patrolmen. The office of the board is in the Headquarters building.

The superintendent is the commanding officer of the uniformed force and is in charge of the headquarters of the department, which are in the building standing on a triangle bounded by Franklin and W. Seneca sts. and the Terrace. The present superintendent is Michael Regan.

The city is divided into 14 precincts, each having a station house occupied by a detachment of the force. The following are the locations of the police stations:

The total number of persons in the department is 814, comprising 3 inspectors, 14 captains, 89 sergeants, 633 patrolmen, 21 patrol wagon drivers and various other officers and employees.

The small steamer Grover Cleveland belongs to this department and is used for patrolling the harbor.

There is a police pension fund, amounting to something over 150,000, which receives the money from dog licenses, pistol permits, rewards, part of the liquor tax and some other sources.

seer of the Poor is elected by the people for a term of 4 years. He has charge of all expenditures of city money for the relief of the poor, and except in emergencies he is required to investigate all applications before giving aid. The relief given may consist of orders for fuel, provisions or medicines and medical treatment at the homes of the sick poor or in hospitals. The present overseer is Louis J. Kengott and his office is at 44 W. Swan st.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., is a port on L. Ontario at the northern end of the Welland canal. It has shipbuilding and other industries. Population 1,125, in 1901. Reached by Grand Trunk railroad or by Niagara and St. Catherine’s electric cars.

Post Office.—The general post office occupies the ground floor of the Federal Building at Ellicott and E.
Swan sts. There are entrances on all four sides of the building. The divisions of the office most visited by the public open from a corridor, which runs around three sides. The large working room in the central part of this floor, where mail matter is sorted and delivered or dispatched, measures 117 by 184 feet.

The General Delivery windows for men and for women face the western or main entrance. They are open the whole 24 hours of every day. Next to the left is the Information and Weighing window, which is open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. Beyond this are the drop boxes for depositing out-going mail, which are accessible at all times. Opposite the drop boxes, on the outer side of the corridor, is the Money Order division, where orders are issued from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and orders are paid from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. It is not open on Sunday or holidays.
Around the corner on the north side of the building, and also on the outer side of the corridor, are the Stamp Division, open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m., Sunday and holidays from 9 a. m. to 12 m., the Cashier’s office and the Registry division, the latter open from 8 a. m. to 11 p. m., Sunday and holidays from 10 to 11.30
a. m.

To the right from the General Delivery windows is the Advertised Mail window, next is the Box division window and then come the 1,000 lock boxes, extending around the corner and down the greater part of the south side of the office. Oppos-
It where the boxes begin, on the outer side of the corridor, is the Inquiry division, open from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. In the southwest corner of the building are the offices of the Postmaster, his Secretary and the Assistant Postmaster, and around on the south side are the rooms of the Supt. of Mails and the Supt. of Decivery. On the south corridor, beyond the main section of lock boxes, is a row of carriers’ windows, where persons who have their mail delivered by carrier on week days can call for it on Sunday, between 10 and 11.30

a. m.

Mail in bulk is receivd and dispatched at the eastern entrance opening upon a drive-way that runs from Swan to S. Division st.

There are stations of the Buffalo post office, at which mail is sorted and sent out for delivery by carriers, and both domestic and international money orders are issued, at the following locations:

Presbyterian Churches.—The Presbyterian denomination was the first to have a society in Buffalo. Formed
The present home of the First Church faces on The Circle, between Pennsylvania and Wadsworth sts. It was built in 1890, of Medina sandstone, and may be recognized from a distance by its tall square tower.

Public Works, Department of.—About one-third of the current disbursements of the city is made thru this department. At its head is a commissioner elected for a term of 4 years. The work of the department is divided among 4 bureaus, each in charge of a deputy commissioner appointed by the Commissioner of Public Works. These are the Bureau of Engineering, the Water Bureau, the Bureau of Building and Bureau of Streets, which are described separately. The present commissioner is Francis G. Ward.

Queenston, Ont., is a town on the Canadian side of the Niagara river, at the lower end of the Gorge. Reached by Michigan Central railroad or by Niagara Belt line electric cars. Steamers from Toronto come up the river to this point. Here and on the hights south of the town; a battle was fought in the War of 1812. (See Brock's Monument.)
Railroads.—Owing to its position at the chief eastern terminus of Great Lakes navigation, and to its large number of factories, which draw in vast quantities of raw materials and distribute a corresponding volume of finished products, Buffalo has become one of the most important railroad centers in America. So much rolling stock is required to transport the freight and passengers that enter and leave the city that several of the companies have found it advisable to establish large shops for building and repairing cars and locomotives in the near vicinity.

The roads entering Buffalo are so grooved by community of interest that four passenger depots accommodate them all, and they also combine in the use of freight depots. The passenger depots are the Central on Exchange st. near Ellicott st., the Erie at Exchange and Michigan sts., the Lackawanna at the foot of Main st., and the Lehigh on Washington st. below Exchange st. Each road has a city ticket office in addition to the one in the depot, and some western roads connecting with those that enter Buffalo also have a ticket agency here. The following list gives the passenger depot of each road, the location of its city ticket office, and the location of its freight depot. (See also Street Railways.)

Reservoir.—The high service reservoir, occupying the large block bounded by Dodge, Jefferson, Best and Masten sts., was completed in 1894. It has an area of 20.2 acres, and when filled to a depth of 30 feet contains 110,213,827 gallons, and the surface of the water is 113 feet above the surface of the Niagara river at the Inlet pier. Its name is the Prospect Reservoir.

Riverside Park, containing 22 acres, lies on a bluff at the extreme northwest corner of the city, being separated from the Niagara river by Niagara st. and the Erie canal. It is a favorite place for picnics of families and societies. This park has a dancing pavilion, where band concerts are given, a shelter house and a wading pool about 200 feet long and 20 feet wide. Reached by Niagara-O‘Neill st. cars.

Roycroft Shop.—The most original and interesting industrial establishment in this vicinity, and doubtless in the whole country, is the shop of The Roycrofters, at East Aurora. It was started in 1896, when Elbert Hubbard bought the local printing office and began publishing his own writings. Other departments have been added, until now the Shop does a large printing and publishing business, which includes issuing 3 magazines—Little Journeys, The Philistine and The Fra—it produces fine bookbindings in many styles, hand illuminated books, articles of modeled leather, furniture of simple, artistic design, ornamental copper and iron work, and articles in clay and terra cotta. The Roycroft Shop and belongings represent an investment of about $300,000 and there are over 300 persons on its pay-roll. Several of the buildings have been constructed of field stones, collected from surrounding farms, and their picturesque is in keeping with the spirit of the whole enterprise. Mr. Hubbard has built up a large and successful business in a country village, using the talent and materials that were at hand. At the Roycroft Shop, country boys and girls have been given work at which they can earn their living and get an education while doing it. Men and women who have come to the Shop have been given a chance to do such work as they could do best, the workers in the several departments being taught and directed by able lieutenants, whom Mr. Hubbard has drawn around him. The Roycrofters have many opportunities for improvement, not the least of which is seeing and meeting talented visitors and hearing some speak and others discourse music. About 25,000 persons visit the Shop each year, representing every State and Territory in the Union and every civilized country in the world.

Under East Aurora the Roycroft Inn is described.
Safe Deposit Vaults.—Four companies in Buffalo provide fire-proof and burglar-proof vaults for the storage of valuables. Boxes of different sizes, for papers and small articles, are rented for $5 a year and upward, and storage vaults are also provided for chests, pictures, etc. The companies are:

BUFFALO LOAN, TRUST AND SAFE DEPOSIT CO., 449 Main st. MANUFACTURERS AND TRADERS BANK, 270-72 Main st.* MARINE BANK, 220 Main st. SECURITY SAFE DEPOSIT CO., 1 Ellicott Square.*

St. Catharines, Ont.—A city and county seat on the Welland canal, 12 miles northwest of Niagara Falls. Reached from Niagara Falls, N. Y., by Grand Trunk railroad or by electric cars. It is celebrated for its mineral springs. The Bishop Ridley College is located here, and it has extensive shipyards, factories and machine shops. Population 9,946 in 1901.

St. John House.—Only two houses within the present extent of the city of Buffalo escaped destruction by the British and Indians in their retaliatory raid of Dec. 30, 1813. One of these was several miles north of the then existing village and the other stood on part of the site now occupied by the H. A. Meldrum Co., 460-70 Main st. The latter was occupied at the time by the widow and children of Gamaliel St. John and its location has been marked with a tablet bearing this inscription:

"The site of the St. John house, the only dwelling spared by the British at the burning of Buffalo, Dec. 30-31, 1813. Erected by the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, 1902."

St. Joseph's Cathedral, with the adjoining Rectory and Chapel-of-Ease, occupies nearly half of the block bounded by Church, Franklin and Swan sts. and the Terrace. It is a grey stone Gothic structure of beautiful proportions, and is considered the masterwork of its architect, Patrick C. Keeley, a disciple of the famous Pugin.

The Cathedral was begun in 1851, dedicated in 1855, and consecrated in 1863. The north tower is still unfinished. The south tower contains the remarkable carillon of forty-three bells made by Bollee & Son of Mans, France, and exhibited by them at the Paris Exposition of 1866, where they were purchased by the Rt. Rev. John Timon, first Bishop of Buffalo. It is the largest carillon in America and the third largest in the world. The bells are operated by an electrical apparatus installed by H. A. Wende of this city, the keyboard being placed in the Rectory.

The magnificent "Centennial" organ, built by Hook & Hastings for the Philadelphia Exposition in 1876, was purchased for, and erected in the Cathedral in 1877.

The fine sanctuary windows came from Munich and were the gift of a member of the Royal family of Bavaria. The remaining windows produced by the Tyrolean Art Glass Co. of Innsbruch, are so well developed in every detail that a study of them alone would sufficiently compensate a visit.

Underneath the altar in the north transept is the entire body of one of the child-martyrs of the second century, preserved in wax. On request of Bishop Timon, in the year 1859, Cardinal Fransoni sent the precious relic together with the original slab found in the Catacombs, to the Cathedral of Buffalo. The slab reads: "D. P. PEREGRIN. ES XII. KAL MARTIAS. Q VIXIT M G", which means the record of death of a child, a stranger or unknown by name to the Christians who buried it, and about six months old.

The great boss at the junction of the groinings of nave, transept and sanctuary, bearing the impression of the implements of the Crucifixion, contains a relic of the true Cross. Beneath the altar of St. Anthony, in the south transept, is a representation of Christ in the Holy Sepulchre.

Divine Service is held in the Cathedral at 6, 8, 9.15 and 10.30 a.m., and at 3.30 and 7.30 p.m. on Sunday; at 6 and 9.30 a.m. on holy-days, also at 7.30 p.m. on the first Friday of every month and Tuesday evenings throughout the year. On the great feasts of the Church the ceremonies are very carefully and fully carried out. The Cathedral celebrated its Golden Jubilee in 1905.

St. Joseph’s Collegiate Institute.—1238 Main st., Buffalo, is a select day and boarding school conducted by the Brothers of the Christian Schools. This institution was founded in 1861, and incorporated by the Regents of the State of New York. It is centrally situated in one of the most select locations of the city of Buffalo, and is easy of access from all parts of the city.

The institute consists of three departments — academic, commercial and preparatory. Students completing the academic course are admitted without further examination to the State normal colleges, to the study of law, medicine, dentistry, engineering, and to the college classes of the various universities of this and other States, where Regents’ credentials are honored. The commercial course will adequately equip any young man for the highest positions in commercial enterprises. The course may be completed in four years. The graduates have little difficulty in finding employment, as applications are frequently made to the institute. Boys who desire to prepare for the academic or commercial departments are received into the preparatory department.

It is the aim of the Christian Brothers to form the characters of their pupils, and to give them such a thorough Christian and liberal training as will fit them for the practical duties of life. A strict account is taken of all class work and reports are rendered weekly. Reports are read before the professors and students, and are commented upon by the director. A quarterly report of the work and standing of each student is sent to his parents. The first term begins on the first Tuesday of September and ends January 31st. The second begins February 1st and ends on Tuesday in the fourth week of June. The entrance examinations take place on the Monday preceding the day of opening.

The institute has accommodations for a limited number of boarders.

St. Paul’s Church.—Standing in the business center of the city, like old Trinity in New York, is St. Paul’s Church, the pro-cathedral of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Western New York. It was built in 1850 and occupies a triangular lot bounded by Church, Erie and Pearl sts. Its material is red sandstone, which is dark end by the floating dust and soot of the air. The architecture is early English gothic, and it is considered to be one of the finest examples of that style in America. The spire rises above the western entrance to a height of 266 feet. St. Paul’s has a chime of 10 bells, cast in 1856, which are rung every day at noon. The organ, presented to the church in 1908 by Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hutchinson, was built by Hope-Jones and is a wonderful instrument.

On the north side of the edifice is a tablet bearing this inscription: “Upon this site was built in 1819 Saint Paul’s Episcopal Church, the first permanent church edifice erected in Buffalo. It was removed in 1850 to make room for the present stone church.

This site was given by the Holland Land Company to Saint Paul’s Church, and was the first land owned in Buffalo by a religious organization.

Erected by the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association, 1907.”

Five services are held at St. Paul’s on Sunday, a noon-day service weekdays and one at 11 a. m. on Thursdays and holy days. Opposite the church at 128 Pearl st., is the Parish House, used for meetings of societies and clubs of the parish, for social gatherings, industrial classes, etc. It stands on the site of the rectory which was the home of Dr. William Shelton, rector of St. Paul's from 1829 to 1881. There is a very full and carefully written History of St. Paul's Church, by Charles W. Evans, continued by Dr. and Mrs. G. Hunter Bartlett.

St. Vincent's Technical School,

1313 Main st., Buffalo, has for its purpose to give girls who are over 15 the opportunity of training in the various trades open for women, which will enable them to enter the industrial field with enough skill and intelligence to insure success. It is conducted by the Sisters of Charity.

The curriculum of the school comprises plain and fancy sewing, embroidery, dressmaking, millinery, domestic science and a commercial course. The time covering any one of the branches depends entirely on the ability of the pupil. Each respective course is finished with a medal and a diploma.

Every attention is given to sanitary regulations, of which the good health of the pupils is the proof. The pupils enjoy the advantages of a gymnasium and a library.

Realizing that the chief education of woman is that which fits her for the duties and responsibilities of her God-appointed place in society, the institution gives special attention to the moral and intellectual training of the young girls placed in the school.

Orders are received for dressmaking, bridal trousseaus, embroidery, and millinery, and patrons may be sure of fine needlework and careful fitting at moderate prices.

Scajaquada Creek enters the city from the east, a little south of the line of Ferry st., runs in a general northwest direction across the city and joins the Niagara river opposite Squaw Island. It passes thru Forest Lawn Cemetery and Delaware Park, and has been made to add attractiveness to the landscape in both of those enclosures.

Schlosser's Landing, on the Niagara river in the southeastern part of the present city of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was the upper end of the portage around the Falls and rapids established by the French in colonial times. After Canada and the banks of the Niagara river came under the control of the British, they improved the portage and built Fort Schlosser at this point, in 1760. No trace of the fort remains.

School Examiners.— There is a board of 5 School Examiners, appointed by the mayor for terms of 5 years, which holds all the examinations of applicants for positions as teachers in the city schools. Those who pass one of these examinations are put on an eligible list, from which the superintendent makes the appointments. The members of the board also inspect the public schools and report upon their condition to the Common Council.

Schools, Parochial.—There are 64 parochial schools in Buffalo, attached to Catholic, Evangelical and Hebrew churches, and having a total enrollment of about 23,000 pupils.

Schools, Private.—A well-balanced mental, moral and physical training—not a thin veneer of knowledge and accomplishments—is the aim of the private schools of Buffalo. Their pupils receive more individual attention than is possible in a public school of 500 to 1,000 pupils, and their results are tested each year by the successful entrance of many of their graduates into the best colleges in the land. A list follows:

Schools, Public.—The public schools of Buffalo compare well in efficiency with those of any other city in the United States. In them the pupil may pass from the kindergarten up thru the primary and grammar grades to the high school classes, which prepare for business, for the general affairs of life or for entrance to the best colleges in this country. The first school house built in Buffalo stood at Pearl and W.
Swan sts., where the Dun Bldg. now stands, and its location has been market by a tablet with this inscription:

"On this site was Buffalo's first school house, built 1807-8, destroyed Dec. 30, 1813, at the burning of the village by the British.

From a gift by Barnabas H. Brennan, a fund of about $20,000 was established in 1871, named in honor of Jesse Ketchum, the income of which provides gold and silver medals for the highest ranking pupils each year in the highest two grades of each grammar school, in each high school and in the State Normal School in Buffalo. The names of the winners are announced at the graduating exercises of the several schools in June, and the medals are presented publicly in September.

During the winter months two evening high schools and ten evening elementary schools are carried on and several vacation schools of elementary grade are open during part of the summer vacation.

Security Safe Deposit Company.—
This Company occupies one fourth of the basement of Ellicott Square where it was established in November, 1900, taking as its field the business of safeguarding valuables.

Three distinct departments combine to make the institution one of the most interesting in or near Buffalo.

The Safe Deposit department is conducted in the largest or so called "Main Vault," which has a capacity of 500 individual safes, ranging in rental value from $5 to $150 per year, according to size.

Four vaults are artificially refrigerated for Cold Storage of furs, rugs, etc., and an average temperature of 18° F. is maintained throughout the year. An expert furrier is in charge of all articles deposited in this department, which is a guarantee that they will be properly cared for.

Storage of silver, pictures, books, bric-a-brac and other valuables constitutes another department, which is cared for in two vaults especially designed and constructed for the purpose.

Numerous small rooms, equipped with every facility for conducting private business, are devoted exclusively to the uses of customers.

The beauty of the decorations and furnishings deserves special mention, for in spite of the massive steel doors and other evidences of strength and security necessary to an institution of this character, there prevails throughout a blending of tone and color that is soft and enrich by the lighting effects that complete a unit of harmony. The vaults are reached by both elevator and stairs, and visitors are welcome.

The capital stock of the Company is $150,000. Following is a list of the officers and directors: President, George R. Teller; Vice-President, Seeing Buffalo.—In order to see the places of interest in a large city satisfactorily, the visitor needs a conveyance and a guide. Both of these are supplied in Buffalo by lines of large motor cars that run from Main and Swan or Main and Niagara sts., each in charge of a well posted conductor, who points out the interesting buildings and localities in passing. The charge for each passenger is 50¢; time of trip about two hours.

Within a stone's throw of the starting point are several notable structures—on the west side of Main st. stand two modern office buildings, the White Building and the Fidelity Building, while opposit them is the rectangular Ellicott Square, an office building covering a whole block. Near by are St. Paul's church (P. E.) and the Erie County Bank Building, occupying triangles on the west side of Shelton sq. Across the street west of St. Paul’s rises the lofty dark red Prudential Building, in the top of which is the local Weather Bureau office, and west of the Erie County Bank Building is the D. S. Morgan Building, with its conspicuous lookout tower. Going up Main st., the car passes large department stores, hotels, banks and office buildings. Two blocks above Shelton sq., on the right, is Lafayette Square—a small park, in which stands the Soldiers' Monument, and across it can be seen the Public Library and the Lafayette Hotel. Looking down Court st., on the left, the McKinley Monument is in plain view. Two blocks further on, where three streets cross, stands the broad domed granite Buffalo Savings Bank, and in the middle of the second block above that is the Invalid’s Home, Dr. R. V. Piercee's hospital. A little beyond, occupying two corners, on the left, are the Teck theater and St. Louis Catholic church, while between them may be seen, one block down Edward st., the round brick tower of the Grosvenor Library. In High st., on the right, is the medical department building of the University of Buffalo, and on the same grounds, but fronting on the next street, is the building of the dental department. Turning into North st., the car passes a succession of fine residences and churches among which rises the lofty Lenox Hotel, and from The Circle continues on Porter av past Holy Angels' church and D’Youville college. Next comes Prospect Place, a small park, at the north end of which stands the armory of the 74th Regiment. At the foot of Porter av. is the park called The Front, overlooking the Niagara river, and north of this is Fort Porter, where U. S. troops are constantly stationed, beyond which is the Pumping Station of the city water works. Passing thru Massachusetts and Richmond avs., the car reaches Lincoln Parkway, from which a view of the State Hospital for the insane may be had, and then enters Delaware Park. Here the things of interest, in addition to the beauties of nature, are the Albright Art Gallery, the Historical Society's building, the statue of David, the bust of Mozart, the McMillan Memorial Fountain and the Zoological Garden.

The return down town takes us past the beautiful Forest Lawn cemetery and down Delaware av., past many handsome residences, club-houses and churches, including several buildings of historic interest. Among these is the Milburn house, No. 1178, in which President McKinley died, the Wilcox house, No. 641, where President Roosevelt first took the oath of office, the "cottage" of Dr. Johnson, first Mayor of Buffalo, at the corner of Johnson pk., and the last residence of President Fillmore, now part of the Castle Inn.

We have now reached Niagara Square, in the center of which stands the lofty McKinley monument. Making a half circle around the square, we can see the Y. M. C. A. building, one block up Genesee st., the Central High School on the east side of the square, the Wilkeson house, dating from 1824, on the west side and the Women's Union on the south side. Turning into Niagara st., we see on the left the Masonic Temple and standing back to back with it is the Mutual Life building, fronting on Pearl st. Going down Franklin st. we pass the City and County Hall, an edifice of truly majestic beauty, the Municipal Building, St. Joseph's Cathedral (Catholic) and Police Headquarters. Coming out thru Seneca st. and turning up Main st., the tall white Chamber of Commerce building attracts the eye, and several of the city's handsome and substantial bank buildings are past in reaching our starting point.

After getting a general view of the city in this way, visitors can go in a public carriage or automobile, or by street car, to the places that interest them most, and spend as much time as they wish to at each one.

Outside of the district covered by the motor cars, similar trips may be made by street cars, as follows:

ROUTE NO. 1.—Take a Niagara st. car and get a transfer to Hertel av. Niagara st. is one of the old residence streets of Buffalo, and many of its spacious dwellings are still standing, sandwich between factories and small stores. Most of these dwellings on the lower part of the street have been converted into boarding houses or public institutions, but others, especially in the Prospect Hill section, are still occupied by private families. The large factories begin at about Maryland st. and among their products are wall paper, lithographs, aluminum castings, parts of automobiles and entire cars, paper boxes, tools, engines, gasolene motors, pianos, and acetylene generators. At intervals along the street we see also large malt houses, breweries and lumber yards. Lying on both sides of the street, from Connecticut st. to Vermont st., is Prospect Place and looking across the greensward on the right, we see the buildings of D'Youville college. On the north side of Vermont st. stands the massive 74th Regiment Armory. At the junction of Niagara st. and Front av., is a range light maine'd by the U. S. Lighthouse Bureau. Here also is a power station of the International Railway Co., where electric cables cross the river between high towers and on one of the buildings is the tablet marking the site of Fort Tompkins. Above Ferry st., on the left, is the factory of the E. R. Thomas Motor Co. and on the same side, stretching from Forest av. to Bird av., is the extensive plant of the N. Y. Car Wheel Co. The car next crosses the bridge on which is the tablet commemorating the battle of Black Rock. At the junction of Tonawanda st., Niagara st. bears to the northwest and then passes under two railroad bridges.

Up to this point the Niagara Falls branch of the N. Y. Central railroad and the Erie canal have run parallel between Niagara st. and the river, both crosst by frequent bridges. The railroad now leaves the river by the first of the two bridges over Niagara st. and the second bridge is the approach to the International bridge, crossing the river. A short distance beyond, the car turns into Hertel av. and at the corner of Tonawanda st. passengers change for the Hertel av. car.

We are now about 4 miles from the City Hall and on this car we ride for something over a mile to Elmwood av., passing on the way the great plants of the American Radiator Co., the John Kam Malting Co., the F. F. Dalley Co., making the 2 in 1 shoe polish, and the Standard Foundry Co.

Taking the Elmwood av. car for the return down town, we see an automobile truck factory on the corner and soon pass the factories of the Century Telephone Construction Co. and the Sherwood Manufacturing Co., makers of brass fittings. Opposite is another big plant of the American Radiator Co., and that of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., makers of the famous motor cars and Pierce bicycles. The latter is one of the most modern and attractive of the great manufacturing plants of Buffalo. We soon leave the factory district and pass between Delaware Park on the left, in which stand the Historical Society building and the Albright Art Gallery, and the extensive grounds of the State Hospital, with its group of fine buildings, on the right. For nearly two miles, from Forest av. to North st., the car runs thru the Elmwood district of modern homes and stately churches. Two blocks below North st., at the corner of Virginia, is Convention Hall and opposit is the Buffalo Orphan Asylum. We have now reached the down town district, in which the points of interest have been already mentiond.

ROUTE No. 2—Take a Main st.-City Line car and get a transfer to Hertel av. Main st. below North has been described under the route of the motor cars. Between North and Utica st. the buildings of interest are the Holy Trinity Lutheran church on the left and Notre Dame de Lourdes (French Catholic) church on the right. At a distance on the right can be seen the Masten Park high school. Beyond these churches are St. Joseph's Collegiate Institute with its Alumni Hall, on the left, office building of the Maccabees and the Frontier Hospital, with its red cross emblem, on the right. About half a mile above Utica st. is the Buffalo Hospital, conducted by the Sisters of Charity, on the south side of E. Delavan av. On the north side of this avenue is Carnival Court, a favorit place of summer amusement, and on the west side of Main st. is the handsome gateway of Forest Lawn cemetery. A short distance further and we come to Mount St. Joseph's Academy, on the left, at the corner of Humboldt pky. and immediately beyond the Parkway we pass in quick succession the Providence Retreat, the Marine Hospital and Le Couteulx St. Mary's Deaf and Dumb Institution. Above Jewett av., one block east of Main st., can be seen the lithografic works of the Graphic Arts Co. We now cross a bridge over the deprest tracks of the Belt Line railroad and shortly pass the Strong Steel Foundry and the elevated demonstration line of the Automatic Transportation Co. We now leave the car at Hertel av. and see a little beyond, on the right, a long stone building, which is a veneer factory.

On the Hertel av. car, we have on our left the modern residence dis-district, known as Central Park, while on our right is a prairie-like stretch of open country, over which the breezes sweep, broken only by an occasional dwelling. For three miles we speed due west, crossing at intervals Parkside av., Delaware av. and Elmwood av. and come to the Military Road, where we leave the car. Part of this ride has been described in Route No. 1.

At this corner we can take one of the fast Niagara Falls cars for the ride down town, but as this soon turns into Route No. 1, let us, for the sake of variety, take a Grant st. ear. Within a few blocks we cross the Belt Line tracks and pass the Acme Steel and Iron Works, the United Evangelical Cemetery, and the D. H. Stoll Co.’s machine works. We then cross Scajaquada creek and soon pass the Frontier Iron Works, at the corner of Letchworth st. For a considerable distance the car passes thru a district of small dwellings and stores. Further down is the State Normal School, with its grounds extending from York to Jersey st., and after passing this we are quickly down town.

ROUTE No. 3.—Take a Steel Plant car at Washington and Clinton sts., which passes by the rear of the Federal Building, on Oak st., then turns down E. Swan st., goes thru the freight house of the Buffalo & L. Erie Traction Co. and then climbs the long Louisiana st. viaduct over the broad belt of tracks of the Erie and Central railroads. Continuing past large boiler works and lumber yards, the car skirts the Ohio Basin, in which freight steamers lie at their wharves. The extensive factories of the Barcalo Manufacturing Co., makers of brass and iron beds, and the Republic Metal Ware Co. are seen on the left, while gigantic grain elevators rise above all other structures near-by. Crossing the Buffalo river by a draw-bridge, we see on the left the extensive works of the Buffalo Union Furnace Co. Crossing the City Ship canal, we turn southward on the Hamburg Turnpike and have a delightful ride of nearly two miles along the shore of the lake, with nothing to obstruct the view over the water. Looking ahead we see the works of the Buffalo and Susquehanna Steel Co., to the left, with a private canal giving freighters access to it from the lake, and to the right the immense plant of the Lackawanna Steel Co.

After passing the city line, we pay another 5c. fare and get a transfer to the Ridge Road, which is soon reached. Here we get a car for South Park, which takes us past the Moses Taylor hospital, built and supported by the Lackawanna Steel Co. for its employees, the Limestone Hill group of small cemeteries and the office of the mayor and other officials of the little city of Lackawanna. Leaving the car at S. Park av., we can visit St. John Protectory for boys, the orphan asylum of Our Lady of Victory, Holy Cross Cemetery and South Park, all of which are within a few steps of the corner. In the park is an immense conservatory, containing a wonderful collection of domestic and tropical plants, and during the summer months large plantings can be seen in the open ground.

Next we take an Abbott or Fillmore car and get a Cazenovia transfer. The ride up S. Park av. gives us a view of the level South Buffalo district of small homes. Changing cars at Abbott rd., we have a short ride out to Cazenovia Park—a pleasant spot that is being steadily improved. Leaving the park on the northern side, a short walk brings us to Seneca st., and we can then walk three or four blocks on Buffalo st. and take a look at the old Indian Mission house, standing corner-wise to the street, and the site of the Indian cemetery opposit.

Returning to Seneca st., we take a Seneca st. car going west and get a Fillmore av. transfer. Approaching the Buffalo river, we see, a short distance away on the right, the extensive Snow Steam Pump Works and near it the large packing house of the H. A. Kamman Co. After crossing the river, we pass near the Buffalo Pottery, where high grades of ware are turned out, and the great hardwood lumber yards of Blakeslee, Perrin & Darling and the Buffalo Hardwood Lumber Co.

Changing cars at the corner of Fillmore av., we soon pass the Arctic Cold Storage warehouse and the Niagara Car Wheel Works, on the right, and the large packing house of the J. Dold Packing Co., on the left, at the corner of William st. On the next corner stands St. Stanislaus’ Catholic church, raising its beautiful twin stone towers high in air, and at Broadway the car stops between a branch of the Union Stock Yards bank, on the left, and the department store of Weisseman & Eiss, on the right. We soon reach Humboldt park and ride half around it, leaving the car where it turns into Fillmore av. again.

After taking a look at the park, we come out on the south side and take a Best st. car going west, getting a transfer to any connecting line, if desired. Within a few blocks we pass the German R. C. Orphan Asylum, one block-away on the right, the Home of the Good Shepherd, in large enclosed grounds on the left, the Gerhard Lang brewery, and the prospect Reservoir on the right, the 65th Regt. Armory opposit the reservoir and the Masten Park high school in the next block. Turning down Elm st., the car takes us past the buildings of the Buffalo General Hospital on Goodrich st. and High st. and we see also on High st. the brewery of the Consumers’ Brewing Co. Further down, Elm st. passes thru a district of planing mills, small factories and stores.

Shredded Wheat Co.—There is nothing more fascinating than to see how things are made, but very few manufacturers admit visitors to their plants, either from the real or fancied danger that the visitor will be injured by machinery, will learn trade secrets or distract the attention of the way of employees. The Shredded Wheat Co., of Niagara Falls, however, earns the gratitude of 100,000 visitors a year, by receiving them pleasantly and showing them thru its great cheerful factory, from roof to basement. The building is of yellow brick, 463 feet long, with six floors, and an electric sign on the roof proclaims it, in letters six feet high, “The Home of Shredded Wheat. Visitors Welcome.” There are 1,400 incandescent lights in this sign. The location of the plant is on Buffalo av., running from Fourth to Sixth st., and overlooking the Niagara river, just above the Rapids. It is less than half a mile from the Soldiers’ Monument, and can be reached by Power Plant cars to Sixth st. The total cost of the plant and its equipment was two million dollars.

Visitors are taken thru the building by guides, who explain every process in the making of the famous Shredded Wheat biscuits, from cleansing the grain to nailing up the cases by machinery. The liberal provisions made by the company for the health, comfort, and recreation of its 500 employees are also shown. The building is finisht in white enamel.
and hardwood, the windows are large, numerous, and double glazed and every possible provision for light, air, and cleanliness is made. There is an auditorium seating 1,000, where free entertainments are given to the employees. Charitable societies are allowed to use it to raise funds for their work and conventions are sometimes held there. Every day 2,500 bushels of wheat are used in making the natural food products. Every day a million and a half Shredded Wheat Biscuit are turned out, also more than three hundred thousand Triscuit, and the company has recently begun making Choconel, a cereal food of wheat flavored with chocolate.

About thirty-five minutes are required to go thru the building, and after inhaling the aroma from the trays of crisp delicately brown biscuit fresh from the ovens, the visitor is glad to accept an invitation to a daytime demonstration lunch served at tables in the reception room on the ground floor. All is free. The machinery is not in operation between 12 and 1, so visitors should plan to come at other hours.

Silk Stores, see Miller's Silk Shop.

Silver Creek is a village on the shore of L. Erie, 32 miles southwest of Buffalo. Reached by Lake Shore, Pennsylvania or N. Y., Chicago & St. Louis railroad; fare 82c., round trip $1.55. Also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars; fare 65c., round trip $1.10.

Sloan is a factory village adjoining Buffalo on the east. It is reached by the Lackawanna railroad, which has car shops here, close to its East Buffalo station; also by Lancaster or William st. electric cars.

Societies.—The number of societies in Buffalo organized for social, benevolent, literary, patriotic, commercial and other purposes is legion. A very satisfactory list will be found in the city directory, occupying 29 pages.

South Park is at the extreme southern end of the city and is reached by Abbott, Jefferson st. or Buffalo & L. Erie cars. It contains 155 acres, of which about 30 acres is occupied by a lake. This is a comparatively new park, and its shade trees are not fully grown. Its chief attraction is a botanical conservatory containing a wonderful variety of plants, which is well worth visiting. It is open Sundays. Part of the park is planted also as a botanical garden.

Stationery, see Vosburgh & Whiting Co.

Steamboats.—Buffalo is the eastern terminal of an immense freight traffic carried on by steamers over the waters of the great lakes. There are also several passenger lines running from this city, which afford most agreeable routes for reaching Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Sault Ste. Marie, Duluth and other lake ports during the summer and autumn. The following are the passenger lines:

If the street is over half a mile long, the number at the corner of a cross street is given about once in half a mile (264 numbers). The end of the street named first is always the one at which the numbering begins. The word "street" is omitted from all names; other designations are abbreviated as follows, but never omitted: av. for avenue, sq. for square, pky. for parkway, bvd. for boulevard, rd. for road, pl. for place and al. for alley.

Street Railways.—All street car lines wholly within the city limits, and most of those running to outside places are operated by the International Railway Co., so named because one of its lines extends across the river at Niagara Falls and runs for several miles on Canadian soil. The ticket office and principal waiting room is at Main and Court sts., and the general offices of the company are in Ellicott Square. All cars are operated by the overhead trolley, and the power used is electricity from Niagara Falls. The fare within the city is 5 cents; children from 5 to 12 years, 3 cents.

Tickets are sold for the convenience of employers and other patrons, but at the same price as cash fares. A transfer is given to take the passenger to his destination in the same general direction in which he started, but no circuit or round trip riding on one fare is allowed. The transfer must be secured when the fare is paid, and at each change of cars, the first car must be taken.

In the central part of the city, south of Virginia st, the cars stop for passengers at the “near” corner, i. e., before passing the cross street. Elsewhere they stop at the “far” corner. There are some ex-exceptions to this rule, which are indicated by signs reading "Cars stop here," hung from the trolley wires.

Niagara Falls, the greatest natural wonder this side of the Rocky Mountains, is close at hand. There are also various pleasure resorts around Buffalo that are frequented by the residents of the city for change and recreation, but they are not so much of a necessity, and so they are not so large nor so numerous as those near less favored cities.

Among these are the Bedell House, Crystal Beach, Electric Beach, Fort Erie, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Olcott Beach, which are described in separate articles.

Supervisors.—The board of supervisors is the legislative body of Erie county, and consists of 50 members, one elected in each of the 25 towns in the county and one in each of the 25 wards of Buffalo. Their term of office is two years. The present chairman of the board is Asher B. Emery.

Taxes—The general tax on property in Buffalo is levied in two parts—the city tax, which is payable after July 1st, and the county tax, payable after Jan. 15th in each year. Any assessments for public improvements levied in the preceding 12 months are put on the same bill with the general city tax. A non-resident owner of property may appoint an agent in the city and notify the assessors, who will have notices of local assessments sent to the agent.

If the city tax remains unpaid after Aug. 1st, an addition of one per cent is made to it and interest is charged at the rate of 6 per cent from Aug. 1st until it is paid. If not paid before March 1st following, a penalty of 5 per cent on the total amount then due is added, and the interest continues until the property is sold for unpaid taxes. On May 1st, $1 additional is charged against each parcel for publication of the notices of sale. The tax sale usually takes place in May and must take place before June 30th.

Taxicabs.—There is only one company in the city furnishing a taximeter cab service—The Buffalo Taxicab Company. Their charges are regulated by an accurate, sealed meter, not by the driver, and are for the distance actually traveled, or for the time during which the cab is kept waiting. The meter shows the amount of the fare and the passenger pays only what the meter shows. This method has come into general favor in Buffalo, as in other cities, because it is rational, and for direct trips is in the great majority of cases much lower than any other rate can be. Compare the meter charge of 50 or 60 cents for one to five persons from the New York Central depot to the principal hotels with the ordinary cab charge of 50 cents for each person.
TAKING A BUFFALO TAXICAB

The rates establishd by the Taxi-cab Co. are 70c. for the first mile, 40c. for each additional mile, and $1.50 an hour for waiting time. For driving and sightseeing the rate is $3 an hour. The rates are the same for from 1 to 5 persons. Cabs may be taken on the street, or may be calld by telephone from the company's garage, at 32 Edward st.

THE TOURING CAR EQUIPMENT of this company is the most complete in the city. Their rates are by the hour, day or week.

Teck Cafe.—The attractive Teck Cafe and Restaurant, in the Teck Theater building, was newly decorated and furnishd in 1909, and re-opened under the management of Hull & Tucker. This is a most satisfactory place for regular meals or for little suppers after the theater, and special attention is paid to tourists. A corner of the restaurant is shown in a picture on the opposit page.

Telephone Service.—Two companies, the New York Telephone Co., operating the Bell System, and the Federal Telephone and Telegraph Co., operating the Frontier System, provide local telephone service, and each has its field of long distance connections. The Buffalo office of the Bell system is at 14-16 W. Seneca st., and that of the Frontier is at 332 Ellicott st. Besides installing private instruments and branch exchanges in business places, hotels and residences, each company has many public pay-stations in stores, office buildings and railroad depots. The charge is 5c. for three minutes' conversation within the city and the usual toll rates to outside points. See separate articles under Bell and Frontier.

Telegraf Service.—Both the Western Union Telegraph Co. and the Postal Telegraph and Cable Co. have several offices in the city, from which messengers may be calld to take messages, by means of the call boxes placed in many stores, hotels and offices, or by telephone. Messages are also accepted over the telephone from persons who are known at the main offices of the companies. The name and address of one member of any business concern will be registerd by the companies, and when a message for the concern is received outside of business hours, it will be telephoned to that member. The following are the local offices of the two companies:

POSTAL. 156 Pearl st.
WESTERN UNION. 281, 995, and 1512 Main st., 342 Pearl st., 524 and 1579 Niagara st., William and Depot sts.

Theaters.—Both the residents of Buffalo and the traveling public like to be entertained, and this desire is amply provided for here. There is no stock theater in the city, hence many different people may be seen on the boards of each house in a season. The majority of the attractions booked at the local play-houses are musical or the lighter kind of drama. A change of bill weekly or twice a week is the rule and longer runs the exception. Following is a list of the Buffalo theaters, with the chief facts about each:

GARDEN, 164-72 Pearl st. Vaudeville; evenings at 8.30; daily matinees at 2.30. Prices 10c. to 50c. Charles E. White, manager.

The interior was remodeld in 1909, making it one of the best arranged theaters in the country. Evenings at 8.15; matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2.15. Prices 25c. to $1.50. P. C. Cornell, manager.

TECK, 768-76 Main st. Plays only high class attractions; evenings at 8.15; matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2.15. Prices 25c. to $1.50. J. R. Oishei, manager.

Tift Farm.—A large tract of land at the southwestern corner of the city, fronting on the lake. Part of it has been sub-divided for manufacturing plants and freight terminals.

Tonawanda.—The town of Tonawanda adjoins Buffalo on the north and extends along the Niagara river to Tonawanda creek.

The city of Tonawanda was formerly the northwestern part of the town, lying on the river and creek. It is 11 miles from Buffalo, and is reached by N. Y. Central or Erie railroad, fare 15c., round trip 25c., or by Tonawanda, Niagara Falls or Lockport electric cars, fare 15c., round trip 25c. It has a national bank, a public library, 10 churches, and a company of the 74th Regt., N. G. S. N. Y. Population about 11,000.

Tonawanda and North Tonawanda are called the Twin Cities and form practically a single mercantile district, with the Erie canal passing thru its center, bounded on one side by a navigable river, and either traversed by or having close connections with 15 railroads. It is a notably important district, for in the first place it is the largest lumber market in the world. Along the water front are hundreds of acres devoted to lumber yards, and the quantity handled in a year exceeds 500,000,000 feet. The iron industries are nearly as important. Hundreds of thousands of tons of ore are smelted each year in its great iron and steel plants. The largest nut and bolt factory in the world is here, while engines, boilers, structural steel, radiators, steam pipe and many other manufactures of iron are produced in large quantities. There are also extensive factories for making merry-go-rounds, swings, miniature railways and similar amusement devices, automatic organs and pianos, silk gloves, cordage, paper bags, pasteboard, asphalt roofing, bank stationery, etc., etc. The facilities for shipping together with cheap and convenient power from Niagara Falls, and a reliable class of labor are constantly increasing the industries of the Tonawandas. A large fleet of steamers is required to carry that part of the freight ship to and from the Twin Cities over the great lakes or the canal, and many of these boats are owned by local capital. The railroads carry even more freight than the water lines and only two cities in the State, New York and Buffalo, exceed this locality as shippers of freight. A drive thru the residence streets reveals many beautiful homes, and the broad river, the canal and tributary creeks and the surrounding country afford many pleasures for leisure hours.
Treasurer, City—This officer is elected by the people of the city for a term of 4 years. No one can be elected to this office for two terms in succession. The Treasurer receives the city taxes and all other monies belonging to the city, and pays out the same on warrants issued by the proper officers. He also has the custody of the police pension fund and the firemen’s relief and pension fund. All these monies are deposited by him in banks designated by the Common Council. The city treasurer’s office is on the first floor of the city hall. Present City Treasurer, Neil McEachren.

Trolley Trips.—Most persons have much to learn about the delights of little journeys by trolley cars. Electric roads, as a rule, run thru the principal streets of cities and villages and the most traveled highways in the country districts, taking the passenger in amongst the traffic along the route and affording close views of the chief places of interest. In the article Seeing Buffalo, several trips within the city limits are described. The following are some of those that can be made to outside points:

TRIP No. 1. To FORT NIAGARA, 36 miles. Take a Niagara Falls car to the terminal station at Niagara Falls; round trip, 50c. Thence take a Gorge Route car to Lewiston, and change there to a Youngstown car for Fort Niagara; round trip from Niagara Falls, 95c. The route is up Niagara st., described in Seeing Buffalo Route No. 1, to Tonawanda st., to Amherst st., to Military Road, thru Tonawanda, North Tonawanda and LaSalle to Niagara Falls. On the Military Road, the car speeds for more than 5 miles in a straight line thru a stretch of level country that will afford room for Buffalo’s expansion for many years to come.

Within the city limits, a beginning only has been made in using a part of this great plain for sites of large manufacturing plants. North of Kenmore av., the Military rd. is the western boundary of Kenmore, a thriving village of suburban homes. Passing thru Tonawanda, the car crosses Tonawanda creek, which here serves as a section of the Erie canal, and enters North Tonawanda. A few only of the busy factories and vast lumber yards of the Twin Cities can be seen from the car windows. In the northern part of North Tonawanda, the track turns west and climbs a high trestle, affording a pleasant view of Grand Island, then turns north and runs for a considerable distance close to the Niagara river. Passing thru LaSalle, the boulder marking the location of the Griffon ship yard is seen at the side of the road on the left. Within the limits of Niagara Falls the car passes a number of important manufacturing works grouped around the famous power house of the Niagara Falls Power Co.

The trip thru the Niagara Gorge is described elsewhere in this Guide. From Lewiston to Fort Niagara the ride is thru a fertile orchard district along the bank of the broad and placid lower reach of the Niagara river.

TRIP No. 2. To PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., 39 miles. Take a Niagara Falls car to terminal station at Niagara Falls; round trip, 50c. Thence take a St. Catharines car to Port Dalhousie; round trip from Niagara Falls, 80c.; time, 1 hr. 50 min. each way. Leaving the terminal station at 10 minutes past the hour, the St. Catharines car crosses the Upper Steel Arch bridge, runs down the edge of the Gorge for about two miles, and then turns west thru the principal streets of Niagara Falls, Ont. Leaving the city, the line traverses a garden of vineyards and peach orchards in the great fruit belt of Canada, soon passing the village of Stamford and the monument marking the battle ground of Beaver Dams (See Lundy's Lane). Thorold, the next town, is situated on the brow of the Niagara escarpment, and here the line crosses the Welland canal. From Thorold the road runs between the old and the new Welland canals to Merriton, passing the many paper and pulp mills and large cotton mills of the district. Next comes the beautiful city of St. Catharines, having many large industries and famous for its mineral springs and baths. The Welland Hotel and Sanitarium is located in the center of the city. Here also is Ridley College for boys. It is 4 miles from here to Port Dalhousie, and the road leads thru one vast peach orchard. Skirting the old Welland canal, we pass Barnsdale and its great winery on the way to Martin Dale. We are now running parallel with the famous Canadian Henley Course, absolutely protected, thus guaranteeing smooth water at any time. Port Dalhousie is at the L. Ontario outlet of the new Welland canal and is also a famous summer resort. From here steamers run to Toronto four times a day during the summer months.

TRIP No. 3. To ERIE, Pa., 90 miles. Buffalo and L. Erie Traction Co.'s cars run the whole distance; round trip, $2.95; time, 4 hrs. 50 min. each way. Leaving Buffalo by the Hamburg turnpike, the route runs along the lake shore, past the Lackawanna Steel Plant, thru the residence and summer cottage localities of Athol Springs, Wanakah, North Evans and Angola. Other places on the eastern division of the line are Farnham, where there is a militia camp ground, Irving in the Cattaraugus Indian Reservation, Silver Creek, a thriving village, Dunkirk, which is a busy lake port with a pretty summer resort at Point Gratiot, and Fredonia, a notably attractive town three miles inland.

Beyond Fredonia are Brocton, the chief center of the grape and wine industry of Western New York, Westfield, an old and wealthy place and the junction point for Chautauqua and Jamestown, and then Ripley, the last town in New York State. Crossing the line into Pennsylvania, we come to North East, which has several factories and does a large business in grapes, and passing thru Harbor Creek and Wesleyville, we come to Erie, at the end of the route. Erie is a live, up-to-date city, with nearly 75,000 population. It has a perfect lake harbor, considerable shipping and many factories. Its residence sections are as attractive as its business section is bustling. On Presque Isle, which protects Erie harbor, is Waldameer, a most delightful summer resort owned by the Traction Co. Other like resorts which are the property of the company are Orchard Beach, at North East, and Midway Park, on Chautauqua Lake.

From Erie trips can be taken by trolley cars to Cambridge Springs, Pa., the famous health resort, and to Conneaut, O., where connections can be made with electric roads running to Cleveland, Columbus, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Toledo, Detroit and Chicago.

TRIP No. 4. To ROCHESTER, 69 miles. Take a Lockport car to Lockport; round trip, 50c.; time, 1 hr. Thence take a car to Rochester; round trip, $2.20; time 2 hrs. 12 min. to 2 hrs. 45 min. The route is up Main st. to the Erie crossing, just beyond Hertel av., thence following the line of the Erie railroad thru Tonawanda to North Tonawanda, thence turning east and traversing the villages of Hoffman, Pendleton, and Hodgeville to Lockport. The second section of the trip runs thru the busy manufacturing towns of Gasport and Middleport, thru Medina, where the well known building stone comes from, and then thru Albion, the county seat of Orleans county, Holley and Brockport.

TRIP No. 5. To LITTLE FALLS, 224 miles. Follow Trip No. 4 to Rochester, thence by Rochester, Syracuse & Eastern Railroad to Syracuse; round trip, $2.40; time, on local trains, 3 hrs. 40 min., limited trains 2 hrs. 50 min.; thence by Oneida Railway (electrified West Shore) to Utica; time on limited trains, 1 hr. 28 min., and by Utica & Mohawk Valley Railway to Little Falls; round trip between Syracuse and Little Falls, $2.15.

Syracuse is a thriving city of about 130,000 population and the center of the New York salt industry. Its points of interest are Syracuse University, the State Fair Grounds, Onondaga County Soldiers’ and Sailors’ monument, Fayette Park, and the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. East of Syracuse the route passes thru Chittenango, which has sulfur springs, Canastota, a lively manufacturing village, Oneida, a manufacturing city of 9,000 population and the center of a rich hop and dairy district, and many pleasant farming hamlets. Beyond Oneida is Sherrill, where hardware is made by the Oneida Community, the seat of which is in the neighboring village of Kenwood, and beyond Sherrill is Vernon, where the yearly agricultural fair of Oneida county is held.

Utica, with its elm-archt avenues, handsome dwellings and fine public buildings, is one of the most delightful cities. Of especial interest to visitors here are the Soldiers’ and Sailors’ monument, the Munson-Williams Memorial, with its interesting collection of old battle flags, relics and curios, the Masonic Home, public library, and Oneida county court house.

The run from Utica down the Mohawk valley takes the passenger thru one of the most picturesque regions of New York State. About half-way to Little Falls is Ilion, from which place the Remington fire-arms and typewriters are sent out to all quarters of the globe. East of Ilion is Herkimer, the county seat of Herkimer county, having a population of 6,000 to 7,000. On the eastern outskirts of the village, the Utica and Mohawk valley tracks are carried over the N. Y. Central railroad and W. Canada creek by Herkimer bridge, 1,212 feet long, comprising a series of concrete arches 66 feet in length, and a central steel span of 225 feet. At the time of its erection, concrete bridge work was in the experimental stage, and the boldness of its design attracted the attention of engineers far and near. Little Falls, the end of Trip 5, has a population of about 13,000. It is a prosperous manufacturing place and distributes knit goods and other products all over the country. The city is built on the steep slope of a hill, where the Mohawk river runs thru a gorge, and from the high places within its limits the finest of views can be had in all directions.

Side trips can be made from Syracuse to Auburn, to Fulton and Oneida Lake; from Utica to Rome, and from Mohawk to Richfield Springs, Cooperstown and Oneonta, Tuscarora Indian Reservation.—A tract of more than 6,000 acres in the township of Lewiston. A square mile of this tract was given to the Tuscarora tribe by the Seneca Indians in 1780 and the rest was added later by the Holland Land Co. and the U. S. government.

University of Buffalo.—The departments now comprised in the university are four professional schools—medicine, pharmacy, law and dentistry. The present university buildings were erected in 1893 and 1896 and stand on a plot running thru from High to Goodrich st., near Main st. The three scientific departments are housed here and the law school occupies rooms in Ellicott Square. The total number of students is nearly 500.

The university was incorporated May 11th, 1846. Its first chancellor was Millard Fillmore, who served 28 years, and his successors have been Orsamus H. Marshall, E. Carlton Sprague, James O. Putnam and Wilson S. Bissell. The present chancellor is Charles P. Norton, and the secretary of the University Council is Frank M. Hollister.

The Medical Department was organized in 1846, and for 40 years was the only department of the university. It grew rapidly from the start and has ever maintained a high standard of medical education, and has been distinguished for advanced methods of teaching. It occupied for the first 3 years an old church building at Washington and Seneca sts., and then a building erected for it at Main and Virginia sts., removing in 1893 to its present home. In 1898 the medical school of Niagara University was united with this department, and since then the University of Buffalo has had the only medical school within a radius of 150 miles, in United States territory. Among its professors of prominence in their profession have been Drs. James P. White, Frank H. Hamilton, Austin Flint, John C. Dalton, Thomas F. Rochester, Austin Flint, Jr., Julius
A. Miner, Charles A. Doremus, Matthew D. Mann, Rudolph A. Witthaus, Roswell Park, and Charles G. Stockton. The course is now 4 years. Tuition and laboratory fees amount to $140 to $185 a year.

Since 1898, special research work has been carried on by State aid, under the direction of the medical faculty, upon the causes and treatment of cancer. In 1901 a building known as the Gratwick Research Laboratory was erected and equipped for this work, thru the generosity of Mrs. William H. Gratwick and other friends of scientific research. It stands on High St., opposite the General Hospital.

The Department of Pharmacy was organized in 1886. Its course covers two years and a portion of the medical department building is set apart for its use. Laboratory instruction has been a prominent feature of the course from the beginning, nearly or quite half of the instruction being of this practical nature. Tuition fees are $100 a year. This department gives also a course in Analytical Chemistry, covering 3 years. Tuition fee, $150 a year.

In 1891 the third department was added, when the Buffalo Law School, founded in 1887, became the Department of Law of the university. The organizers of the school believed that instruction in law could best be given by lawyers who were engaged in the active practice of their profession. Accordingly, its professors are all either judges of the Supreme Court or practising attorneys, and the school is located in Ellicott Sq., in the midst of law offices, between which and the class-rooms many of the students divide their time. The course covers two years, leading to the degree of L. L. B., and the tuition fee is $100 a year.

The Department of Dentistry was organized in 1892 and from its second term occupied part of the new building of the medical department. Its growth was so rapid that a three-story building was erected for it on the Goodrich St. end of the university property, in 1896, and a further increase in attendance compelled the addition of a fourth story in 1902. Dr. Wm. C. Barrett was the first dean, serving till his death in 1903. The course is 3 years and the tuition fee is $150 a year.

Until recent years the university idea has found little place in this group of professional schools. In order to foster a spirit of unity among the several departments, a University Day was established in 1901. It is celebrated on February 22nd each year by exercises in which the city officials and the public join with the members of the university.

Efforts are being made to found a college or department of arts in connection with the university. These efforts have been so far successful that in 1909 a tract of 106.55 acres at Main St. and the city line was bought as a location for the college. Funds for its buildings and endowment are now being raised. In 1910 a bill past the State legislature permitting the city of Buffalo to contribute $75,000 of school money to the university each year in exchange for scholarships.
Vosburgh & Whiting's Store—To see a representative Buffalo store in the line of stationery and office supplies, go to 15, 17 and 19 E. Swan st., where the Vosburgh & Whiting Co. is located. Year by year the business of this progressive concern has expanded, until it requires not only the extensive ground floor warerooms, at the above location, but also three entire basements for storage, and an annex on Pearl st. for storage and wholesale shipments. This company handles a large retail business in general and commercial stationery, including the equipment of mercantile offices with everything from lead pencils up to fixtures and furniture, also an extensive wholesale and jobbing trade.

Among the special lines carrid is injury to the papers within, and the Toledo Metal Furniture Co.'s typewriter cabinet, chairs, etc., which are winning golden opinions. The Vosburgh & Whiting Co. is agent for the Sheppard Loose Leaf Line, including the King Round Back ledger, also for the "Loose-Leaf" accounting systems, embracing cash records, trial balances, order registers, pay rolls, etc. Other specialties are the "Are and Be" flat-opening, loose-leaf ledgers, the Hale sectional book-cases, the Rotary Neostyle, the Addressograph—a machine for addressing envelopes and postal cards—and the Map and Tack Routing System, which enables the manager of a concern, to see at a glance the whereabouts of all his traveling salesmen.

In the jobbing business, the Vosburgh & Whiting Co. is rated the largest concern in the State outside of New York City.

Wanakah is a summer cottage resort on the shore of L. Erie, 12 miles southwest of Buffalo. Reached by Lake Shore or Pennsylvania railroad; fare 35c., round trip 55c. Also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars; fare 25c.; round trip 45c. The summer residents have a golf club with excellent links.

Water, Bureau of.—This is a division of the department of public works under a deputy commissioner. The bureau has charge of the city water works, including the pumping station, street mains and hydrants, and collects the water rates. Its office is on the ground floor of the Municipal building. The city water supply is obtained from L. Erie through an intake opposite the pumping station at the foot of Massachusetts av. The water is pumped into the street mains, and for high service into the reservoir on Best st. and the water tower at Kensington av. and Grider st. In the pumping station, there are 7 steam and 2 electric pumps in operation day and night, having a total capacity of 202,000,000 gallons in 24 hours. A new pumping station is being built at the foot of Porter av. and a new intake in Emerald channel, connected with the new station by a tunnel 6,600 feet long. The average daily consumption of water in 1909 was 321 gallons for each person. Water rates are payable twice a year—on May 1st and Nov. 1st. Present Deputy Water Commissioner, Henry L. Lyon.

Weather Bureau.—The Buffalo station of the U. S. Weather Bureau is on the 13th floor of the Prudential bldg. Most of its instruments are placed on the roof and are self-registering—the records being made in the office below by electrical connections. These instruments indicate the direction and velocity of the wind, all changes of temperature, the maximum and minimum temperature of each day, the duration of sunshine and the amount of rainfall. A self-recording barometer in the office registers all changes in atmospheric pressure. From a staff on the roof the storm signal flags are displayed. Visitors are received between 1 and 4 p.m. and each year the classes in physical geography in the city high schools are shown the working of the instruments. The Buffalo office is in charge of David Cuthbertson, who ranks as a District Forecaster.

Weights and Measures, Sealer of.—This officer is appointed by the police board for one year, under civil service rules. His duties are to test the accuracy of all scales, weights and measures used in the sale of merchandise in the city and to report to the corporation counsel any violations of the city ordinances relating to weights and measures that he may discover.

Westfield is an important town on the shore of L. Erie, 58 miles southwest of Buffalo. Reached by the Lake Shore or N. Y., Chicago & St. Louis railroad; fare $1.45, round trip, $2.80. Also by Buffalo & L. Erie electric cars, fare $1.10, round trip $2.05. The part of the town on the lake shore is called Barcelona. Westfield is an old and wealthy community, with good stores, fine hotels, handsome homes, a pretty park, attractive churches and progressive schools. Its enterprise is shown, among other things, by the fine viaduct crossing the gulf of Chautauqua creek, which it built jointly with the electric traction company. Here is one terminus of the Jamestown, Chautauqua & L. Erie R. R., which skirts Chautauqua lake, stopping at all the summer resorts from the famous Assembly Grounds around to Jamestown. Population 3,882, in 1900.

West Seneca is a town adjoining Buffalo on the southeast. Reached by Gardenville and Ebenezer street car line. Until 1909, it included the territory of the present city of Lackawanna.

Western Savings Bank.—An institution created for the purpose of encouraging thrift and the habit of saving on the part of the wage earner is The Western Savings Bank of Buffalo, located at Main and Court sts., with a history of more than half a century of successful business, extending back to 1851. The reputation of this bank for financial solidity is second to none in the city. As a savings bank it has no capital and issues no stock and all of the earnings belong to and are held for the benefit of the depositors. At the present time the bank is paying 4 per cent. interest on deposits, which are received from $1.00 to $3,000.

On January 1st, 1910, the bank had on deposit $8,010,261.94, and a surplus of $776,610.54, total assets $8,786,872.48.

The officers and directors of the bank are men of the highest probity and standing in the community, and the bank has fairly earned the position it holds. The bank is controlled by the following officers and trustees:

OFFICERS—Albert J. Wheeler, President; Henry Erb, First Vice-President; Leonard Dodge, Second Vice-President; Franklin W. H. Becker, Secretary and Treasurer; Edward E. Coatsworth, Attorney.

TRUSTEES — Isaac Geiershofer, Henry Erb, Henry Zipp, Albert J. Wheeler, Howard H. Baker, Charles

Wharves and Docks.—There is about 5 miles of wharfage in the Buffalo river, 4 miles in the City Ship canal, and several miles additional along the shore line enclosed by the various breakwaters. The city maintains wharves (called docks) at the foot of Columbia, Commercial, Dock, Genesee, Illinois, Indiana, Main, Mississippi and Washington sts.

White Building.—The most modern of the large office buildings of Buffalo is the 11 story, fireproof White Building, which was rebuilt in 1906 on its original site. It stands in the center of the banking and business district, fronting on Main and Erie sts., with an entrance on each street. Both sides of the building have commanding outlooks; from the Main st. front may be seen the busiest section of the city, while from the Erie st. front there is a view across the Niagara river and for many miles up L. Erie. It is within a couple of minutes’ walk from the post office, city and county hall, 10 banks, and 9 out of 10 of the other large office buildings. All the principal street car lines, including those running to the railroad depots and steamboat wharves, pass its doors.

The side walls of the building are heavy self-supporting fire walls, and the interior is constructed of steel beams and concrete, making it fireproof throughout. There are 156 offices, finish in quarter-cut antique oak, with floors of polished maple. Each office is provided with a wash-stand and a coat-rack, and is wired for telephones, telegraf call-boxes and electric clock service. The use of a large safe can be arranged for. The doors are of ample width for taking office furniture in and out.

The court on which the inside offices front is large, and its walls are faced with white glazed brick, so that it affords an abundance of light and air. The elevators are of the plunger type and are capable of running at a speed of 600 feet per minute. It has been the aim of the owner and the architect to make this building as near perfect in all its appointments as modern ideas and liberal expenditure could make it, and it ranks today with the best office buildings in the country. The owner and manager is Seymour P. White.

Williamsville is a pleasant suburban village in the town of Amherst about 8 miles from the Buffalo city hall. Reached by street cars connecting with the Main st. line, and the Lehigh Valley railroad has a station here.

Ellicott creek runs thru the village and supplies water power. Its banks are a favorite resort for pic-nickers. Williamsville has 5 churches, a high school, a grist-mill, gelatin factory and stone quarry. The Amherst Bee is published here weekly. Near the middle of the village stands a log house which was Gen. Scott’s headquarters in the War of 1812.

Windmill Point is a summer cottage resort on the Canadian shore of L. Erie, about 5 miles west from Port Erie. Reached by the Grand Trunk railroad, Buffalo and Goderich line.

Women’s Educational and Industrial Union.—To increase fellowship among women, in order to promote their educational and social advancement, is the object of this notably helpful institution. It was organized in 1884, and for many years has occupied its own building, 86 Delaware av., on the south side of Niagara Square. Membership dues are $1 a year; sustaining members pay $10, and there are associate memberships for men who wish to support its work. There are over 1,300 members of all classes.

Women members have the use of the library and reading-room, free admission to lectures, reduced rates at the Noon Rest, and other privileges. The Union conducts classes in cooking, sewing, dressmaking, millinery, dancing and French, the expenses of which are defrayed by moderate tuition fees. The Noon Rest provides luncheon at moderate prices and a pleasant place for members to spend their lunch hour. Lunch brought from home can also be eaten there. Reading is supplied to members by the Mary A. Ripley Library of about 1,500 volumes and a reading room in which are the best current magazines and newspapers. In the Handiwork Department, articles made by women are sold for a small commission. The Committee on Protection aids members to collect money due them. The Union also gives free lessons in cooking to girls wishing employment at general housework.

The building is open from 9.30 a. m. to 9 p. m., Sunday and holidays excepted; during the summer months it closes at 6 p. m. The Union is non-sectarian and is guided by the Golden Rule. It aims to provide that any woman in need shall receive sympathy, counsel and help suited to her need, whatever the need may be. Its officers are: Mrs. Thomas B. Reading, president; Mrs. Charles E. Selkirk, corresponding secretary; and Miss Jean Agnew, superintendent.

Young Men's Christian Association.

—In a prominent location at Mohawk, Genesee and Franklin sts., stands the central building of the Y. M. C. A. of Buffalo. It consists of a 10-story main section, with a 4-story wing on each side, and cost, including the lot and equipment, $450,000. The association removed from its former building at 19 W. Mohawk st., to this one in 1903. It owns also a building at Genesee and Davis sts., occupied by its Genesee st. Department, which was opened in 1905, and another at 327 W. Ferry st., erected for the West Side Department in 1909. In addition to these departments, there are 5 branches especially for railroad men. At the central department there are social rooms, class rooms, a gymnasium 50 by 90 feet, with a large swimming pool, a lecture hall, a circulating library, an employment bureau, a restaurant and 60 bed rooms which are rented to members. There is also a boys' department, having separate social rooms and a separate gymnasium. A large number of Bible classes are carried on here, also classes in many commercial and industrial subjects and various lectures and entertainments are given. There is a Camera Club composed of members, also a Science Club, each occupying rooms fitted up for their respective purposes. The Y. M. C. A. also has a number of athletic teams, which hold spirited competitions. The yearly fees for men are $3, the use of the gymnasium is $10, and the tuition fees for the educational classes are moderate. For boys from 12 to 18 years old, the membership fee is $2 a year and the gymnasium fee is $4. The railroad branches are entirely supported by the dues of members and appropriations made by the various railroads. In the other departments the members pay about 70 per cent of the cost of maintenance and the rest is raised by subscription. The total membership of all departments is about 5,500.

The library in the central building provides an all-around development for the women and girls of Buffalo. It has four centers of work.

1. The association building, at 19 West Mohawk st., contains the main offices, the cafeteria lunch room, the reading and rest rooms, the gymnasium, the swimming pool and the domestic art and science rooms. Here are carried on the chief activities of the association, educational classes... of various kinds, physical work, Bible study and social gatherings.

2. The Association Home, at 10 Niagara sq., is a members' dormitory at reasonable rates. Here also are accommodations for women who are traveling alone and are strangers in the city.

by the English and colonists. The fort surrendered the next day. In the War of 1812, Youngstown was burned by the British.
